COLLEGES CROWDED

Classrooms and dormitories of colleges all over the United States are reported crowded beyond capacity this fall as one of the largest groups of college students begin their annual work.

A survey made by the New York Times, reveals a 3.9 cent gain over last year but this compares with a 6 per cent gain the year before and may indicate that the rush for higher education is slowing down somewhat. Something like this is to be expected because of the difficulties encountered by college graduates in finding profitable employment during the depression years. There was a day in the United States when a college graduate, almost ipso facto, was worth more money to an employer than a non-graduate, but the truth of the statement is at least questionable today.

GUARD AGAINST ENVY

Nothing kills a town or city quicker than a spirit of envy, regardless of how it works. As long as the people of a community are striving to keep ahead of others, with no other goal in view; then that long will the settlement remain a hick village, even if it has people by the thousands.

Fortunately, Farmville is singularly free from an excess of mean-spirited envy, the low-down spite of narrow-minded souls. Once in a while one runs across a petty exhibition of disgusting selfishness, expressing its discontent by striking a neighbor or at home. Luckily, most of the time, our people are broad-minded, liberal and unselfish.

It will do us no harm, however, as citizens of Farmville to guard against this insidious poison that saps community good-will. Let us be sure that we hail the good fortune of our friends, that we strive for the common betterment of our citizenship and that, whatever we may have, or be, that we are not embittered by our failure, or another's success.

AGRICULTURAL PROBLEM SOLVED

What is the problem of agriculture in the United States?

It is not the production of crops or the capture of markets. Simply stated it is the winning of an adequate and fair income for the farmers of the nation.

Whether large crops or small crops are best depends upon whether large crops or small crops leave more cash in the farmers' pockets. The standard of living on the farm is controlled by cash receipts, not by the size of the crops produced.

It may be, under some conditions, that large crops will bring in the most money. At other times, small crops pay best. As an example of the latter, the California Growers' Exchange reports that 13 per cent less citrus fruit this season produced 11.5 per cent greater income for the growers than they received last year.

FIRES ARE HAZARD TO COUNTRY HOMES

Cold weather brings an increase in fire hazards to country homes, warns David S. Weaver, head of the agricultural engineering department at State College.

This is due mainly to faults in the construction of chimneys, flues, and other parts of the heating systems, he continued.

Another source of danger is that of allowing inflammable materials to collect around stoves, fireplaces, the chimneys or flues where a carelessly dropped match or a spark may ignite it.

The use of soft brick and poor mortar in an attempt to build chimneys, inexpensively is responsible for a great many defects that cost a farm family its home, Weaver said.

No beams or other things should be attached to a chimney for support, he continued, as any weight on a chimney is liable to pull it out of line and cause it to develop cracks.

Flues and chimneys should be well cleaned frequently, and particularly at the beginning of the cold weather period when fires are kept burning to warm the home.

Weaver urged that all farm families check over their heating systems to make sure there are no defects that may lead to a serious fire.

"Fires in the country are much worse than in town," he said "since few farm homes are equipped with a pressure water system that would make it possible to fight the fire effectively."

Interest Realized On Security Fund

Raleigh, Oct. 19.—North Carolina had $72,928.91 placed to the credit of its Unemployment Compensation fund on deposit with the Secretary of the Treasury as interest earned by the fund during the three quarters of this year, ended September 30, Director E. W. Price of the Unemployment Compensation division has been advised by the Treasury department.

Interest earned by the North Carolina fund during the three quarters of this year include $5,476.39 for the first quarter; $27,890.83 for the second quarter; and $39,468.19 for the third quarter, or the total of $72,835.41.

The fund for this state with the Treasury Department now amounts to $7,585,000, which includes $55,000 ready for deposit Tuesday, October 19, and representing the collections for last week, through Saturday. This fund with accumulating interest, can be used only for paying qualified workers who become unemployed early next year and thereafter.

Miss Hennie Whichard

Greenville.—A large number of local and out-of-town residents attended the last rites for Miss Hennie Sutton Whichard, which were conducted Wednesday afternoon at the home with Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor of Memorial Baptist Church, officiating, assisted by Rev. Lowell F. Holderman, acting pastor. Burial was in the family plot in Cherry Hill Cemetery here.

Miss Whichard was the daughter of Mrs. Hennie H. Whichard, and the late David J. Whichard, founder of the Daily Reflector. Since 1923, she had served as society editor and circulation manager of the Daily Reflector. Miss Whichard died at her home Tuesday afternoon following a critical illness which lasted for several days.

She acquired a host of friends and acquaintances in both her professional field and the community in which she spent the greater portion of her life, and in which she maintained a deep interest in all movements designed for the improvement and advancement of the community. Besides her mother, surviving are a sister and brother, Mrs. S. L. Bridgers and D. J. Whichard, Jr., both of Greenville, the latter being editor and publisher of the Daily Reflector; and six nieces and nephews, John David and Elizabeth Bridgers, Hennie Ruth and Mary Andrews Whichard, David J. Whichard, III, and Jack Whichard, all of Greenville.

Resolutions

BE IT RESOLVED: That as the Allwise God saw fit to remove from us our comrades and esteemed brother members of Farmville Septuagenarian Society from this earthly abode to return into the realm of His domain where partings will be no more, we humbly submit and surrender their cherished friendships and brotherhood into the hands of Him who doeth all things well;

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED among our tribunal and brotherhood that we not forget that we too will soon follow them.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That these resolutions be placed on record and minutes and printed in the Farmville Enterprise.

The above resolutions were drawn and written in memory of the following members, who have passed since the date of our charter February 14, 1924 until October 1st, 1937:

Sol Jones, J. R. Dozier, Mrs. Marjetta Hemby, Mrs. W. M. Sermons, A. B. Waters, John Little, J. W. Gay, R. W. Fulford, Elias Allen, Charity Harper (col.), W. H. Laughinghouse, R. L. AMATEUR FIRE - EATER BURNED

Pawtucket, R. I.—Walking into an eating place, Anthony Slocum, 25, observed an entertainer blowing flames from his mouth. Slocum decided to try his luck at the trick. The entertainer agreed. Slocum filled his mouth with gasoline and applied a torch. Something went wrong and he was taken to a hospital suffering severe burns of the mouth, nose, and forehead.

HITS POLE, 4,000 IDLE

Buffalo.—Feeling faint, Halbert L. DeForest, 45, pulled his car to the curb. In doing so, he hit a pole which caused eleven other poles to fall. House and street lights went out, an electric light standard exploded and 4,000 men in eight industrial plants were left because the power went off.

STATE COLLEGE ANSWERS TIMELY FARM QUESTIONS

Question: Can cottonseed meal be used to replace fishmeal and meat scrap in the poultry mash?

Answer: Experimental work along this line indicates that cottonseed meal cannot be used to replace all of the animal protein concentrates in the mash, but that it can be replaced not to exceed five per cent of the total mash. There is a wide variation in toxicity and feeding value of the cottonseed meals on the market and there is also a deficiency in minerals as compared with meat scraps and fish meal. It would be unwise to make any material change in the mash especially if the birds are in lay.

Question: It is too late to seed crimson clover, oats, vetch and Austrian Winter Peas?

Answer: The best time for seeding clover, vetch and Austrian winter peas is between September 15 and October 15 and for oats between October 1 and November 1. The seed bed should be finely pulverized to a depth of three or four inches with very firm soil underneath. This will help prevent freezing out of the crop. Put in the seed with a grain drill as this method of seeding gives a better stand than broadcasting. In seeding oats use an open furrow drill as this will also prevent excessive freezing.

Question: What is the best method for curing meat on the farm?

Answer: There are many methods of curing meat and most of them are simply variations of two principal methods—the brine cure and the dry salt cure. Common salt is the basis of all meat curing and is used in varying amounts in all methods. Sugar is sometimes added to give a better flavor and also to counteract the action of the salt by keeping the muscles soft, where the salt alone makes them hard. The recommended formulas for both the "brine cure" and the "dry cure" are contained in Extension Folder No. 34 and copies may be had free upon application to the Agricultural Editor at State College.

RUNNING WATER IS A HOME NECESSITY

A home without a water system could be worse—it might have no heat to keep warm in winter.

But next to heat, a good water system is the most needed convenience for the farm home, said Rachel Everett, Johnston County home agent of the State College extension service.

And a fairly complete water system can be installed for less than the cost of an electric refrigerator, she then pointed out.

Johnston County home demonstration women have taken a great interest in water systems lately, she continued, and at every club meeting water is a subject of discussion.

"At one meeting, every woman present said she had promised herself she would have running water in her home before the end of the year," Miss Everett continued.

"We have one set of tools for cutting and fitting pipe, and we have found a place where tools are loaned free of charge for the purpose of putting in water systems."

"At each meeting recently our club women have discussed the possibilities of putting in a sink and a bathroom in the hostess' home."

"We have gone over the hostess' homes, selected places for the bathrooms, decided where the sink should be put, and figured out how this could be done."

"It has been good practice for the club members, and it will make it easier for them to work out water systems plans for their own homes."

FARMVILLE DEVILS GET THIRD VICTORY AT WALLACE THURS.

(Jim Statterfield)

The Farmville Red Devils continued their winning streak by defeating Wallace in a close race Thursday, October 14. Due to injuries received in previous games, Captain Judy was able to play in only a part of the game. He played in the second and fourth quarter.

Making their touchdown in the first quarter, Wallace was the first to score. Farmville tied the score in the second quarter when Judy scored from the fifteen yard line on a short end run. From then until the last quarter both teams played mostly defensive football. Early in the third quarter Wallace tried several passes, most of which were broken up or intercepted.

With three minutes to play Judy, who had just come into the game got off a long punt which was taken on the Wallace goal line. Wallace fumbled when tackled by Teale. The ball fell back of the goal line. One of Wallace's men tried to run the ball out but was tackled by Wellons for a safety. Wallace was given the ball on the twenty yard line. Several passes were tried, but they were forced to punt. After Farmville ran several plays, the game ended. Final score: Farmville 8, Wallace 6.

Farmville will play Wendell Friday October 22, in Farmville, and on October 29, will play the Greensies from Greenville. This is the first time in five or six years that Farmville has played Greenville in Farmville. A parade will take place before the game. Several floats will be made by the grades in school, and the Farmville High School Band will play. Greenville has of course played more experienced teams than has Farmville, but Farmville in the game she has played has showed up exceptionally well. The game should be an interesting one, and a large crowd is expected.

MOUSE CAUSES FLURRY

Chicago.—Terrorized when a telephone conversation with his wife ended with her exclamation: "Oh, my God!" and silence, Samuel Segal called police. Fifteen policemen, armed with shotguns, sped to the home to find Mrs. Segal unconscious beside a dangling receiver. Revived she gasped "He's still in the house!" He may be under the bed, or may be in a closet! But he's still here! He ran right up to me—"The 'he' was a mouse.

NECK BROKEN, BABY BORN

Alexandria, Va.—Four days after Mrs. Myrtle Arrington, 39, had her neck broken in an automobile collision she gave birth to her nineteenth child, an 8-pound girl. Doctors expect her to survive.

VICTIM HIS DAUGHTER

Elkins, W. Va.—Dr. C. H. Hall labored vainly to save the life of a young woman so badly disfigured in an automobile accident that she was unrecognizable. Later Dr. Hall learned that his patient was his daughter, Eloise.

The average man thinks he has to sign every petition that somebody sticks under his nose.
