The trouble with the jury system is the jurors.

Add simile: "As useless as an after dinner address."

The trouble with most golfers is that they talk a better game.

Most of the people we know are baffled by their own ignorance.

Let's remember, at all times, that the prime function of Farmville is to promote family life, including the proper growth of children.

Cotton, wheat and tobacco growers are isolated—they have lost their foreign market. So what?

Democracy is not assisted by careless criticism of officials, whether they serve local, state or federal governments.

A college education is all right provided the graduate has sense enough to get along with less fortunate human beings.

Gradually the conviction is spreading throughout the United States that the nation may have to use some of the tanks that it is building.

Many a male will discover, in the month of June, that there are drafts more serious than the selective service statute.

The nations that want a free world, and expect to enjoy it, should emulate the example of the free-booters and work together.

The main rivalry, in so far as trans-Atlantic air routes are concerned, involves acquisition of government funds to subsidize the enterprise.

Those who look enviously at the lovely flowers in their neighbors' yards can correct their lack by similar efforts.

"WE WANT PEACE!"

The people of the United States want peace.

They want peace for themselves and for the world, with which they like to trade, especially when it comes to the selling of their own products.

Unfortunately, for the people of this country, the world has no peace and it is not likely that the people of other countries will be able to buy much of our products when peace arrives, unless we are willing to do much to help them.

This is not possible under an isolationist policy and there are many Americans who still believe that the nation can enjoy peace by simply ignoring what is happening in Europe, Africa and Asia.

There are many provincial thinkers, alive and active, in this country who have no conception whatever of the Hull theory of international trade but who, to the contrary, believe that you can sell and sell and sell without ever buying anything from your customers.

The peace that the people of this country desire so urgently will be possible only when we understand our relationship to the modern world, before willing to share in the development of the globe and accept the responsibilities that go with economic power.

G.W.A.

The June meeting of the G.W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Chester Outland Monday evening, with Margie Nichols as hostess. Thelma Williams, Program Chairman, read a selection, "Night in Europe"; Lee Curran, Margie Nichols and Elvira Tramm also participated in the program.

Elvira Tramm gave a talk on the Southern Baptist Conference at Birmingham, Ala. The G.W.A. welcomed Lila Gayner, Margaret Watson and Geraldine Skinner as new members. Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Electric Hotbeds Going In Favor

Electricity, now performing an increasing number of tasks about the farm, is finding favor among progressive growers in heating hotbeds, according to D. E. Jones, rural electrification specialist of N. C. State College.

Farmers who have used the electric hotbeds say they are better than the old stable compost bed because the plants grow faster. This means that the plants are younger when they attain a size sufficient for transplanting, a desirable factor in truck farming.

Another advantage of the electric hotbed, Jones said, is that the installation may be made permanent and that the temperature may be maintained and regulated automatically to the needs of the particular plants being grown.

This feature permits the forced growth and early maturity of spring vegetables suited to hotbed planting. An electric hotbed will provide the family table with early spring vegetables and aid the truck gardener in meeting out-of-season competition in the market.

As the electric hotbed is permanent, considerable labor is saved every year, and the installation and operating cost compares favorably with other sources of heat.

During the past season, many growers with electrically-heated beds reported securing several times more plants than with the old manure bed.

The fact that a great many more plants can be grown in a yard of the electric bed makes it possible for the farmer to reduce the size of his plant bed. This means a saving in seed, labor, and fertilizer. The cost of operating an electric hotbed will vary with power rates, the severity of the weather, the temperature of the soil, and the construction of the plant bed.

Housewives Begin Blanket Storage

The arrival of warm weather means putting away those blankets which will not be needed again until next fall, says Miss Pauline Gordon, extension home management and house furnishing specialist of N. C. State College.

A warm spring day when the sun is shining and a light wind blowing is an excellent time to wash out the soil of winter and store blankets out of the reach of moths.

Miss Gordon explained that the warmth of a blanket depends upon a soft, fluffy nap. Wool fibres are soft, crimped, and scaly. When a wool blanket is placed in warm soapy water, the fibers become softened or plastic. If the blanket is subjected to hard rubbing or wringing, the fibers tend not only to creep up on each other, but to stick together.

Because of the danger of this shrinkage and matting of the wool when it is washed, every homemaker should understand the rules of washing blankets properly. Since wool cannot stand too much cold or too much heat, only lukewarm water should be used for washing and rinsing. The temperature of the water should never be above 90 degrees F. The second thing to remember, Miss Gordon said, is to use soft water and mild neutral soap, never a strong laundry soap. Two tablespoonful of borax to each tub of water should be added if the water needs softening. If a sediment forms, the water should be strained. Water should be squeezed, not twisted, out of a blanket. If a wringer is used, the blanket should be folded flat and the tension on the rolls released to avoid crushing the nap.

POVERTY

If in my heart there is no love for those by sin defiled, And if I lack compassion for a wayward, wand'ring child; If I possess no strong desire to help him in his need, To lead him back to paths of peace, Then I am poor indeed.

If I have lost the tenderness, the grace I once possess'd, If I cannot appreciate another soul's distress; If I have not within my breast a willingness to feed The hungry multitudes of earth, Then I am poor indeed.

If I cannot appreciate the good in those I meet, If in my blindness I abhor the outcast on the street; And if my heart desires to curse the branded reed— Then know that I have lost my wealth, And I am poor indeed.

And if I thrill not at the touch of dimpled baby hands, Nor feel the warmth my humble home and all its love surrounds; And if the finer things of life are lost in grass and grain— Then in my heart a hunger dwells, And he is poor indeed. —Luther Lillenas

TWO MILLION FOR MERCHANTS

Merchants of North Carolina have an opportunity to reap the profits from $2,000,000 worth of cotton goods which farmers of the State will receive for participating in the U. S. Department of Agriculture's supplementary cotton stamp program. Farm people will trade stamps for children's clothing, as pictured above, and other cotton goods from eight general classes of stores. E. Y. Floyd, AAA executive officer of N. C. State College, reports that 106,903 of North Carolina's 120,923 cotton farmers are eligible to share in the Supplementary Cotton Stamp Program.
