The regular meeting of the Farmville Parent-Teacher Association will be held, Wednesday, December 18, at 7:30 o'clock. A most interesting program is made for the evening and all parents are invited to attend.

Clubs Meet in Settings Of Seasonal Decorations

Social events of the week have taken the form of lovely Christmas parties with the favored combination of the traditional colors of red and green noted in the Yuletide decorations of plants, forest greens, wreaths and candles used effectively in their homes by the hostesses, whose refreshment plates were also seasonal as to color and content.

U. D. C.

Miss Annie Perkins, president of the Rebecca Whitehouse Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, was hostess to this group, Friday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. G. M. Holden, which had been made attractive at this time by the use of greenery and red candles.

The chapter voted to send a contribution to the Ladies' Home in Fayetteville during the business period.

Mrs. J. H. Darden, program leader, discussed "The Navy of the South" emphasizing the fact that the South had the first submarine to be used in warfare.

Following adjournment, refreshments consisting of congealed fruit salad in Christmas tree molds, ham biscuits, cheese straws, rita crackers and Russian tea were served from the dining room table, which was spread with a white luncheon cloth and centered with a bowl of Christmas tree ornaments flanked by tall red tapers in crystal holders.

Merry Matrons

Mrs. J. I. Morgan was a gracious hostess to the Merry Matrons on Tuesday at her home, which was beautifully decorated with holly, red candles and a Christmas scene.

Mrs. Alton W. Bubbitt presided over the business session and presented the program leader, Mrs. L. E. Walston, who read "The Other Wise Man" by Van Dyke.

The annual election of officers resulted in the election of Mrs. G. M. Holden as president and Mrs. J. M. Hobgood as vice president, and the re-election of Mrs. L. E. Walston as secretary and Mrs. A. G. Monk, Sr., treasurer.

The hostess served a delicious chicken salad in tomato aspic rings, poimsettia and olive sandwiches, cinnamon rind pickle, cheese biscuit, salted almonds and coffee.

Special guests were Mrs. F. M. Davis, Sr., Mrs. E. R. Clegg, Miss Annie Perkins, Mrs. Irvin Morgan, Jr., Mrs. Howard Harris, Mrs. John C. Parker, Miss Edna Robinson and Mrs. Mary Weatherly, of Rich Square, houseguest of Mrs. J. W. Parker.

Miss Turnage Honored

Honoring Miss Betty Lou Turnage, of Washington, D. C., bride-elect of this month, Mrs. C. R. Townsend, Miss Mary Ann Townsend and Mrs. Arthur F. Joyner were hostesses at a lovely, dessert-bridge party at the home of the latter, Tuesday evening.

As guests arrived refreshments consisting of fruit cake and heavenly hash, followed by coffee and cheese straws were served.

Each table was centered with a miniature Christmas tree with candles around the base. Other decorations were berries and greenery which were used throughout the home.

High and low score prizes were given. The hostesses remembered Miss Turnage with silver in her pattern.

As Falt Club

Mrs. Emerson Smith charmingly entertained the Au Falt Club and guests, Mrs. F. T. Carr and Mrs. Ell Joyner, Jr., Thursday afternoon. Lovely red carnations and berries emphasized the approaching Yuletide season.

Barbian cream, angel food cake and salted nuts were served during a delightful social hour. Mrs. Howard Harris, recent bride, was remembered with a piece of china in her pattern by the hostess. She also won the club high score prize of coasters.

Mrs. F. T. Carr received the high for guests, bric bra; Mrs. Charles Edwards the low, cocktail napkins and the floating prize, perfume, was retained by Mrs. David Harris, who recently joined the club.

Lamrad Club

Mrs. Richard Harris was hostess for the December meeting of the Lamrad Club on Friday afternoon at her home.

Red berries and ivy decorated the living-room and sprays of holly were used on the refreshment table. A miniature Santa and sleigh holding candy bars in gaily wrapped packages formed the centerpiece.

Following the first progression congealed cranberry salads in Christmas tree molds were served with ham biscuits, cheese straws, open-faced sandwiches, pickles and coffee.

The next meeting will be held January 5, when Mrs. A. C. Meek, Jr., will entertain.

New Deal

Members of the New Deal Club enjoyed an afternoon of contact at the home of Mrs. L. E. Walston, Wednesday. Artistic arrangements of appetizing berries and ivy and holly and white nut decorations were the subject of the afternoon.

LANG'S CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Community Club House at Ballantyne was the scene of the Christmas party of the Lang's 4-H Club, Thursday evening. Holly, mistletoe, pine, blue cones and wreaths made a beautiful setting for the party.

As guests gathered Christmas carols were sung and refreshments of punch, chicken salad and platters of sandwiches, pickles, salted peanuts and pecans were served.

The program was presided over by Miss Hazel Garris, president. David Hobgood read the scriptures, followed by the singing of Silent Night. Jarvis Trigg, Jr., read a poem; Jean Moore and Jimmy Allen rendered a duet. Miss Garris told a story and interpretations of some of the Christmas carols were given by Misses Mary Frances Hobgood, Frances Jones and Sue Worthington, and Mac Mills. Miss Cornelia Mills related the Christmas story.

Miss Lillian Hines, assistant home agent, assisted by Miss Garris, directed some new games.

Following the serving of apples, oranges, tangerines, candy and popcorn, dancing was enjoyed.

A number of 4-H members from other clubs were special guests at the party.

ARRIVES IN JAPAN

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Eason, Sr., have received word that their son, Pvt. Morris Lee Eason has arrived in Japan. His address is Pvt. Morris Lee Eason, 6418000, Seitama Military Government Team, A. F. O. 201, care of Postmaster, San Francisco, California.

 "Where Do We Go From Here"
 was the topic used by Rev. J. V. West, pastor of the Fountain Baptist Church, in his talk to the Legionnaires, Friday evening. He stated that power is both a good and a bad thing. As an example of the wrong use he cited the case of John L. Lewis and his attitude. He especially urged that caution be taken in using power.

A lengthy discussion on the basketball team, sponsored by the Legion, was held. Dr. W. M. Willis was appointed temporary manager and chairman of the athletic committee to take the place of Lester Turnage, who resigned due to other duties.

Miss Rosemary Holmes, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. E. W. Holmes, sang three selections.

Order Of The Eastern Star

Mrs. LeRoy Rollins presided at the meeting of the Eastern Star Friday night in the absence of Mrs. C. H. Flanagan, worthy matron. Two distinguished guests, Mrs. C. G. Fitzgerald, of Raleigh, past worthy grand matron and Mrs. H. E. Moore, of Greensboro, associate grand matron of the grand chapter of North Carolina, were present and made short talks.

Mrs. J. W. Parker, who recently attended a grand chapter meeting in Florida, reported on the interesting and exhibited a box of souvenirs she collected on her trip.

The chapter voted to contribute to the Southern Home for the Blind.
