Master Cory Monk left Monday for The last meeting of the Farmville Durham where he will visit his sunt. Literary Cub for the summer was held at the home of Mrs. W. C. Askew Wednesday afternoon. The spacious living room was colorful with bowls of nasturtiums.

During the husiness session Mrs. Claude Barrett was elected to fill the name added to the waiting list.

The program for the year, Cornelia Spencer Love's "Current Books for 1926-27," was finished at the last meeting but a program most interesting and timely had been arranged by Mrs. J. I. Morgan on Lindbergh, the Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Moore and little idol of the world just now. This proson, of Grifton, were Farmville visi- gram consisted of a short introductory address by Mrs. Morgan on Lindbergh's courage and endurance and articles were read by the different members on his flight, protests against the titles "Flying Fool" and "Lucky Lindy", his heritage, response to ovation, and recollections of his boyhood days by his mother, also a summary of what he has accomplished from the national point of view. An interesting selection, "The Cost of Air Mail Service and Its Value."

> Mesdames H. G. England and James Gregory were special guests and assisted the hostess in serving a delicious ice course.

God's Holy Book, which we call the Bible is from the Greek word "Biblos," which means a book, and so we call the Book which means more to Christians than any other book in the world, the Bible. The Bible is composed of two great divisions; the Old Testament and the New Testament, or the Old Covenant and the New Covenant. The Old Testament has thirty-nine books which are divided into four divisions; Law, History, Poetry and Prophecy. There are five books of the Law written by Moses, Gen., Ex., Levit., Num. and Deut. Twelve books of History; Joshua, Judges, Ruth, 1 and 2, Sam. 1 and 2, Hings, 1 and 2, Chron., Ezra, Nehemiah and Esther. Five books of postry; Job, Psalms, Prov., Eccles., and Songs of Solomon. Sixteen books of Prophecy; four greater prophets, Isia, Jer., Ezeke., and Daniel, and twelve minor Prophets. We get the Old Testament through the Jewish Church. The burden of the Song of the Old Testa-ment is Christ the Messiah is coming. The New Testament has twenty-seven books. Four gospels which give the record of the Birth, Teaching, Miracles, Crucificion, Resurrection and Ascension into Heaven of our Lord Jesus Christ. The Acts, written by St. Luke, gives the History of the Church during the first generation after our Lord's Ascension; It is the Book of the Holy Spirit. It opens with Pentecost, and records a similar descent of the Spirit on the Samaritans, the Romans at Caesaria, and the Greeks at Ephesus. The two prominent characters are St. Peter, to whom it was given to open the door of faith to Jews and Gentlies and St. Paul/who was the great Apostle of the Gentiles. The actual work of Foreign Missions starts at Antioch, where the disciples were first called Chlistians, and reaches to Rome before this book closes. There are five Epistle writers, St. Paul, St. Peter, St. James, St. John and St. Jude, St. Paul's great Epistle writers, St. Paul, St. Peter, St. James, St. John and St. Jude. St. Paul's great theme is Faith; St. Peter's, Hope; St. John's, Love; St. James deals with Good Works, which are the fruits of these graces; and Jude warns of the Apostase, when false doe-trine displaces truth, and evil works displace good works and threaten oven the life of the Caurch. Many of the epistles are written to the congregations which the Apostase had founded to instruct and also to urge them to keep the faith which they had been taught. Hebrews urges converted Jews to hold fast their new found faith. The seynote of this Epistle, found eleven times is "better." Everything our Lord Jesus Christ offers is superior to any previous provileges, however great. Hence the folly of going back to Judaism and the corresponding danger of Apostasy. The burden of the Song of the New Testament is Christ the Lord his come. We get the New Testament through the Apos-tolic Church.--Rev. H. G. England, B. A., Ph. F.
