North State Will Keep President's Holiday

North Carolina's Governor Broughton announced right after taking office in January that this State would fall in line with President Roosevelt's proclamation and observe Thanksgiving one week earlier than the traditional date. The new date, as has been announced before in these columns, and is at this time repeated to clear away any confusion, will be Thursday, November 29, and citizens of this State will buy their turkeys a week in advance of their usual Thanksgiving marketing.

Governor Hoyt was among the Governors who declined to follow the President in this regard. There will be no confusion over dates next year as the President has indicated he will proclaim the traditional last Thursday in November as the official day of thanks and if he does, North Carolina will go back to the old date too. Governor Broughton's change of dates will enable Federal government employees and their families in North Carolina to eat turkey the same Thursday and celebrate the holiday together.

Calvin Rasberry Given 30 Years

Calvin Rasberry, 35, Negro, was convicted in Superior Court Thursday of second degree murder in connection with the death of Jarvis Tyson, 50, Negro, on March 23, and sentenced to 30 years in the State penitentiary. The quarrel, which resulted in Tyson's being slain, arose from a trivial matter.

WINNER IN POPULARITY CONTEST JR. WOMAN'S CLUB

Miss Agnes Virginia Quinsey, lovely young daughter of Mrs. Frank Davis, Jr., was winner in the Popularity Contest conducted by the Junior Woman's Club in connection with the play, "Bubbling Over" last week.

BIRD NOTES

At the Bird Club Saturday, Robert Everette Roebuck read a selection regarding the Maryland Yellowthroat, whose music is quite loud, despite the small size of the musician. Robert found that its song could be described as direct and forceful as though it insisted upon being heard. Its nest, made in May, is placed either upon or close to the ground.

Wilbur Bennett and Julian Boyce read articles referring to fan's war on Predators-Depleting Beneficial Birds. Reports show, according to Wilbur, that hawks and owls, which are considered long lived, rarely live more than one year because of an indiscriminate war against them. One of 1250 banded hawks and owls killed in recent years, 1100 were of a type beneficial to man. This would indicate that man should become able to distinguish the harmful from the beneficial so the latter will remain alive to kill rats and mice in the fields and woods.

The woodcock was also studied at this time. It is the only bird in the Western Hemisphere whose top bill is movable and the beak can be used like a pair of tweezers to grasp food below the surface of the ground. During a play period the members enjoyed cookies.

NOTE OF THANKS

The Junior Woman's Club wishes to express its thanks to cast, the choruses and the specialty artists for their time and interest given to the production of "Bubbling Over", which was presented under our sponsorship. We want to thank everyone who helped in any way towards its presentation and especially the Farmville Furniture Co. for the use of the furniture, and the City Cafe for taking care of the seat sale. Mrs. T. S. Ryan, President.

FOOD FOR FREEDOM

Farmers Must Not Be Liable in Defense

"A Farmer who is forced to spend money for milk, pork, poultry and other products he could produce at home is a liability in the National Defense program," says Dean L. O. Schaub, director of the N. C. State College Extension Service. "Every ounce of dairy, poultry and other such products is needed to feed defense forces in Army camps and industrial centers, and our friends who are resisting aggression in Europe," he declared.

Dean Schaub pointed out that the Farm Census showed that in 1939, there were no cows on 98,204 of North Carolina's 280,000 farms; no pigs on 66,604 farms; and no chickens on 33,154 farms.

"That means," he asserted, "that about one-third of our farmers were buying milk and hog meat, and about one-sixth were buying eggs, or else they were doing without these essential health foods. Either situation is bad. For instance, if they were buying canned milk they were reducing the supply available for export to Great Britain. If they and their children were doing without milk, they were undernourished and no nation achieves total strength unless all of its citizens are well fed."

The Extension director says that North Carolina can make its biggest contribution to the "Food for Freedom" campaign by seeing that every farm has at least one cow, some pigs, and a farm flock of poultry. "If we do that, we will more than meet our goal of increased production sought in 1942. The average cow in North Carolina produces 9,900 pounds of milk annually. If such of the farms without a cow in 1939 had only in 1942, the State's milk production would be increased about 383 million pounds. We are only asked to increase our milk production in 1942 about 81 million pounds over 1939."

SMALLER

Early October information indicates some decrease in lamb feeding during the 1941-42 season as compared with record high numbers fed last year, reports the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

SOYBEAN WOOL

Soybean wool, used in making plastic fiber panels and upholstery padding in automobiles, may increase the demand for soybeans, a crop of growing importance in the South.
