NICHOLS REUNION
At Bell Author Free Will Baptist Church, descendants of Nelson and Emily Moore Nichols held their third annual reunion Sunday, September 25. The president, Mrs. Maude Summrell of Greenville, presided and called the roll. The report showed 254 on roll with ninety-one present; twenty-one grand children, forty-five great-grand-children, eight great-grand-children, one uncle, Sam Manning, 76, one great uncle, Jerry Nichols and five visitors; Mr. and Mrs. Watt Parker, Charlie Watt Allen, Miss Doris Jones, Miss Virgie McLawhorne and Miss Irene Spain. The oldest present was 79 years and the youngest 2 months.

Prayer was offered by Mack Smith and song services were enjoyed by the entire group. Music was played by three of the grandsons on Hawaiian instruments. After the business session was over brief talks and discussions were made. Minutes were read for the last meet and it was decided the next meeting should be held on the Nelson-Nichols homestead. A committee of three were appointed to make arrangements for the next dinner.

By this time all were very much enthused; while in this stage someone was heard to say that his appetite was becoming a little over-anxious, that unanimously agreed, they began to rush for the grove where the tables were awaiting a spread of barbecue, slaw, chicken, ham, cake and all kinds of gooody-goodies. Thanks were offered by Charlie Watt Allen, second cousin to the Nichols family. After the feast congratulations, good-byes and wish-you-wells were in order. Then they began to wend their way homeward. (A Participant).

First Ground Broken For Grantham School

Goldsboro, Sept. 27 — Work on a new high school building to cost approximately $40,000 at Grantham, Wayne County, has begun. The ground was marked and the first dirt shoveled at exercises held Saturday morning attended by County Superintendent J. W. Wilson, Federal Engineer William T. Harding, Architect A. J. Maxwell, Jr., Clarence Grantham and Bob Hood of the Grantham school committee; Raymond Bryan, member of the contracting firm and Leon Couch, principal of the Grantham school.

COWBOY GIVEN YACHT
New York. — While browsing along the Brooklyn waterfront, William J. (Tex) Langford, 23-year-old former Texas cowboy, struck up an acquaintance with a man he had never seen before. Pointing to a yacht at anchor in lower N. Y. harbor, the man asked Langford how he liked it. Langford replied, enthusiastically, "A beauty!" The guy who owns that must be lucky. To which the stranger replied, "If you think so, you are. She's yours." The only trouble about the whole thing is that Langford is practically penniless and hasn't the funds to operate the yacht.

BRIDE COMPLIMENTED AT GREENVILLE PARTY
On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Louise S. Harrison, of Greenville, entertained at bridge in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Lynn Davis of Farmville, who was recently married.
