EASTERN STAR MEETS

The Eastern Star meeting Friday evening was presided over by Mrs. C. H. Flanagan and opened with the singing of the chapter song.

A report from the treasurer showed that all financial obligations were paid. Communications from the worthy matron, Mrs. Reta Henley, of Roseboro, and from the deputy grand matron, Mrs. Florence Lewis, of Greenville, were read. Two applications for affiliation were received.

Plans were made for the sending of gifts to Mrs. Mary C. Westberry, of Rich Square, grand secretary for 30 years and to Mrs. Emma Siler, of Tennessee, first worthy grand matron of the N. C. Chapter, both of whom will celebrate their eighty-fifth birthdays this month. Reports were also given on the calls, trays and cards sent to the sick.

NOTE OF THANKS

I wish to express my deep appreciation for the cards, flowers, gifts and acts of kindness extended to me during my recent illness.

Miss Emily Gayle

Valentine Season Observed This Week By Hostesses

The striking red and white color combination and the heart motif, expressing the tender sentiment associated with the Valentine season, have been effectively carried in floral decorations and refreshments by club and party hostesses, this week, in observance of the St. Valentine season.

U. D. C.
Mrs. C. H. Moxingo graciously entertained the Rebecca Winborne Chapter of the U. D. C., Friday afternoon in her home which was lovely with arrangements of hawthorn and daffodils.

Miss Annie Perkins presided over the business session. The program, a review of the life of Sidney Lanier, was given by a kinwoman of his, Mrs. G. S. Vought, of Raleigh, formerly of Farmville. Several months ago Mrs. Vought attended the unveiling of a bronze bust of this noted Southern poet in the New York University Hall of Fame.

Stuffed angel cake, nuts and coffee were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. J. C. Brock, Jr., Mrs. C. A. Moxingo, Mrs. Melton Allen and Mrs. Marvin Speight.

Special guests were Mrs. B. R. Fields and Miss Bettie Joyner.

Merry Matrons
Mrs. R. LeRoy Rollins was a gracious hostess to the Merry Matrons, Tuesday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. G. M. Holden, presiding. Mrs. Rollins, as program chairman, presented Mrs. W. M. Willis who introduced her son, Jackie, as guest speaker. Jackie talked on Thomas A. Edison, whose one hundredth birthday fell on this date. He also read Henry Longfellow's poem, "I Shot an Arrow into the Air," and Sidney Lanier's poem, "Into the Woods My Master Went." Both of these poets' birthdays are in this month also.

In a contest which followed the program, Mrs. John T. Thorne, as winner, received a box of heart-shaped candy.

Heavenly hash and angel cake were served after which the hostess invited the guests into the dining room where she poured coffee and where dates, nuts, mints and cheese straws were served. Mrs. Bennett R. Fields assisted in serving.

Carnations and narcissus were used in the lovely decorations and the Valentine motif was carried out.

Mrs. Willis, Jackie Willis, Mrs. Fields and Mrs. R. E. Woolfer, of Buchanan, West Va., guest of her daughter, Mrs. L. E. Walston, were special guests. Mrs. Willis was remembered with a gift by the hostess.

Informal Luncheon

Mrs. R. G. Ruffin and Mrs. Harry Harper were hostesses at an informal bridge-luncheon, Thursday morning at the home of the former. The home was attractive with arrangements of Jay nese quince and narcissus. A spaghetti course followed by a salad was served.

In the games, Mrs. J. T. Windham scored high and Mrs. Ruffin, low. Mrs. W. Leslie Smith was a special guest.

Bridge-Luncheon

A delightful bridge-luncheon was given by Mrs. Roderick Harris and Mrs. C. S. Edwards at the home of the former, Tuesday.

A course luncheon, consisting of tomatoes stuffed with chicken salad, deviled eggs topped with carrot and olive, flowers, green peas in timbale shells, rolls, coffee, peaches topped with cream and Valentine cup cakes, were served.

Potted plants, jonquils and acaless were used to decorate the Harris home.

Mrs. J. T. Windham scored high and Mrs. Neal Howard, low in the bridge games, which followed.

Mrs. Moore Entertains

One of the loveliest social events of the week was the bridge club party, of Saturday evening, at which Mrs. J. H. Moore was the charming hostess. The Valentine colors and motif were carried in detail in floral decorations, appointments for the six tables in play and in the dessert course, of ices in the heart and cupid molds and angel cake, which was served as the guests arrived and was followed by coffee, cheese biscuits and salted nuts. Valentine nosegays made a colorful center for the tables and were given as favors.

Mrs. Henrietta Williamson, scoring high for club members and Mrs. M. V. Jones, for guests, received hand blown Beacon vases. Mrs. Williamson also retained the slam prize, canape trays and Mrs. Arthur F. Joyner was given a hobnail sugar and cream set for consolation.

Mrs. G. S. Vought of Raleigh, house guest of Mrs. G. M. Holden, Mrs. R. A. Fountain, Sr., Mrs. J. M. Horton and Mrs. W. R. Harris of Farmville, were among the special guests sharing with club members in the hospitality of Mrs. Moore.

Au Falt Club

The Au Falt Club was delightfully entertained, Thursday afternoon, by Mrs. Howard Harris, who used carnations and hawthorn as a floral setting for the tables. The Valentine season was charmingly emphasized in table appointments.

Miss Mary Thorne Tyson, a special guest, compiled high score and was awarded a bridge pencil, and Mrs. Roderick Harris received cocktail napkins as consolation.

A dessert course, consisting of cherry tart topped with whipped cream, was followed by coffee, cheese biscuits and salted nuts.

cookies and coffee were served. A fruit drink and nuts were passed during play.

Mrs. Allen M. Harris, scoring high, received a nylon and the highest prize, heart-shaped heart-shaped earrings, was given to Mrs. Carol Modlin.
