FARMVILLE, FITT COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1937

NUMBER TWENTY-THREE

THIRD PERIOD OF CAMPAIGN CLOSES SATURDAY NIGHT

Now is the Time For Candidates To Cinch Victory; Votes Will Decrease.

Two important dates now appear on the horizon; Saturday, October 23 and Saturday, October 30.

The first of these dates is the close of the "third period" of the subscription campaign. The other is the date closing of the campaign.

Extensions and the long term subscriptions will play a big part in the campaign of the leaders in their race for the big prizes. They realize the 5-year subscriptions build their votes faster and as the campaign nears the close their friends are pulling harder than ever before for them, which makes the 5-year subscription easier to sell than earlier in the drive.

The race as the finish of the third period approaches is truly a neck and neck affair among the leaders. No one of them has any material advantage over the other at present and the amount of subscriptions that each is able to turn in Saturday night may tell the tale.

These are the days that will tell the resourcefulness of a contestant. Here is where their courage upholds them and makes them fight, or the lack of it takes the stiffness out of their knees and leaves them trailing in the dust.

Votes will pile up rapidly these next few days. The living part of the competition is now at hand and while the leaders are on the same footing those who have the courage and fight will forge ahead while the third vote schedule is in effect.

There will be several winners in the Enterprise subscription campaign. Out of this array one will stand out as the winner of the first honors. This person will have established a record or achievement that may be pointed to with pride long after the race is over and forgotten.

This is the week to do your best work, collect all your promises and forge ahead while the votes count most for your efforts.

Candidates Must Not Halt

If the contestants halt now for a moment—if they slacken up or let their enthusiasm wane—if they overlook one opportunity to win they are taking the desperate risk of losing the big prizes already partially won and which really belongs to them. A candidate who fails to do his or her utmost during the remainder of this period—is certain to bring dismal disappointment upon himself or herself as well as upon their friends who are naturally interested in their success as the candidates themselves.

Better Safe Than Sorry

A few more laps and the course will have been run. Only a short time remains to choose between victory and defeat—success or failure. Don't overlook your chances to win, and always remember that your adversaries as keen, perhaps and as resourceful as yourself are whacking very acute brains for the same purpose.

Improve Your Chances Now

Only a few days remain of this big third period. Votes are at their highest right now. After Saturday night at ten o'clock the third period will be history and votes on subscriptions will count for only half the value they do at this time. If you expect to finish on top in the race now is the time for you to show your best results. It behooves every candidate to make this week's work the best they have had in the campaign. With the rich prizes at stake, you cannot afford to lose a moment. What each one does between now and Saturday night, may be the answer as to who will win the $500.

Hundreds of subscriptions and thousands of votes will be turned in to the office this week and every candidate should see that she gets her share; it is the long term subscriptions that count for the big votes.

Thousands of Dollars Due Workers

Rocky Mount, N. C., October 19.—Thousands of dollars are lying unclaimed in the United States Treasury because those to whom the money now due under the old age insurance provisions of Social Security Act have not filed claims for the amounts due them, George N. Adams, Manager of the Rocky Mount, N. C., Field Office of the Social Security Board, which serves this area, said today.

A large number of workers in covered employment who have reached 65 since January 1, 1937, and the estates or relatives of eligible workers who have died since December 31, 1936 apparently are unaware the Social Security Board is making lump-sum payments now to those eligible persons who file claims, Mr. Adams said. The same situation which exists in this section seems to exist throughout the country, inasmuch as up to August 1 the number of claims filed throughout the country for lump-sum payments totaled only a fraction of the 320,000 lump-sum payments actuarial experts estimated would fall due during the calendar year of 1937, Mr. Adams said.

"In region IV, comprising North Carolina, the District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia, there have been 1,712 claims filed to date. This is only a part of the number of the claims the Social Security Board believes are due and would pay if those eligible filed claims.

"There have been 389 claims filed in North Carolina. The Rocky Mount, N. C., Field Office has received 21 claims. The number of claims filed in other states in Region IV, up to the end of September, are: District of Columbia, 151; Maryland, 501; Virginia, 339; and West Virginia, 332.

"It is probable that many persons to whom lump-sum payments are due have not filed claims because they do not know the Social Security Board is making such payments now. They may be confused by the wide notice given the fact that payment of monthly old age benefits will not begin before January, 1942.

"Another reason may be that the sums due to many persons are small. The lump-sum payment amounts to 3 1-2 per cent of the total wages of the eligible worker. For example; let us suppose wages totaled $1,000; the 3 1-2 per cent lump-sum payment would be $35; if wages totaled $100, the 3 1-2 per cent lump-sum payment would be $3.50. Many workers seem doubtful about what is meant by 'total wages'. Total wages, under the Act, means the sum of all wages paid by all employers for all the time an employee worked in covered employment after December 31, 1936, and prior to death or reaching 65, not counting wages over $3,000 from any one employer. Naturally the lump-sum payment due a man who reached 65 on January 3, after being paid for one working day, will not be as great as the amount due the man who received an equal daily wage every working day since last December 31 till now.

"Yet another reason many eligible persons have not filed claims seems to be they do not know they are eligible. Lump-sum payments now are due to two groups of persons:
"First, to the worker himself who has reached 65 since January 1, 1937, and who has been paid wages for work done as an employee since December 31, 1936, and before he reached 65, in any employment which is not specifically exempt under the old age benefit provisions of the Act;
"Second, to the estate of relatives of a worker, no matter what his age, who has died since December 31, 1936, provided the deceased worker has been

Tobacco Continues To Sell High Here

Season Marked As Most Successful In History; Farmers From a Wider Area Attracted By Advantages of Farmville Market.

Although a general decrease in bids on the better tobaccos has been reported on the Bright Belt this week, prices on the Farmville market continue high and offerings of 1,221,505 pounds, sold Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, (Thursday's figures not being available as we go to press) have been sold for $383,719.77, at an average of $31.41. The three days' average was $6.13 higher per hundred pounds than that of the same days last year.

Operations of the Farmville market so far have tended towards marking this season as one of the most successful in the history of leaf auction sales here, and the patronizing planters, who have come from the widest area ever attracted to this center, have been satisfied and boosting customers of the local mart.

More than 18 million pounds of the weed has been sold here during the 45 days since the market opened, and many of the sales have broken the record in poundage sold in one day. A total of $4,687,858.30 has been turned over to the farmers in exchange for this amount of tobacco at an average of $25.85 per hundred weight.

The poundage figures for this season, compared with 15,577,257 through the corresponding date of a year ago exceeds those of 1936 by two and a half million, with the average being $2.95 more.

Sharing the special advantages offered growers selling here on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays by the Farmville Booster Club, this week were Blaney Spreight, R. F. D. No. 2, Farmville; Sidney Moyer, R. F. D. No. 5, Snow Hill; Mrs. H. R. Owens, Fountain; Henry Williams, R. F. D. No. 2, Walstonburg; Merritt Williams, Farmville; J. B. Hill, Comfort; and W. E. Musgrave, Pikeville.

paid wages for work done as an employee, after December 31, 1936, and before he reached 65, in employment which is not specifically exempt under the old age benefit provisions of the Act.

"Every assistance will be given by the Rocky Mount, N. C., Field Office of the Social Security Board to those who inquire about payments or who wish to file claims."
Most of our troubles come from our imagination.

LOOKING AT WASHINGTON

A MILLION A YEAR. INDIVIDUAL INCOMES. LABOR DIVIDED. "PUMP-PRIMING" DECLINES. THE SPECIAL SESSION. LEGISLATIVE ISSUES. "CONCERTED EFFORT". NATION MUST CHOOSE.

(By Hugo S. Sims, Washington Correspondent.)

Figures taken from a treasury report reveal that there were forty-one persons in the United States during 1935 who received an income of a million dollars or more. Their aggregate net income was $73,631,000 and they paid an average of $32.62 in taxes on each $1,000. In 1929, there were 513 individuals with incomes of $1 million dollars or more. The number dropped to 150 in 1930, 77 in 1931, 20 in 1932, 50 in 1933, and 83 in 1934. One person reported an net income from four or five million dollars in 1935, seven reported net incomes over three millions, two were over two million, eight over $1,500,000 and 23 over one million dollars.

A preliminary report made public last year showed 4,575,012 income-reporting individuals, with a net income of $14,909,812,025. Their total tax was $657,439,345. The number of returns increased 11.7 per cent over 1934, the net income 16.5 per cent and the tax 28.6 per cent. The leading sources of income were salaries, wages, commissions and fees, which accounted for $9,900,578,000 of the reported net income; the second largest source, dividends on stocks of domestic corporations which provided $2,234,727,000, and business profits was the third source of deduction that accounted for the largest sum was "taxes paid," $596,559,000 and the next largest deduction was "interest paid," $503,730,000.

Following the convention of the American Federation of Labor in Denver, John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization, stated that a national convention of the C. I. O. "in the near future as may be convenient" was possible. Lewis insisted that the C. I. O. was definitely out of the American Federation of Labor, with which it has "no association in fact," from which it has no cooperation, but, on the other hand, has its opposition. He insisted that in numerical strength, the C. I. O. exceeds the A. F. of L., and made light of President Green's threat to militantly fight the newly-formed labor group.

One of the questions which interests business men is how business will react to the stoppage of Federal "pump priming" when and if the budget is balanced. The answer is seen, according to a Treasury official, in the light of the experience of this year. For example, in 1936, the Federal Government paid veterans $1,379,000,000 in cash bonus money as compared with $92,000,000 so far this year. In addition, relief appropriations for the present fiscal year have been cut by about one billion dollars and Social Security taxes have taken something more than $575,000,000 from payrolls in the present year.

These items indicate that during 1937 the Government's "pump-priming" has been about $2,000,000,000 less than the year before. In the face of this, business indicates little other than seasonal declines from 1936. Of course, banks have poured more money into private business and agriculture than in 1936, the loans for commercial, industrial and agricultural purposes showing an increase of about a billion dollars over 1936.

In considering the legislation for the special session of Congress, one naturally thinks of general farm legislation which will be the first order of business and the wages and hours bill that died in the House Rules Committee and wonders what view of the failure to enact such legislation at the regular session.

In regards to farm legislation huge surpluses of cotton and corn and the threat of depression prices for wheat if there is a large crop, coupled with the general impression that the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act are not sufficient to meet the situation, suggests that there will be sufficient pressure upon Congress to result in definite action.

Wages and Hours legislation apparently faces a much stiffer battle. Although passed by the Senate and reported by the House Labor Committee, the bill is pending before the House Committee on Rules, which shows little intention of speeding its passage. Of course, a petition to take the measure from the committee, but it is somewhat doubtful whether the (Continued on Page Five)

The bride and groom have been "over persuaded" by the above mentioned matchmakers to charge a small admission fee of 10c for school and 25c for adults, who attend the wedding, but have refused to "keep the change" for themselves, specifying "but definitely" the Farmville Library as the beneficiary of the sum total collected.

Secret Service Arrests Negro

Wilson, October 20.—After the arrest of a 24-year-old college trained Negro in Ahsokie earlier this week by agents of the United States Secret Service, it was revealed here today that agents had been investigating the recent flooding of Eastern North Carolina with counterfeit $10 bills.

The Negro, Jacob Reed, was arrested in Ahsokie by L. O. Padgett, head of the Secret Service branch in North Carolina. Reed was carrying around $100 worth of counterfeit money, it was reported here.

United States Marshals who took the Negro to Elizabeth City jail where he is being held pending a hearing said that the Negro was placed in jail in default of $5,000 bond.

The Negro is reported to have told Federal agents that he bought the bogus bills from a man in Richmond, Va., Reed is a light colored Negro and had been educated at college, officers here said.

Bogus $10 bills with a serial letter B had been issued in Rocky Mount, Tarboro, Greenville and several other Eastern Carolina cities recently.

Secret Service operatives are still investigating the issuance of the numerous counterfeit bills.

Poultry diseases have just about died out in Union County for the present time, and farmers report good production on laying flocks.

Winston-Salem, N. C.—Farmers of three Southeastern States told a senate agriculture subcommittee emphatically today that they wanted compulsory control of their crops.

Chairman E. D. Smith, D. S. C., of the senate committee, after hearing a dozen representative farm leaders testify to the need of control, directed a question at the entire group of tobacco, cotton and peanut raisers gathered in Winston-Salem's Municipal auditorium for the one-day hearing.

"Now say what you want," he said. "Do you want compulsory control?" "Yes, Yes," was the answer. "Do you want voluntary control?" "No," came the shout.

The hearing, second in a series conducted in Southern Farm Cities by the senate sub-committee, opened at 10 A. M., with less than 500 farmers in the auditorium. By the time Smith asked for an expression on crop control upwards of 1,500 were present.

John Lane, Stauntonburg, Chairman of the Farm Bureau Federation Tobacco Committee, testified at the hearing that there is no such thing as voluntary control of farm crops. "We need compulsory control," he said.

R. C. Holland, Edenton, speaking for North Carolina Peanut Growers, told the subcommittee members that a control program was necessary to insure a profitable return for Peanut Raisers. Dr. G. M. Paté, Rowland representing cotton growers, added that some form of crop control was "absolutely necessary."

Roosevelt Cites Firm Prosperity As Nation's Goal

Chief Executive Speaks At Dedication of New Federal Reserve Board Home.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Federal officials who wield potent powers over the stock market heard from President Roosevelt today that the government must perfect and coordinate its mechanisms for building a firm prosperity, free from violent swings into booms and depressions.

The President delivered a brief address at dedicatory ceremonies for the new Federal Reserve building. Top-ranking financial officials, legislators and private bankers were among the audience.

The stock market, which regained today some of the ground lost in recent steep plunges, drew no direct mention from Mr. Roosevelt. Neither did he refer to assertions by some business leaders that government policies were responsible for the market downturns.

The nation's monetary and credit machinery, the President said, "must be steadily perfected and coordinated with all other instruments of government to promote the most productive utilization of our human and material sources."

"Only in that way," he continued, "can we hope to achieve and maintain an enduring prosperity, free from the disastrous extremes of booms and depressions."

"Only in that way can our economic system and our Democratic institutions endure, hand in hand."

PARENT-TEACHER

On Friday afternoon, at three o'clock the Parent-Teacher Association held its regular meeting in Perkins Hall of the Farmville High School Building. In the absence of Mrs. D. E. Morgan, the president, Mrs. S. V. Lore presided.

The meeting was opened with the singing of "Holy Holy, Holy," directed by Mrs. Daisy Holmes Smith, following this Superintendent J. H. Moore gave the scripture reading for the afternoon and Miss Annie Perkins led in prayer.

Miss Margaret Lewis and Mrs. L. P. Thomas conducted the room roll call, and at the conclusion it was announced that Miss Lewis's room the third grade, had again won the prize for having the largest number of patrons present.

Professor M. L. Wright of the East Carolina Teachers' College, was speaker for the occasion, had as his and to say to other friends here that of a "Mab and Family Responsibility." After the short but interesting talk by Professor Wright the meeting was adjourned.
