GIRLS' AUXILIARY MEETS
 Ramona and Joyce Rouse entertained the G. A. Society Friday afternoon.
 After the G. A. Hymn was sung the hostesses invited the members to the nice shady lawn where the program was held.
 Topic: Sugar Bowl and Pinata.
 Devotional: Clean Dishes.
 Each member joined in with a sentence prayer. At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served to Elizabeth Shirley, Royonell Bailey, Pauline, and Frances Dixon, Ann Hicks, Janie Bell McKeel, Virginia Fields, Betty Bowden, Mrs. Henson and Ramona and Joyce Rouse.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS
 The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church held its regular monthly meeting Wednesday with Mrs. A. P. Lewis and Mrs. J. B. Henson as joint hostesses at the home of the later. Gladioli and other summer flowers were attractively arranged in the living room. Mrs. Ed Taylor, program leader, presented a very interesting program. The topic: Unity.
 Mrs. J. B. Henson presided over the business session in the absence of the president.

At the conclusion of the meeting the hostesses served an iced fruit drink with sandwiches and cheese straws. The plates decorated with favors in the nature of small bouquets of old fashioned flowers.
 Those present were Mesdames Albert Boney, Melvin Gay, Frank Shirley, Claude Joyner, Lydia Walston, Carl Cobb, Ed Taylor, C. T. Hicks, Fred Beaman, W. V. Redick, M. M. Lentz and A. P. Lewis.

that Germany has adopted and is now putting into effect in most of Europe.
 The stupendous rearmament program of the United States may give effectual notice to the totalitarian powers that they have been mistaken when they assumed that the people of the United States will, under no circumstances, fight for their rights. While the United States has protested vigorously against the various aggressions in different sections of the world, this country has done nothing effectual to prevent successive aggression elsewhere. Naturally, the dictator powers are not concerned with verbal protests so long as they are permitted to continue along their way to aggrandizement.

The fatal tip-off as to the intentions of the United States, however, was given to the world at large, when Congress, under the influence of pacifists and isolationists in this country, passed the Neutrality Act which practically abandoned our historic support of the doctrine of the freedom of the seas and willingly gave up the right of our ships to trade with all nations. By prohibiting all American ships from operating in war zones, the United States, "in the interest of peace," drastically altered its foreign policy and served notice upon the aggressors that they could proceed with their war-like program without fear of complications from the United States. We would prevent "incidents" by the simple expedient of keeping out of the way.

Following this abandonment of historic American principles, the United States, as a nation, adopted a policy of strict neutrality, again in the belief that it was a measure of peace, making no official difference whatever in our attitude toward peace-loving nations with democratic institutions, and war-worshipping regimes that denounced democracy and glorified the use of force in the hands of dictators. This attitude played into the hands of the aggressors who saw clearly that they could proceed against the divided and unprepared democracies without taking thought of the power of the United States.

The sentiment of the people of the United States for peace has been based upon a conviction that civilization makes progress only through the peaceful development of nations and individuals. Now that the institutions of civilization are in extreme peril from militaristic aggression, the people of the United States are beginning to perceive that the institutions of civilization, to make any progress, must be protected from longer any considerable body of citizens in this country adhering to the view that if we leave the aggressor nations alone, they will respect our rights. Almost every sensible American is now convinced that the only protection for the rights of Americans is to be found in the Army, Navy and air forces of this country.

In fact, public sentiment has moved so rapidly in this country, within the past few months that there is widespread apprehension that a German triumph over Great Britain will place this country in grave peril and that, in spite of all our defense program, the nation will not be prepared to defend itself from the joint attacks of aggressor-nations. It is readily understood, at this time, that Germany, Italy and Japan will not hesitate to act in concert to apply pressure to the United States and to use war as an instrument to attain their aims in South America.

Because of this realization, there has been organized a nation-wide movement for the "defense of America through aid to the Allies." While the organization has some very eminent members, its present influence is problematical. At least the movement indicates a growing realization that it is to the interest of this country to assist in the defeat of aggression, which, at present, is being blocked only by Great Britain in Europe, and China in the Far East. How strong this sentiment may become and what steps our Government will take are unanswered questions at this time.

Meanwhile, don't forget that a hundred Americans are being killed every day on our highways and that no man can serve his nation by getting hurt in an automobile collision.

"Build-Up" Good News For Suffering Women

Much of women's periodic distress may be unnecessary!
 Many who suffer from headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain, other symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition are helped by CARDUI.
 Main way it helps relieve periodic distress is by increasing appetite and flow of gastric juices. Thus it often aids digestion; helps build strength, energy, resistance to periodic disturbances.
 Others find help for periodic discomfort this way: Start a few days before and take CARDUI until "the time" has passed. Women have used CARDUI more than 50 years.
