Activities Of Local Church Organizations

Baptist

Miss Rosemary Holmes was hostess to the Y. W. A., Monday evening, at her home. Miss Irene Bell had charge of the program, "The Sufficient Answer."

Mrs. Herbert Moore gave the devotional.

In the social hour, hot tea was served with salted nuts and cookies.

Episcopal

Miss Helen Smith presided and conducted the devotional at the Episcopal Auxiliary, which met in the home of Mrs. J. C. Gibbs, Monday afternoon. Mrs. John D. Dixon, box work chairman, showed a note from a small boy at Thompson orphanage thanking the members for the Christmas gift of skates. Mrs. G. A. Rouse read a letter from "CARE" expressing appreciation for the money sent to be used for relief packages to Norway and gave a report of the year's work. The members agreed to pack a box of clothing for needy Negro families of Sladesville.

Mrs. R. C. Copenhaver completed the study of the book, "India on the Threshold;" her talk was divided into three topics: 1. ministry of health and healing, 2. united thought and action through the Christian councils, 3. the significance of the people of India.

A prayer concluded the meeting.

Methodist

The Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Wesley community met Sunday at the Wesley Sunday School, which will be its regular meeting place in the future.

A splendid play was given under the direction of Miss Lorene Andrews, program chairman. The character parts were played by Misses Sally and Addie Tyson, Mrs. Mark Moxingo and Jimmy Jones.

In the business session, the group decided to assume payment of the light bill for the Sunday School. An installation service with Rev. Key W. Taylor in charge was announced and will be held in February. All parents are invited to attend this service.

After adjournment, games were played.

Circle 5 of the Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service held its first official meeting of the year, Monday afternoon.

Mrs. J. Irvin Morgan, Jr., newly appointed chairman, opened the program with a hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers," sung in unison, and read verses from the fifth chapter of Matthew. "But The Work Goes On," written by Louise Robinson for the magazine, The Methodist Woman, was reviewed by Mrs. Morgan, who brought out the great opportunity for missionary service today and the urgent need for rehabilitation funds for such projects as rebuilding of mission schools, churches, etc., which were destroyed by the war, and to aid this cause Methodist women are asked to increase contributions by a penny a day.

The circle has chosen for its study this year, "Famous Women of the Bible," the first topic to be presented at the February meeting.

The nineteen members present made pledges and took a collection for the spring wardrobe of their adopted orphan.

In a social period prior to the meeting, the hostess, Mrs. Richard Harris, served chocolate cake and an iced fruit drink.

Circle 5, which was organized recently at the home of the chairman, has a present membership of twenty-five. Other officers include the vice-chairman, Mrs. T. Eli Joyner, Jr., who will also serve as program chairman, and the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Robert T. Monk. Mrs. E. West N. Petteway is chairman of the calling committee. Meetings are scheduled for the Monday after third Sunday.

Presbyterian

"God Is Everywhere" was used by Ann Pollard as her devotional at the Presbyterian Juniors, Thursday afternoon. She read Genesis 28:10-16, told a story about this reference and closed the worship period with a poem, "Working Together."

Mrs. J. M. Stanall conducted a Bible quiz and members related their good deeds, after which a chain of prayer closed the meeting.

Ann, who was hostess, served cookies, nuts and ice cream.

Brownies

The Brownies met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Farr and with Martha Holmes presiding. A nominating committee, composed of the president, Theodora Albritton and Anne Morgan (present officers), was appointed to bring in a slate of new officers for the election in February.

Mary Lou Moore and May Turnage Eason were hostesses for the afternoon and served fruit juice, cookies and candy. A singing contest was enjoyed afterwards.

LIVING MEMORIALS TO BE PLANTED DOGWOOD WEEK

To memorialize the boys who attended Farmville High School and who gave their lives for their country in the late war, the Farmville Garden Club will set Dogwood trees, Friday, January 31. The second annual "Dogwood Week" in Carolina begins Sunday and extends through Saturday, February 1.

The following is a partial list of the boys who will be memorialized: John R. Baldree, Hemby Burnette, "Dick" Hobgood, Don Lovelace, Paul Parker, Thomas Herman Rouse, Jr., and John Aaron Tyson. If readers know of others, they are asked to contact the Enterprise office.

By planting Dogwoods in our yards, home grounds, school yards, church grounds, cemeteries, parks, playgrounds, clubhouse lawns, country lanes and near highways, we will be adding beauty and further spreading out State Flower.

Trees may be purchased from farmers (and by that we mean not "raiding the other fellow's woodland") or from nurseries.

The dormant stage of the Dogwood is in the winter. These trees are acid soil plants and have fibrous roots which grow near the surface and dry out quickly. Watering and mulching are necessary the first year. "Older trees, if they are not blooming freely, may need a liberal sprinkling of cotton seed meal under the tree along in February.

"God's gift to Southern forests" is the title Clarence Poe, Progressive Farmer editor, has given Dogwoods. This native of our state adds so much charm and beauty wherever it is found.

Every citizen can do his part in making Carolina the Dogwood state. Let's plant Dogwoods, January 26 through February 1!

Tax reduction is a pleasant prospect for taxpayers but it means more to Congressmen.

The best asset that Farmville has is its people and the best asset the people have is their children.
