The Clubs Return to Study After the Holiday Season

Regular Schedule Meetings Held By Literary and Card Groups

The first meeting of the Junior Woman's Club in the New Year was held in the home of Mrs. Mabrey E. Pollard with Mrs. R. T. Williams as joint hostess. Forsythia and first breath of Spring brought a spring-like atmosphere into the home. Mrs. J. L. Parker presided. Mrs. C. S. Hotchkiss read current events regarding activities of the Junior Women from "The Club Woman," and the program was featured with her discussion of the opera, "Carmen," by George Bizet. Mrs. Charles Meyer played records of arias from the opera. During a delightful social hour the hostesses served cake, coffee and salted nuts.

Mrs. S. A. Roebuck was gracious hostess at a bridge luncheon on Wednesday, at which members of the New Deal Club and additional friends, Mrs. R. G. Lang, Mrs. J. Y. Monk, Mrs. L. T. Pierce and Mrs. Pat Ruffin were guests. Mrs. John B. Joyner was a luncheon guest.

A delicious three course luncheon was served at twelve o'clock. In the games, which followed, Mrs. H. M. Williamson and Mrs. J. Y. Monk won the club and guest prizes, not bowl sets, and Mrs. R. O. Lang received as a consolation for low score, novel coasters.

The January meeting of the Rebecca Wimbourne Chapter, U. D. C., was held at the home of Mrs. A. C. Monk with Mrs. G. M. Holden presiding and Miss Annie Perkins in charge of the program. Miss Perkins gave an interesting review of the book, "Eneideasfricanus." A delicious salad course was followed by fruit cake, coffee and nuts.

Mrs. Wesley R. Willis delightfully entertained the Contract Club this week. Potted plants and arrangements of white foliage were used with artistic effect. Mrs. M. V. Horton was winner of the high score prize, a bowl of blooming narcissus. A delicious fruit gelatine with cream was served, together with fruit cake and cookies. Mrs. Walter Jones and Mrs. R. E. Pickett were special guests at this meeting.

Members of the Wednesday Afternoon Club and additional friends of the hostess were guests at a club party given by Mrs. Robert Lee Smith this week, at her home in which potted plants and bowls of narcissus were used as a setting. Miss Elizabeth Davis scored high for members and received dusting powder, and Mrs. W. E. Joyner won the guest prize of embroidered towels. Mrs. Theodore T. Moore and Mrs. B. L. Lang, recent brides, were presented with lovely gifts, and the hostess also remembered Mrs. M. V. Horton, whose birthday fell on that date.

A congealed salad course with coffee was served. Special guests of the hostess were; Mrs. B. L. Lang, Mrs. T. T. Moore, Mrs. M. V. Horton, Mrs. Rex Hodges, Mrs. Z. M. Whitehurst, Mrs. H. Neal Howard, Mrs. Arthur F. Joyner, Mrs. W. E. Joyner, Mrs. M. V. Jones, Miss Virginia Harris, Mrs. Jalma Bynum, Mrs. Irvin Morgan, Jr., and Mrs. R. E. Pickett.

Miss Lula Forbes delightfully entertained a number of friends at bridge on Monday evening. Forest greens and potted plants were enhanced by soft lights in the setting for the tables arranged in the living room.

Mrs. Marie Benson won the high score award for ladies, a bon bon dish, and Charles Routree, Jr., received the men's prize. The floating prize was retained by Lath Morris, and Mrs. Curtis Flanagan was given a box of candy as consolation for low score of the evening.

A delicious fruit salad course was served, followed by Japanese fruit cake and coffee.

MILK GIVEN CREDIT

Dr. E. T. McCollum, famous nutrition expert of John Hopkins University, says:

"The people who have achieved, who have become large, strong vigorous people, who have reduced their infant mortality, who have the best trades in the world, who have an appreciation for art, literature and music, who are progressive in science and in every activity of the human intellect, are the people who have used liberal amounts of milk and its products.—Hoards Dairyman.

BIRD CLUB NOTES

During the Christmas holidays the meetings of the Bird-Club were not reported but regular meetings were held. Neal Howard and Danny Morgan were visitors at one meeting, at which Neal read a poem, "Our Neighbors—the Birds."

At the meeting on Saturday Maynard Thorne read a poem, and an article, relating to birds, written by Charlotte Hilton Greene in her "Outdoors in North Carolina" column in the News and Observer, was discussed.

The members were reminded at this time of the bird books on the shelves of the Farmville and School libraries, and were urged to read them. Interesting incidents, regarding birds are recounted by members at each meeting, and there is always the activity of working on homes for birds.

Miss Elizabeth Newman Is Bride Of B. L. Lang

Impressive Ceremony Solemnized In Plymouth Methodist Church

Miss Elizabeth Norman and Benjamin Lewis Lang were united in marriage in an impressive ceremony Saturday afternoon, December 21st at 4:30 o'clock in the Plymouth Methodist Church, the Rev. O. L. Hardwick officiated.

Prior to the ceremony Shep Brinkley, organist, presented a program of nuptial music. C. J. Norman, uncle of the bride, was soloist, and a vested choir sang the benediction. The traditional wedding marches were used.

Against a background of pines, fern and palms, baskets of white chrysanthemums were flanked by burning cathedral tapers in graduated standards. White satin ribbons marked the pews reserved for the families and out-of-town guests.

John Lewis of Farmville, attended his cousin as best man. Ushers were George Allen and Edison Moor of Farmville, Alton Barrett of Greenville and James Wood Norman, Jr., of Richmond, brother of the bride.

Miss Camille Steton of Bethel was maid of honor. Mrs. J. H. Harrell of Greenville, sister of the bridegroom, attended as matron of honor. They were gowned alike in skyblue dresses of faille taffeta and wore Juliette caps with veils matching their gowns in color. They carried arm bouquets of pink roses.

Little Louise Pettitt Norman of Richmond, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a white net dress over taffeta, with a small off the face hat. She carried a colonial nosegay of white and blue flowers. Macon Gordon Norman, Jr., of Richmond, cousin of the bride, dressed in a black velvet bolero suit, was ring bearer.

The bride entered the church with her father, J. W. Norman, Sr., by whom she was given in marriage. She wore a floor length colonial costume of white net and chantilly lace with a small halo hat, over which a matching net finger tip veil was draped. Her flowers were brides roses and lilies of the valley showered with satin ribbon. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls.

Following the ceremony, the parents of the bride, entertained at an informal reception at their home on Main street, for the bridal party, the family and out-of-town guests.

The lower floor was en suite. Cathedral candles, Christmas greenery, white and silvered bells, white carnations, chrysanthemums and snapdragons were used as decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Norman of Richmond greeted guests in the hall and directed them to the living room where they were received by Mrs. Norman, mother of the bride, Mrs. Lang, mother of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Lewis Lang, Miss Camille Steton and Mrs. J. H. Hallell.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Norman of Raleigh, directed guests to the dining room where a salad course with bridal cakes, mints, salted nuts and coffee were served by Misses Virginia Norman, Barbara Norman, Sarah McLean and Meredith Johnston. The dining table was covered with a banquet cloth of Venetian cut work and filet lace and was centered with an arrangement of white roses, carnations and snapdragons in a crystal bowl, flanked by burning white tapers in three branched silver candelabra.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Norman, Jr., of Richmond received in the gift room. Immediately after the reception the bride and bridegroom left for a wedding trip to Florida.

For traveling the bride changed to a mist blue dress suit with matching hat and a black fur jacket, using black accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of orchids. After January 1 Mr. and Mrs. Lang will be at home in Farmville.

Mrs. Lang is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Norman of Plymouth. She received her education at the Woman's College in Greensboro from which she was graduated. She also holds a degree in Library Science from Emory University, Atlanta, Ga.

Mr. Lang is the son of Mrs. Mary Lewis Lang and the late A. V. Lang of Farmville. He is a graduate of State College in Raleigh. He is a tobaccoist, holding a position with the A. C. Monk Tobacco Company of Farmville.

NEW PHONE DIRECTORY LISTS STREET NUMBERS

R. L. Spivey, local manager of the Carolina Telephone Co., and City Clerk B. A. Joyner are due congratulations and commendation for their joint effort in getting telephone subscribers' streets and numbers printed in the new telephone directory, which has been issued here this week. This is a most helpful service to the public in general, and particularly to strangers in our gates, who wish to locate residents.
