The supposition is that both onerous to the courts and cripwhen the ratio is increased, there will pling to the administration (of the be something like an economic balance in the nation, with a continuous flow of manufactured goods to the farms in exchange for the agricultural products raised on the farm. This exchange will promote business and, according to some thinkers, guarantee a reasonable prosperity.

So-called parity does not mean to guarantee to agriculturists the same per capita income that the average American enjoys. To do this would be to go far ahead of the parity goal. If we remember the percentages correctly, the aim of parity is to give to the one-fourth of the nation's population, engaged in agritulture, about fifteen per cent of the national income.

While most of the farmers of the nation approve the program now under way, there is developing a sentiment, particularly in areas of the West, that the program does not go prior approval of the county AAA far enough.

With the advent of the # New Doal, the administrative agent des multiplitd. Some of them, char ed with enforcing new legislation,

The control features of the present machinery are not operative unless the farmers vote them into effect and, it is worth noting, practically every election to determine whether to adopt controls or not has been overwhelmingly in favor of crop control.

Farmers understand the necessity of limiting production to meet probable demands. They know that industry practices rigid control of production and that agriculture, if it expects to prosper, must follow the example and conform its methods to existing conditions.

The situation in the Far East continues to be quiet, but recent utterances of responsible Japanese officials seem to be designed to feel out American public opinion. The Japanese statesmen carefully assert that they do not want any war with the United States and emphasize that this will not happen if both Japan and the United States "mind their own business."

This phrase, interpreted Japanese fashion, warns the United States to keep out of the Far Eastern area where responsible Japanese officials insist that the interests of Japan are paramount. Recent indications are that Japanese statesmen include Thailand (Siam) and Burma in the sphere of Japan. The hint is also broadly given that the dispatch of any American warship to Singapore would present a serious complication which might result in hostilities.

Administration officials continue to give some study to the financial situation of Great Britain. Since Lord Lithian's speech, asserting the need of the British for financial assistance, there has been considerable interest in the question. While it is assumed that lack of financial credit will not end the ceaseless flow of supplies from this country to Great Britain, it is apparent that American officials are very anxious not to be misled into granting credits which are not necessary.

Of course, the whole question will await congressional action but we think the reader can take it for granted that this country will extend almost unlimited material aid to the British regardless of the metho which has to be adopted.

In connection with the discu about the Logan-Walter bill, it is well to understand that this measure fol committee must be obtained in writing, with one copy going to the producer and one copy filed in the compliance envelope for the farm. The written approval will include instructions for carrying out the practice in accordance with the Triple-A regulations. AAA supervisors or representa tives of the county committee will determine whether the practice has been carried out in accordance with the instructions and specifications. The county committee may elect to have the county agent, assistant agent, or a vocational teacher to act as the committee's representative. Floyd also called attention to th terracing specifications under th 1941 program. In all cases where the terraces are not constructed by a county terracing unit, the producer will be required to present evidence that the terraces have been built according to standard requirements and have been laid out by either a representative of the Extension Service, a representative of the Soil Conservation Service, or a vocational teacher.
