WAR DEPARTMENT WANTS ADDRESSES OF ALL SURVIVORS OF MEN KILLED IN WAR

The War Department asked all survivors of men and women who died while serving in the Army to make certain that two Army agencies have their present addresses, it was learned from Colonel John H. Neu, Commanding Officer of the Charlotte Quartermaster Depot.

Many instances have been found where addresses of next of kin in the files of the Casualty Section, Adjutant General's Office, and Memorial Division, Office of the Quartermaster General, are incorrect. Letters sent to these next of kin by the two offices have been returned, marked "Moved; Left No Forwarding Address."

Next of kin who have moved since last notifying these offices of their addresses were asked to mail a postcard or letter to each office, stating in effect:

"I am next of kin to (name) (grade) (serial number). My former address was (street, city, state). My present address is (street, city, state)."

The communications should be mailed to: Actions Branch, Casualty Section, The Pentagon, Washington 25, D. C., and to Memorial Division, Office of the Quartermaster General, Washington 25, D. C."

European Need For Food Is Critical

Millions of Europeans have absolutely no hope of escaping starvation in the coming months unless they receive immediate help from the United States, according to Paul Comly French, Executive Director of Cooperative for American Remittance to Europe, Inc. (CARE).

In a special food survey released at a press conference Thursday, Mr. French declared that conditions in many countries, instead of improving with spring crops, have worsened.

"After suffering the severest winter in over a hundred years, homeless, hungry Europe suffered its most disastrous spring," Mr. French stressed. "Floods and frost destroyed basic crops and grain reserves in country after country. Even present starvation rations cannot be maintained."

In his nation-by-nation analysis of the food situation in Europe, Mr. French said the situation in Romania was perhaps the worst. There, he reported, people are eating grass and bark and perishing from hunger. It is predicted there will be continued famine in that country next year, he said.

Mr. French told reporters that CARE is equipped to handle a total of 50,000 packages a day. The organization now is sending about 12,000 a day.

The need for food is so great in Europe that the Government should do a major part of the relief job, Mr. French declared. He added, however, Governments move through slow, tangled channels and, while they debate, people starve. Therefore, individual voluntary relief
