WOMAN'S CLUB

The appointment of a committee composed of Mrs. Sam Bundy, Mrs. A. B. Moore, Miss Annie Perkins and Miss Tabitha DeViscanti to meet with representatives of other organizations and decide whether or not it is advisable to ask the North Carolina Symphony orchestra to give a concert in Farmville launched the fall work of the Woman's club Friday afternoon.

The club learned that Miss Marjorie Beal, of the North Carolina Library Commission, will speak at the October meeting when the group will have a covered dish supper and have as their guests the Junior Woman's Garden, Literary and Merry Matrons clubs.

Three new members, Mrs. M. W. Rollins, Mrs. George Farr and Mrs. H. D. Johnson, who graduated from the Junior Woman's club this spring, were cordially welcomed by the president, Miss Tabitha DeViscanti, after which she reported on the sending of gifts to boys in the Rocky Mount training school.

Echoes from the recent North Carolina Council of Federated clubs were brought by Mrs. Farr, Miss DeViscanti, Miss Mamie Davis, Mrs. J. Jesse Mays and Mrs. J. M. Hobgood.

The club women's hymn and "The Old North State" were sung and the collect was repeated in unison as part of the opening exercises.

Miss DeViscanti, who was hostess in the home of Mrs. Hobgood, served ice cream, cookies and nuts.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB

Mrs. R. D. Harris, hostess and program chairman, discussed landscaping the small home, club federation and the advantages offered to women throughout the world and the progress of federated clubs, at the Junior Woman's club meeting Tuesday afternoon.
