BRIDGE PARTIES

Mrs. C. Hubert Joyner honored Mrs. Madeline H. Rountree, who will leave during the week end for her home in St. Petersburg, Fla., after an extended visit, and Mrs. Bert McCullen of Louisville, Ky., at a party Monday evening at her home. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. W. E. Joyner, Mrs. Bert Watkins of Jackson, Miss., and Mrs. W. C. Holston. The honorees were remembered with handkerchiefs.

BIRD NOTES

The bird studied at the Bird club Saturday morning was the worm eating warbler which, in contrast to most other warblers, is quiet, not nervous and easily excited. It has a smart and jaunty air when walking. Found as far north as Southern New England, Southern Michigan and Nebraska, the worm eating warbler loves its home locality and comes back to the same thicket year after year. The new nest is built within sight of the old one.

MRS. ROUNTREE ENTERTAINS

In compliment to Mrs. Bert McCullen of Louisville, Ky., who has been visiting relatives here, Mrs. Madeline H. Rountree was hostess to five tables of bridge Saturday evening. As guests arrived they were served pineapple frappe. Later in the evening coconut cake and fruit gelatin were passed.

HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

Mrs. B. E. Fields announced Thursday at the meeting of the Farmville Home Demonstration club that 12 well-filled discarded handbags had been sent by club members to the World Church Service center for shipment to needy women overseas. Committees for the annual family Christmas party were appointed. Plans for a Brunswick stew supper were made and the supper date was announced as November 14.

ATTEND RALLY

Miss Faye Corbett and Sidney Carraway were among the young people from Farmville who attended the Presbyterian Young People's rally in Tarboro Sunday. The names of these two should have been included in the list appearing elsewhere in this issue of The Enterprise.
