CLUB PARTY

Mrs. T. Eli Joyner, Jr., was a charming hostess on Friday to members of the Book and Bridge Club and additional friends with her sister, Mrs. Douglas H. Wilkinson, of Charleston, S. C., as honor guest.

Garden flowers in pastel shades were used in lovely arrangements on mantels and end tables, with gladioli, sweetpeas and larkspur predominating.

Prior to the games, party sandwiches, angel cake snowballs, potato puffs and crystallized lemon peel, effectively carrying the pastel shades, were served, together with iced punch and salted nuts. Coca colas were enjoyed between the progressions.

Mrs. R. T. Williams scored high for club members. Miss Elizabeth Davis was awarded a milk glass goblet as high scorer among the guests and also retained the slam prize, an ice crusher. The hostess presented Mrs. Wilkinson with a silver bonbon dish.

NEW DEAL CLUB

Mrs. Alton W. Bobbitt delightfully entertained the New Deal Club and additional friends, Wednesday afternoon, at her home in white roses, larkspur, daisies, Queen Anne's lace, ragged robins, verbena and zeverfew were used as a lovely setting for the five tables.

Following the second progression, the tables were spread with refreshment cloths and centered with miniature arrangements of mixed flowers for the serving of a delicious sweet course consisting of block ice cream in green and white, angel cake and salted nuts. Robert Pollard assisted the hostess in serving.

Mrs. W. M. Willis compiled high score for members and was awarded a crystal flower bowl. Mrs. W. A. Pollard, Jr., scored high for guests and received lovely handkerchiefs. The consolation prize, a handkerchief, went to Mrs. John D. Dixon.

Mrs. W. A. Pollard, Jr., a recent bride, was remembered by the hostess with a gift of sherbets in her crystal pattern.

Special guests were; Mrs. W. A. Pollard, Jr., Mrs. Z. M. Whitehurst, Mrs. Haywood Smith, Mrs. R. T. Williams, Mrs. John D. Dixon, Mrs. J. H. Moore, Mrs. Wesley R. Willis, Mrs. W. R. Burke, Mrs. J. W. Joyner and Mrs. M. E. Dixon.

WEDNESDAY CLUB

Mrs. R. V. Fiser charmingly entertained the members of her card club and additional guests, Mrs. Alton Darden, Mrs. Frank Allen and Mrs. Ashby Winstead, on Wednesday, at her home on Contentnea street, which was decorated with arrangements of roses, cape jessamine, larkspur and ragged robins.

Guests found their places, as they arrived, at the three tables spread with refreshment cloths, and were served block cream in green and white, individual chocolate cakes and salted nuts. During the last progression, the hostess served iced fruit juice.

Miss Elizabeth Davis and Mrs. Alton Darden scored high for members and guests and were awarded double decks of bridge cards, and Mrs. Ashby Winstead received score pads as consolation prize.

Dixon-Uzzle Vows Solemnized

Faraville Faculty Member And Former Resident Marry At Wilson's Mills

Miss Virginia Clyde Uzzle, daughter of Mrs. George Clifford Uzzle of Wilson's Mills and the late Mr. Uzzle, and Edward Smith Dixon of Wilson, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Dixon of Farmville, were married in a formal candlelight ceremony at the Christian Disciple Church in Wilson's Mills Saturday evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

Miss Grace Talton of Clayton played the wedding music, and soloists were Mrs. J. Knott Proctor of Greenville, sister of the bridegroom, and W. D. Vaughan of Wilson.

Dr. Howard S. Hillely, the bride's pastor, performed the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Robert F. Uzzle of Raleigh. Her gown was an original Montycaux model of marquisette and Chantilly lace with a full skirt of marquisette ending in a court train with inserts of lace. Her full length veil of French illusion was attached to a coronet of orange blossoms, and her bouquet was a shower of lilies of the valley, centered with a white orchid.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Miss Meta Barnes Uzzle as maid of honor, and Mrs. Charles Bissette as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Jane Harrison of Greenville and Miss Daisy Dixon, niece of the bridegroom, of Wilson. All attendants wore identical gowns of blue chiffon with matching net caps and lace mitts. Their bouquets of mixed summer flowers were tied with harmonizing ribbons. The flower girls were Dona Day Bissett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bissette of Greenville, and Sue Black Forbes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vance T. Forbes, of Wilson. They wore pink net dresses with pink net caps, and carried nosegays of summer flowers.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, John D. Dixon of Farmville, as best man. Ushers were Fred Eagles, Jimmy Barnes, Vance T. Forbes, W. D. Adams, Jr., all of Wilson and Donald Uzzle of Wilson's Mills and Columbia, S. C.

The bride's mother wore a beaded gown of rose and black. Her corsage was of orchids. Mrs. Cecil Dixon of Wilson wore a gown of white with orchid corsage.

After a wedding reception, given by the bride's mother at her home, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon left for a wedding trip to unannounced points. The bride wore for traveling a brown and beige linen dressmaker suit with harmonizing accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

Mrs. Dixon was educated at Peace Junior College and East Carolina Teachers College at Greenville. For the past year she taught in the Farmville city schools.

The bridegroom attended Wake Forest College. He is manager of the Ocean King Hotel at Atlantic Beach.

Attending from Farmville were: Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Dixon, Robert Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Dixon and son, Johnnie, Mrs. Louise Dixon Harris, and houseguest, Mrs. May Harris Moore, of Fayetteville, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dixon Harris. Other out of town guests were from Wilson, Greenville, Raleigh and Durham.

On Wednesday at noon, Mrs. Wiley G. Barnes entertained at a coffee hour at her home on Hawthorne Road in honor of the bride-elect, who is her niece.

Immediately after the rehearsal on Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bower, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Uzzle of Raleigh, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bissette of Greenville entertained at the Country Club in Smithfield.

Saturday morning at the Community Club in Wilson's Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Uzzle and Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Uzzle, Jr., entertained the wedding party at a wedding breakfast.
