NEW FARM POLICY. SOME CONFUSION. FARMERS DIVIDED. COMPROMISE EXPECTED. CONTROL IS CERTAIN.

(Hugo S. Sims, Washington Correspondent.)

The special session of Congress next month will have especial interest to the farmers of the United States because out of its deliberations a new and more-or-less permanent farm policy is expected to evolve. While emphasis has been placed upon crop control there is considerable difference of opinion as to exactly what will be done.

When Congress adjourned in considerable confusion so far as farm legislation was concerned there were three bills awaiting committees of both houses. All provided for crop control, but the measure proposed by Rep. Marvin Jones, chairman of the House Committee, sought to attain it by voluntary action of farmers in return for the benefits they received. The other measures, introduced by Rep. John W. Flanagan, Jr., of Virginia, and Senator Pope of Idaho, would provide compulsory marketing quotas. This idea has the endorsement of the Farm Bureau Federation, that has also insisted upon some inclusion of Secretary Wallace's ever-normal granary plan.

Just as there is a difference of opinion among legislators one finds a divided counsel coming from various farm groups. For example, the Farm Bureau Federation's advocacy of more stringent control is not endorsed by the National Grange or the Farmer's Union, both of which tend to shy away from rigid government control and penalties. The latter organizations will hold meetings in November, during which their positions will be made clearer and it may be that bumper wheat, corn and cotton crops will veer them toward a more drastic form of control than their leaders now sponsor.

Meanwhile, two senatorial committees are holding hearings over the nation for the purpose of laying the groundwork of a farm bill. One is headed by Senator E. D. (Cotton) Smith, whose past record does not indicate any intention of giving administration measured wholehearted support. In fact, he probably had a lot to do with the failure of the last Congress to pass a farm bill. Another committee, headed by Senator Pope is seeking the views of the producers and the two committees will join for several joint sessions before returning to Washington.

Rep. Jones says the measure that his committee will present to the house will provide for the continuation and simplifications of the present soil conservation program; the objective of a fair division of the national income for the farmers; the ever-normal granary through a storage warehouse program and commodity loans; local administration wherever possible and a search for new markets. His method of crop control is voluntary, financed by processing taxes, the suggestion being two cents a pound on cotton and about ten cents a bushel on the heavier grains. What recommendations will come from the two senatorial committees have not been revealed, although there is much discussion of the possibility of securing funds for a farm program through use of customs receipts. This would run counter to the President's budget-balancing as these receipts are included in the general revenues of the government.

Secretary Wallace is not considered adamant in regards to any particular plan, although believing that the Farm Bureau plan would be less expensive and more efficient than any voluntary crop control. He is represented as willing to compromise on terms. It is generally believed that agreement on control of tobacco and cotton, both suffering from bumper crops, will be comparatively easy and that it may be wisest to leave the question of voluntary or compulsory limitations on corn and wheat open for later action, when a situation develops that would create a demand for more definite control of these crops.

UNUSUAL EXHIBIT COMES TO GREENVILLE

Biological Exhibit of Exceptional Merit And Educational Value.

"Colossus" a 68-ton sea monster, over 55 feet long, is one of the feature attractions. This monster of the deep has created a furor throughout the United States, Canada, and England, where he has been exhibited. The country's leading educators have proclaimed the exhibit of unsurpassed educational value and every student of biology and natural history should attend the exhibit. Accompanying the exhibit including Captain David J. Barnett, who has spent the past 50 years sailing the "Seven Seas," whose lectures furnish one of the highlights of the exhibit.

Another feature with the exhibit is the world's only flea trainer and her troupe of performing fleas, "The London Flea Circus." Stunts that are performed by these tiny insects are really incredible... Kicking footballs, riding bicycles, pushing little carts, doing a fan dance and many other astonishing feats.

"Serpentina", nature's strangest enigma, known the world over as the living "Mermaid" has become a mecca of interest at the exhibit. Possessing no vertebrae or back bone, or spinal column, she is a puzzle for scientists and a despair for doctors. Serpentina is one of life's tragedies and it will be up to the public to decide whether she is a fish or human being.

From the time you enter the exhibition car until you leave you will be thrilled, startled and amazed by the many unbelievable sights on display, Wednesday, November 10th.

The exhibit will remain there for one day only and will be open to the public from noon until 10 p. m.

DETAILS OF THE FINAL COUNT

IN ORDER TO MAINTAIN STRICT SECRECY as to the number of subscriptions turned in by each candidate during this LAST PERIOD OF The big circulation campaign, the race will be brought to a close under a sealed ballot box. No subscriptions whatsoever will be accepted through the Campaign Department this period, but instead, the Candidates themselves will deposit their final collections in a sealed box located at The Enterprise office. By doing so, no one, not even the Campaign Manager nor the publisher can possibly know the voting strength of the respective Candidates, which precludes any possibility of favoritism and insures fairness to the minutest degree. Sealed, the box now reposes in the Enterprise office, where it will remain until the closing hour of the Campaign, 8 o'clock Saturday night.

When the Final HOUR arrives, the campaign will be declared closed. The judges will break the seals, open the box, and immediately thereafter, or as soon as votes can be issued on subscriptions contained therein, the last county will begin. The winners will be determined by merely adding the vote totals of the candidates at the close of the third period to those contained in the ballot box. There will be no waiting, no complicated count but simply of adding the totals and announcing the winners.

It is calculated that it will require some time, however, to canvass the findings in the box and determine the winners. The official results will be published in next week's issue of The Farmville Enterprise.

FINAL FATEFUL HOURS

—With the final hour 8 o'clock, Saturday night, emblazoned on their minds, stirring scenes are being enacted by candidates in the Enterprise's great subscription campaign now swiftly drawing to a close—Aroused to unprecedented opportunities of winning a small fortune, each passing hour is instilling new energy into ambitious workers. Everywhere they are swarming in eager and anxious quest for subscriptions that win them big votes—and in the end a big prize.

THESE WORKERS

Pay no attention to frequent rumors going around with hope of damaging effect. Misleading stories have but one object—influencing some candidate to retire for fear of being passed by someone else in the race. Such tales have no foundation whatsoever. It is obvious that no one can determine the results of the campaign.

COURAGE AND DOWNRIGHT HUSTLE

are two things that will win the prizes and all candidates should—and, for that matter and—taking upon themselves to annex as many votes as possible between now and the close. The road ahead may be strewn with barriers but these will of the slight consequence to the one who goes ahead steadfastly.

IMPORTANT NOTICE!

—ALL Subscriptions deposited in the sealed box must be accompanied by CASH, MONEY ORDER OR CERTIFIED CHECK, for the full amount to cover Personal checks will positively NOT BE ACCEPTED. This ruling is made in fairness to all candidates and will strictly be adhered to.

THE JUDGES

—Members of the advisory board, selected at the beginning of the campaign, will be asked to act as judges; to canvass the findings in the ballot box and to award the prizes. The personnel of this board will be found on page one.

FOURTH PERIOD VOTING SCHEDULE

—The last period (terminating OCTOBER 30.) the following number of votes will be issued on subscriptions:

FOURTH PERIOD—OCTOBER 24 TO OCTOBER 30
1 Year	3,000	3 Years	30,000
2 Years	15,000	4 Years	45,000
		5 Years	80,000

A special ballot, good for 100,000 extra votes will be issued on every "club" of $15.00 in subscriptions turned in.
