Forgotten causes: Disarmament, the Kellogg pact and the gold standard.

There are people who are so anxious to go somewhere that they go with anybody.

cause the British Government was to secure some of the motors has caused William S. Knudsen, of the National Defense Advisory Commission, to request the Packard Motor Company to undertake the mass production of the famous Rolls-Royce airplane motors.

Under the pressure of war needs and defense necessities, the airplane industry in this country will probably attain the mass-production stage. Before the World War, the United States built about 2,000 planes and during the war period, something like 18,000 additional planes and 40,000 engines. In the years which have elapsed since the war, it is estimated that only 26,000 planes have been built in this country. Due to the orders from Great Britain and France, leading to expanded production facilities, the airplane industry is said to be producing about 12,000 complete planes a year.

It is believed that the production of airplanes is limited only by the production of high horsepower engines which are produced by only three companies in the United States. The Wright Aeronautical Corporation and Pratt and Whitney make radical, air-cooled engines at the rate of about 18,000 a year and the Allison division of General Motors Corporation, produces a liquid-cooled engine which has passed laboratory tests but is still comparatively untried. The production of air-cooled motors can be doubled within twelve months, it is believed, and the Allison Company, is expected to produce at least 500 engines a month a year from now.

There is renewed speculation as to the intentions of President Roosevelt as the Democratic Convention approaches. There is no doubt that the President can have the Democratic nomination. In fact, it will be his without the asking unless he absolutely declines to run. The discussion about the third term has been going on for many months, but the President has managed to keep quiet on the subject himself.

Generally, his friends assert that the Chief Executive prefers not to run and while it has been assumed, within recent weeks, that Mr. Roosevelt would seek a third term, the trend of thought last week was one of doubt with some observers asserting that he is less inclined to run now than he was some weeks ago. The truth of the matter is that nobody knows what the President will do except the President himself and he will not make his attitude clear until the Convention assembles.

There is considerable talk of a Third Party ticket with some indications that definite action will await the Democratic Convention. Senator Burton K. Wheeler has already warned the Democrats that a "new and great anti-war party" will be formed unless the Party pledges not to send American soldiers to foreign shores. The Senator, incidentally, was des-

Wake Lazy Insides
All-Vegetable Way

Thousands turn to this way to get relief when they're lazy intestinally and it has them headachy, bilious, irritable, listless: A quarter to a half-teaspoonful of spicy, aromatic, all-vegetable BLACK-DRAUGHT on your tongue tonight, a drink of water, and there you are! Thus, it usually allows time for a night's rest; acts gently, thoroughly next morning, so relieving constipation's headaches, biliousness, bad breath.

BLACK-DRAUGHT's main ingredient is an "intestinal tonic-laxative," which helps impart tone to lazy bowel muscles. The millions of packages used prove its merit. Economical, too: 25 to 40 doses, 25c.

cribed to followers of Mr. Townsend, in convention assembled at St. Louis, as the only Democrat who can beat Willkie by no less a person than John L. Lewis, the CIO chief who was particularly active in the early days of the Republican Convention.

The United States, through Secretary of State Cordell Hull, makes it plain that this country is standing on its Far Eastern policy regardless of Japan's declaration for "an Asiatic Monroe Doctrine." While no sharp issue has been taken to the Japanese assertion, the basic policies of this country in regard to national policies as applicable to the Far East, remain unchanged.

The possibility that Japan may take aggressive action in new quarters in the Far East is a recognized possibility, but until this happens, the position of the United States will probably remain unclarified. Secretary Hull has always stood for the Open Door policy and the full validity of treaties concerning the Far East to which this country is a party.

Contracts awarded for forty-four warships and one non-combatant naval vessel last week were let within two hours after President Roosevelt signed the "speed-up bill" to hurry naval ship construction. This contract letting followed allocation of ships to governmental and private yards and leaves only three aircraft carriers and two cruisers to be awarded. It should be understood that the ships discussed were authorized under the Vinson 11 per cent. expansion bill. In addition, there is now under consideration in Congress a bill providing for the construction of two hundred or more ships in a supposed $4,000,000,000 program.

The strength of the United States Navy, includes 296 ships built and 133 building or under contract. There are five others for which contracts must yet be let, and, in addition, the two hundred which would be provided for in the new expansion program. The Navy now has: 15 battleships and 10 building; 6 aircraft carriers and 2 building; 18 heavy cruisers and 4 building; 19 light cruisers and 16 building; 236 destroyers and 61 building; 101 submarines and 41 building. Proposed construction includes, according to estimates, 9 battleships, 5 aircraft carriers, 12 heavy cruisers, 12 light cruisers, 122 destroyers and 40 submarines.
