The Spirit of Christmas Inspires Programs And Pervades Homes

Festive Atmosphere and Holiday Mood Noted at Social Occasions This Week.

Forests green, gaily dressed and blooming plants, red berries, lighted tapers, decorated Christmas trees, Nativity and miniature village scenes gave a festive atmosphere and holiday spirit to the varied social events of the week here. The plate decorations and favors carried the Yuletide suggestion and the talkies and table appointments at the bride parties, all borrowed the seasonal colors and Santa motif.

Misses Helen, Christine and Huldah Smith were gracious hostesses at the December meeting of the Major Benjamin May Chapter, D. A. R., held in the Chapter House.

Rev. C. B. Mashburn conducted the devotional program, using as a theme the song of Love as found in the 18th chapter of 1st Corinthians.

Mrs. Eugene Davis, of Raleigh, regent of the North Carolina Daughters of the American Revolution was an honored guest and addressed the Chapter at this time.

Mrs. Henrietta M. Williamson presided over the business session, during which Mrs. W. H. Whitmore called attention to the new brass plate memorializing the donors of the colonial mantle of the new Chapter House.

The December meeting of the Woman's Club, one of the most enjoyable and interesting of the entire year, was held at the home of Mrs. J. M. Hobgood, with Mrs. S. V. Lore, Mrs. John B. Lewis and Mrs. Dunbar Lamar as joint hostesses.

The program, conducted by the Garden Club, of which Miss Tabitha DeVisconti is chairman, and Mrs. T. E. Joyner acting as joint leader for the afternoon, was developed with a talk by the latter on the recent Raleigh Garden Club Show.

Decorations faced by Mrs. Joyner throughout the home were very attractive with those in the dining room termed as elaborate. The table was spread with a lace cloth and silver appointments were used in the set-up.

The mantel, buffet and serving table decorations were studied and admired and place cards and a special display of decorations made by her pupils was presented Miss Verona Lee Joyner, Home Economics teacher.

Christmas candles and decorated sugar cubes were exhibited by Miss Bettie Joyner, who told plant legends and made a plea for the conservation of Christmas green.

Mrs. John D. Holmes presided and reports were made by Miss Annie Perkins of the Literary-Art Department; Miss DeVisconti of the Garden Club; Mrs. J. M. Whales, Jr., of the Junior Woman's Club and by Mrs. S. V. Lore of the committee raising a milk fund for underprivileged children of the school.

The program was concluded by the singing of this Yuletide favorite.

A Christmas meal came with sandwiches and coffee was served by the hostesses, who had as special guests Mrs. Margaret Barker, Miss Camille Sinton, Mrs. Louise Harris, Mrs. E. M. Lewis, Mrs. Ed Nash Warren and Mrs. C. S. Whittlesley, of Opella, Ala.

Cooking Up on Children

Mrs. Joel Moye gave an interesting discussion of conditions in Spain prior to the beginning of the Revolution in 1808, under the subject of "The Spanish Prelude."

Refreshments consisting of a Christmas salad, pickles, saltines, sandwiches cut in Christmas tree and star motifs, coffee, nuts and stuffed dates were served by the hostess, Mrs. R. H. Knott, at the conclusion of the program.

Mrs. Knott had as additional guests Mrs. John B. and Miss Bettie Joyner, Mrs. D. E. Ogilby, Mrs. J. H. Harris, Mrs. C. S. Whittlesley, Sr., of Opella, Ala., Mrs. L. E. Walston, Mrs. Haywood Smith, Mrs. A. O. Roebuck, and Miss Edna Robinson.

Remedy

Heavy corn feeding of poultry seems to increase the tendency toward feather-picking and cannibalism while heavy oat feeding seems to decrease this tendency.

What Next?

In Idaho, beavers are caught by trappers and put to work by the government in building dams.

C. OF C. MEET

Jack Taylor was host to the Children of the Confederacy on Thursday evening. Cornelia Knott presided and led in the pledge of allegiance to Old Glory and the salute to the Confederate flag.

NOTE OF THANKS

The family of Henry Edward Bryan wish to express their sincere appreciation for the floral tributes and other expressions of sympathy extended them during their bereavement.
