Grover H. Webb, John N. Fountain and Jack Moye Pool Talents To Give Farmville Powerful Sales Organization

Grover H. Webb, an experienced and successful warehouseman who makes his home in Pinetops, has been an associate member of the Farmers Warehouse firm for several years. His reputation for integrity has grown with the years and he is widely acquainted in tobacco circles where he is recognized as one of the leading warehousemen of the Belt.

Bill Sheldon, of Buffalo Springs, Va., who made many friends on the market for the past three years, will do the auctioneering again this season.

Combining his business efficiency and years of experience as warehouseman again this season with that of the other partners, will be John N. Fountain. Mr. Fountain, well known for his genial manner and straight-forward dealings, is widely acquainted, which, with a sincere concern, has had a great influence on the expansion of this warehouse and the Farmville market.

Jack Moye, who has had years of experience and rendered exceptional service on the Greenville, Wilson and Farmville markets, is again a valuable member of this firm and will give a cordial hand to old friends at the Farmers again this year.

The customers of this warehouse and the Farmville market as a whole, recognize the initiative and ability of these men and the market had been enhanced by their association from the beginning. They are seasoned and able warehousemen with many friends and valuable contacts among the farmers of the Farmville territory. They form a firm of popular tobaccoists who work faithfully to satisfy their customers with good sales and for the advancement of the market as a whole.

The Farmers tobacco sales firm operates two modern warehouses; No. 1 is on Wilson street the other, which covers an acre and a quarter, is situated on South Main street near the Norfolk-Southern railroad. These were formerly known as Knott's warehouses.

Large and competent sales and office forces have been assembled by the management, who, well chosen in the beginning, have served long and faithfully at their respective posts and from the time a tobacco grower drives into a Farmers Warehouse until he receives his check, he will find a friendly courtesy accompanying every phase of the operation connected with the sale.

Members of the clerical force include: Earl Trevathan, bookkeeper; Mrs. Curtis Flanagan, pay-off bookkeeper; H. R. Acton, book man; Roy Vandiford, floor manager for No. 1; Willie Gray Allen, floor manager for No. 2; Mr. Owens, A. P. Canton, Arnold Lancaster, Roy Roberts, weigh masters; Julian Edwards, ticket marker; Mrs. Ed Nash Warren, Mrs. E. R. Russell and Mrs. Pat Ruffin, bill clerks.

Classification Of New Low-Nicotine Content Tobacco Announced

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced its intention to establish a new type for low-nicotine content air-cured tobacco to be known as Type 31-V. Cured tobacco included in the new type cannot contain more than eight-tenths of one per cent nicotine, oven dry weight, and shall have the general visual characteristics of quality, color, and length of burley tobacco (type 31). The classification of the low-nicotine tobacco into Type 31-V shall be subject to such restrictions or controls as may be specified by the Director, Tobacco Branch, PMA.

The low-nicotine content tobacco was developed by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station and is a new variety or strain of tobacco which has resulted from 12 years of experimentation and cross-breeding burley with a cigar leaf variety of tobacco originally brought from Germany in 1933. Although this new strain is similar to burley in all visual characteristics it has a distinctive flavor and aroma which is quite different from that of burley tobacco. The average nicotine content of this new strain is more in the order of three tenths of one per cent instead of the maximum of eight tenths of one per cent to be specified as a prerequisite to its classification as Type 31-V.

I do fairly well in handling my personal affairs, except when world tidal waves upset my plans. If it weren't for paying taxes, many of us could pay our bills on time.

Theatre Manager

DEWEY FUQUAY

One of the reasons for the popularity of the Paramount Theatre is its genial manager, Dewey Fuquay, who has made hosts of friends since coming to Farmville. The company has plans for a new theatre which will be constructed on East Wilson street, adjacent to the new building under construction by W. C. (Lum) Wooten.
