ON THE RIGHT TRACK

As a result of the union pre-East-er services conducted last week in Protestant churches, Farmville ought to be a better place in which to live and a continuation of the cooperative spirit displayed in those services will open still broader avenues of progress and service.

The charm of a small town lies in the neighborly spirit which comes from close contact with others. A direct outgrowth of this close association is the desire to be of service; going hand-in-hand with such a desire is knowing just when and where the opportunity to be of assistance exists. Strict observance of denominational bounds in community life limits the power and scope of the individual and church. The result is a distorted, dwarfed development, instead of progress vibrant with personality and foresightedness.

Pastors were well pleased with the fine manner in which Farmville people turned out for the Holy Week services. One of them remarked that he thoroughly enjoyed the evening he preached; the same might well be said by the congregation at each of the four services.

ARMY RESERVE PERSONNEL ARE ELIGIBLE FOR OFFICERS

Army Officer Candidate School has been opened to enlisted personnel of the organized reserve corps, it has been announced by Col. Norman McNeill, senior instructor of ORC in North Carolina.

Each selected candidate, according to Col. McNeill, will attend an army officer candidate school of six months duration at Fort Riley, Kansas. Upon graduation from this school, Col. McNeill said, each individual will be commissioned a second lieutenant, Army of the United States, and assigned to a basic arm or service for which the individual will be selected upon graduation.

Members of the Enlisted Reserve Corps will not be required to serve on active duty with the regular army upon completion of the school, but may apply if they wish.

A prerequisite for attendance will be an agreement to serve actively in a commissioned capacity with the Organized Reserve Corps for three years.

Forms for making application may be secured by writing the Senior Instructor, North Carolina Military District, Raleigh.

MR. FARMER:
Did you know that cucumbers are selling as high as $500 and MORE per acre in Pitt County? If farmers in other sections of the county can grow them, there is no reason why we around Farmville cannot. This is the farmers' opportunity to supply a factory producing food in their own county.

Vita Food Products, Inc., of Chestertown, Md., with subsidiary in Ayden, is on the market strong this season, and is being represented by Jennis Harper, with grading plant at North Farmville. I will be glad to supply any farmer with seeds and contracts who wish to plant now. Seeds should be planted within the next 8 days, JENNIS HARP-ER, 505 Main St., Farmville, N. C.

Ernest C. McCracken, State Director, N. C. Employment Service Division, as chairman, will conduct an open forum in the afternoon on "The Merit System for State Employees" and "The Retirement System for State Employees." This will be followed by a business session in which officers will be elected and installed for the next year.

LINDA FAY STROUD

Linda Fay Stroud, age 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Stroud, Jr., of Trenton, Route 1, died in a Kinston hospital Thursday morning following several days of serious illness. Funeral services will be conducted from the Farmville Funeral Home, Friday afternoon at 2:30 by Rev. Albert E. Lamm, Baptist minister of Pollocksville. Burial will follow in Hollywood cemetery, here.

Surviving besides the parents are one sister, Jean Carol, and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Beaman, of Trenton, formerly of near Farmville.

Social Security Office Has Job Openings

Applications are now being received by the Field Board of the United States Civil Service Examiners for the positions of Field Assistant and Claims Assistant. Applications must be filed on or before April 17.

This examination is being held for appointments under the Civil Service regulations to positions in field offices of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance in the States of Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, West Virginia, and the District of Columbia. These will be key entrance jobs in the social insurance program, involving direct contact with wage earners, their survivors, employers and the general public. Beginning salary for these positions will be $2884 and $2844 per year.

Briefly, the requirements for both positions are: at least two years experience in government, business, education, industry, or the armed forces. Such experience must include considerable public contact work. Certain provision has been made for the substitution of education for the above experience. The exact data for the written test will be announced later.

Application forms may be secured from any first- or second-class post office, or by writing to the executive secretary, Board of United States Civil Service Examiners, Social Security Administration, Region IV, 1623 L Street, N. W., Washington 25, D. C.
