Prenuptial Events Feature The Week's Social Calendar

Prenuptial courtesies, complimenting Miss Effie Senora Lewis, bride of Thursday, featured social events of the week here. Mrs. Mahroy E. Pollard entertained at a lovely dessert-bridge party, Saturday afternoon, at 5:00 o'clock, in compliment to Miss Effie Lewis. The Pollard home on Horne avenue was beautifully decorated throughout with pink and white dahlias, pompon chrysanthemums, roses and Chinese asters. Tallies were suggestive of the autumn season. The four tables were spread with refreshment covers and centered with miniature arrangements of mixed flowers. The place of the honor guest was marked by a corsage. Prior to the games, vanilla ice cream, topped with strawberries and whipped cream, was served with decorated cakes and salted nuts, and during the last progression, an iced fruit drink was enjoyed. Mrs. Archie Speight scored high and received handpainted ash trays. Mrs. Edgar Barrett retained the consolation, notettes. The honoree was presented china in her chosen pattern. Mrs. W. R. Burnett, who is leaving soon to reside in Rocky Mount, was remembered by the hostess with a blue hobnail basket. In compliment to Miss Effie Senora Lewis, bride of yesterday, Mrs. Albert V. and Miss Etta Lewis entertained at an attractive kitchen shower at the home of the former, Monday evening. Lovely mixed fall flowers were used throughout the reception room. A corsage of carnations, with cutlery attached, was presented the honoree as she arrived. The game of hearts and bridal contests were enjoyed and prizes awarded the winners. Miss Lewis was given silver in her pattern by the hostesses. Refreshments, consisting of strawberry shortcake and coffee, were served. The shower of kitchen gadgets and accessories was brought in by little Van Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert V. Lewis, in his little red wagon. Mrs. Burnette Honored Artistic arrangements of sinmas, dahlias, nasturtiums and roses decorated the home of Mrs. T. R. Mizelle, Thursday evening, when she and Mrs. Will Jones, Jr., were charming hostesses for a lovely surprise handkerchief shower and dessert-bridge in compliment to Mrs. W. R. Burnett, who leaves soon to make her home in Rocky Mount. Upon the honoree's arrival, she was given a corsage of red roses. Guests were seated at tables covered with pastel colored cloths and centered with miniature arrangements of flowers. Individual cakes, brick ice cream and salted nuts were served before the games and iced coca opals and nuts were passed during play. Napkins were awarded to Mrs. Leonard Joyner, who held high score, hi-jacs to Mrs. W. Jesse Moye for low score and Mrs. Albert Lewis retained the floating prize, stationery. The honored guest was given a lovely quilted handkerchief box, followed by a novel heart arrangement containing the shower of handkerchiefs, which was decorated with feverfew, fern and white streamers with gift cards attached. Junior Woman's Club The Baruch Plan for the control of atomic energy was reviewed by Mrs. George Farr at the Junior Woman's Club held in Mrs. R. C. Copenhaver's home with Miss Bertha Lang as joint hostess, Tuesday evening. The main idea in this plan is for all nations to reach an intelligent understanding of what constructive uses can be made of this newly-found power. Since Russia insists upon keeping her veto power, this plan or a similar one is not workable in the Security Council. No veto power is allowed in the Baruch plan. Mrs. J. T. Nolan, presiding, opened with the Club Pledge and appointed Mrs. Bill Rollins as chairman of the calling committee. Mrs. R. T. Williams reported on the Girl Scouts and stated that they will present a play at the October meeting of the P. T. A. Mrs. George Farr announced that Mrs. Z. B. T. Cox will assist her with the Brownies and that the newly organized troop is progressing rapidly. The group was reminded of the district meeting in Plymouth, October 11th. Announcement was made that the executive and way and means committees will hold a joint meeting at Mrs. C. S. Hotchkiss' home, Tuesday, October 8, at 8:30 o'clock, to plan the budget for the ensuing year. Individual mince-meat pies, ice cream, cheese straws and salted nuts were enjoyed during the social hour by the members and a special guest, Miss Virginia Usella. A cordial welcome was extended Mrs. Joseph D. Joyner and Mrs. Melton Allen, new members. Roses, sinmas, ageratum and marigolds were used in pleasing arrangements throughout the home. Literary Club An interesting meeting of the Literary Club was held Wednesday, at the home of Mrs. G. M. Holden with Miss Tabitha DeVisconti acting as hostess in the absence of Miss Mamie B. Davis. Effective arrangements of cosmos, roses, ageratum, and golden glow were suggestive of the autumn season. During the business session, presided over by Miss Elizabeth Davis, the club agreed to again sponsor the Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale this year with Miss DeVisconti as community chairman, which follows a custom of many years.

Mrs. J. H. Darden, program leader for the afternoon, read a splendid paper on "The Background For the Atomic Era," in which she gave a graphic account of the far-reaching effect of atomic power and stressed the need for brotherly love in international relationships, and pointed out the possibility of the destruction of civilization. Mrs. Darden closed with remarks regarding an article in a current issue of Readers Digest, which stressed the fact that protection against the atom bomb is apparently impossible. Current Events, featuring labor unions, price control, squatters of Europe and MacArthur's plan in Japan, were interesting and enlightening as discussed by Mrs. J. I. Morgan, Sr. After adjournment, delicious individual pecan pies, cheese straws, coffee and stuffed dates were served. Book and Bridge Club Mrs. Frank K. Allen delightfully entertained members of the Book and Bridge Club at her home, Friday which was made attractive by the use of beautiful sinmas, lavender daisies and Jersey beauty dahlias. Refreshments were served before play from the dining room table, which bore a lovely centerpiece of white candles and pink pompon dahlias. White lace mats were used at the individual places. Assorted sandwiches, potato chips, pickles, individual chocolate pies and coffee were served by the hostess. During the games coca colas were enjoyed. Mrs. Irvin Morgan, Jr., scored high for the afternoon. Mrs. John M. Newborn and Mrs. T. Eli Joyner, Jr., were welcomed as new members. Contract Club Members of the Contract Club and additional friends enjoyed an afternoon of bridge, Tuesday, when Mrs. E. M. Whitehurst charmingly entertained at her home, in which the autumnal colors of green, gold, red and brown were effectively carried in floral decorations and table appointments. Following the second progression, the hostess invited her guests into the dining room for tea. The table was spread with a lace cloth and centered with a mixed arrangement of autumn flowers, flanked by tapers in crystal candelabra. Mrs. C. Hubert Joyner, president of the club, poured tea, and guests served themselves to an assortment of party sandwiches, ham biscuits, pickles and ginger wafers. High score for club members was compiled by Mrs. W. Leslie Smith, who was awarded a hand-box of labels, tape and tags; the guest prize, a book of late bridge rules by Culbertson, went to Mrs. Emerson Smith; Mrs. M. V. Horton received bridge tallies, as consolation. Mrs. T. Eli Joyner, Jr., a recent bride, was remembered with a china demitasse by the hostess. Special guests were; Mrs. Ben Vernon, Mrs. A. W. Bobbitt, Mrs. G. L. Gilchrist, Mrs. Paul Kimbrough, Mrs. Robert T. Monk, Mrs. T. Eli Joyner, Jr., Mrs. L. E. Walston and Mrs. Emerson Smith.

ANNOUNCEMENT Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Eli Joyner, Sr., announce the engagement of their daughter, Verona Lee, to Fred Timms Langford, son of Mr. Clarke Langford, and the late Mr. Langford, of Columbia, S. C. The wedding will take place in the Farmville Methodist Church on Saturday, November 16.

MRS. JOHN WILLIAM PRICE, JR.

A wedding characterized by impressive dignity and simplicity was solemnized at the Methodist Church, Thursday afternoon, October 3, at 5:30 o'clock, when Miss Effie Senora Lewis, of Farmville and Jackson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Taylor Lewis, Sr., became the bride of John William Price, Jr., of Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John William Price, Sr., of Garysburg, in a formal ceremony. The pastor, the Rev. E. R. Clegg, officiated in the double ring rites. Oregon fern, in wheel designs, formed an effective background of greenery for the pedestal baskets of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and fern, and for the cathedral canopies in seven-branched floor candelabra. Family pews were marked by white tulle and gladioli spray arrangements. Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Haywood Smith, organist, and Elbert C. Holmes, baritone, rendered a program of nuptial music. Organ selections included "Andantino in D-flat" by Lemare, "Always" by Beethoven, "Traumerel" by Schumann, "Love Dreams" by Liszt, and "Romance" by Rubinstein. The traditional wedding marches were used and during the ceremony, MacDowell's "To A Wild Rose" was softly played. Following the blessing of the Church, Mr. Holmes sang Lutkin's Benediction. Mrs. Smith wore a black lace dress and a corsage of red roses. The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Samuel Taylor Lewis, wore a wedding gown of white Duchesse satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice and a sweetheart neckline trimmed with twisted loops of Iredell beads. The sleeves were long and the same bead design was used to finish the points over the hands. The skirt was full and had a court train. Her veil of illusion, in tier mode, fell from a halo of self-material, hand-made satin roses and beads, and extended the full length of the train. She carried a prayer book covered by a white orchid and showered with white satin ribbons and stephanotis. Miss Dorothy Hope Lewis was her sister's maid of honor. Her dress, of rose crepe, was floor length and fashioned with a bodice and full skirt. She wore long gloves of the same material as the gown and her head-dress of net and flowerets was in halo effect. She carried a colonial bouquet of asters in pastel colors tied with blue ribbons. Mrs. Herman B. Baker, another sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her gown of blue crepe was identical in mode to that of the maid of honor. Her bouquet was similar also but was tied with rose ribbons. George North Taylor, of Gumberry, was best man, and ushers were Herman B. Baker and Archie L. Speight, brothers-in-law of the bride, Carl C. Price, of Garysburg, brother of the bridegroom, and Wilton Wilkerson, of Raleigh. The mother of the bridegroom wore a black crepe dress and an orchid at her shoulder.

Reception Immediately after the ceremony, a reception was held, at the home of the bride, with her sisters, Mrs. Melvin Gay, Mrs. Archie L. Speight, Mrs. Earl Bagley and Mrs. Earl E. Modlin, of Portsmouth, Va., as hostesses. The Lewis home, near Farmville, was thrown en suite and beautifully decorated with handsome pink and white dahlias, the mantels being banked with greenery and illumined by white candles in crystal holders. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Joyner met guests as they arrived on the porch, and Mrs. Archie L. Speight and Mrs. John William Price, Sr., greeted them at the entrance of the home. Miss Verona Lee Joyner introduced the receiving line composed of the bride and bridegroom and the bride's attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Taylor Lewis received in the hall. Mrs. Earl Bagley and Mrs. Melvin Gay directed the way to the register, which was presided over by Mrs. Earl E. Modlin and Miss Bettie Joyner. Mrs. Mary Lewis Lang received in the dining room. Here, the traditional nuptial colors of white and green prevailed in the effective arrangements of mixed white flowers and the room was illumined by tall white tapers on the table, mantel and buffet. The table was spread with a handsome crocheted lace cover and centered with white gladioli, carnations and pompon chrysanthemums in a silver bowl, flanked by candles in silver holders. Mrs. T. E. Joyner, Sr., served lime ice frappe from a crystal punch bowl and Mrs. T. T. Stephenson, of Garysburg, served bridal cakes from the table. Serving mints and nuts were; Mrs. Etta Lewis, Mrs. Joseph D. Joyner, Mrs.

Robert T. Monk, Miss Bertha Lang, Mrs. B. B. Sheaff and Miss Dorothy Draper, of Jackson, and Miss Marie Darden, of Washington, D. C. Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Joyner, Mrs. T. W. Lang and Mrs. S. G. Gardner received in the gift room, where the decorations emphasized the nuptial colors. Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Lewis.

Following the reception, the couple left for a bridal tour of Florida. The bride traveled in a full suit of black Forceman charmeine gabardine with a black felt off-face model hat, with plume trim, white kid gloves, black accessories, and the orchid from her bridal bouquet at her shoulder. After October 14, they will be at home in Jackson. Mrs. Price, a young woman of fine intellect and attractive personality, is a member of prominent pioneer families of this section of North Carolina. She was graduated from the Farmville high school, as salutatorian of her class, and from East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville, where she held a council position in the Woman's Student Association. She was a faculty member of the Fountain and Snow Hill schools, teaching Home Ec, until a year and a half ago when she accepted her present position as Home Demonstration Agent of Northampton county. Mr. Price went into military service immediately following his graduation from the Seaboard high school, and served 37 months overseas with the Medical Corps of the Ninth Division. Since his release in September, 1945, he has been connected with the Leroy Vaughan store in Jackson.

Rehearsal Party Following the rehearsal Wednesday evening, Mrs. Herman B. Baker and Miss Dorothy Lewis entertained at a cake cutting at the home of an aunt, Mrs. S. G. Gardner. Floral decorations of gladioli, roses and chrysanthemums effectively carried the color note of green and white. The bride's table was spread with a lace cloth and centered with the tiered wedding cake to which white ribbon streamers were attached. A miniature bride and bridegroom topped the cake. The room was illumined by candlelight. Mrs. Earl E. Modlin assisted the bride in cutting the cake. Mrs. S. G. Gardner served the bridal ices and Miss Bettie Joyner, Miss Marie Darden, of Washington, D. C., and Miss Dorothy Draper, of Jackson, passed the mints and nuts. Prenuptial Courtesies The bride-elect has been honored at a number of lovely parties since announcement of her engagement. Prenuptial courtesies of the past week include: Mr. and Mrs. Herman B. Baker entertained the bridal party and out-of-town guests, Wednesday evening at a buffet supper. The table was spread with an embroidered cloth, and centered with a mixed floral arrangement flanked by tall white candles in crystal holders. Luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Taylor Lewis were hosts at a luncheon for the bridal party and out-of-town guests, numbering twenty-four, Thursday. Red roses and white gladioli were used as decorations throughout the home. The bride's table was covered with an embroidered and lace trimmed cloth and centered with an arrangement of white carnations, pompon chrysanthemums and a wedding scene which was illumined by white tapers in silver holders. The place of the bride was marked by a corsage, and she was later presented a gift of crystal in-her chosen pattern by the hosts. Bay "Savings Bonds" Have! Hold!
