LET'S CLEAN UP

We note from what we read in the papers that nearby towns are making plans to hold Clean-Up Campaigns, and though we haven't heard as yet whether the Farmville City Fathers are contracting even the first symptoms of the Spring Cleaning Fever, we wish to offer our services in advance and pledge our support to such a move.

Householders and business men will doubtless lend enthusiastic support to the town authorities and do their part in giving Farmville, a thorough cleaning, in the residential and business sections, and so aid in the very necessary campaign to fight the fly and mosquito, both dread disease-carrying insects, this month.

A rat-killing would of course be the next step in making Farmville a cleaner and more healthful town, and we might add that the town and community are infested again with this property-destroying pest and that we are badly in need of this service.

We believe, notwithstanding the evidence that may be brought to bear to the contrary, that Farmville was benefited more by the old, but we admit rather troublesome method, of poisoning rats, rather than gassing the rodents, and that some dependable person could be found, locally, to put this over successfully and perhaps at less expense.

The nation's total cropland rose only about one per cent from 1940 until 1944.

With good dialing, I'd rather listen to the radio than to some gabby people in person.

If you have no preference, why not order vanilla and let the waiter go about his business?

Box-car shortage presents the most serious of all obstacles to the relief of farm food shortages.

World meat production in 1945 was 59.3 billion pounds, decline of about 6.8 billion pounds from 1944 production.

When the monetary compensation is satisfactory, we complain that the verbal appreciation is inadequate. And vice versa.

Some people's idea of moderate drinking is to withhold their order till everyone else has been served and then request "the same."

Little girls are confirmed exhibitionists the moment they're born, and some boys too, for that matter. They get over it if nobody pays much attention.

MEET SMOKEY!

Today's edition of The Enterprise introduces "Smoky," an amiable cartoon bear, with a wise and timely forest fire prevention message. This inimitable character, wearing trousers and a forest ranger's hat, will present to our readers a weekly message on forest conservation and protection.

The importance of forests for providing lumber and other woods products, have never been better recognized than today. The need for thousands of homes, increased paper output, and other products, is urgent. Growing trees to meet these demands, and to provide work for local labor in this community will require protection from fire and mismanagement.

"Smoky's" little reminders will help bring these thoughts home to the public. Our readers will have an opportunity to make suggestions for drawings and sayings for future "Smoky Says." If you have an idea to suggest, submit it to the local State or Federal Forester, or send it direct to the U. S. Forest Service, Glenn Building, Atlanta 3, Georgia. Any suggestions made by our readers and used by "Smoky" will be credited to the person submitting the idea.

Our Chapel

More and more people, in recent years, have availed themselves of the use of our chapel, rather than have a funeral conducted in their own homes. Here is an atmosphere of quiet and restfulness, where friends may call and where services can be conducted with dignity and without confusion. There is no charge for the use of the chapel. It is part of our service.
