Catholic
Mass was offered last Sunday by Father Michael Gilpin of Winston-Salem. His text was taken from the words of St. Paul: "You turned from idols to serve the living and true God."

Wednesday the feast of St. Elizabeth, patron of the Farmville church, was celebrated at 7:30.

Thursday evening the discussion club under the leadership of Father Loyola O'Leary met at the rectory.

Because of the food crisis in other parts of the world, an appeal is being made for food Thanksgiving week. The "Thanksgiving Food Collection" will be held from November 23 to 30. Food collected will be shipped to Europe and the Far East without delay, and will in its entirety be channeled through agencies of

NAVY GETS RECRUITS

For the second consecutive month, Navy enlistments and reenlistments for the month of October exceeded 99 per cent of the monthly quota, Rear Admiral T. L. Sprague, USN, Chief of Naval Personnel, announced.

This figure includes 8,731 reenlistments and 6,206 new enlistments for a total of 14,937 out of a quota of 15,000.

The procurement figures for September totaled 14,977 and included 7,502 reenlistments. July reenlistments were 5,435; August's were 4,875.

Accumulated new enlistments, however, from July 1 to November 1, are 35 per cent under the quota required to keep the Navy at its planned strength.

"This large and increasing number of reenlistments is especially gratifying," Rear Admiral Sprague said. "It demonstrates that men in the Navy recognize the advantages and benefits of a Naval career. It is also to the Navy's advantage because these men are trained and have the experience necessary to maintain an efficient Navy."

BIRD CLUB NOTES

The burrowing owl which eats almost anything it can get its claws on was studied at the Bird club Saturday morning. Squirrels, snakes, lizards and grasshoppers all fall beneath its attack. Even larger birds such as the night hawks have been known to succumb to its ferocity.

Parent birds are kept very busy gathering food for their offspring. Besides eating everything fresh or putrid, the young attack and devour each other.

Always made in a hole in the ground, the nest is generally from five to 10 feet from the entrance of an abandoned prairie dog, skunk, fox or badger burrow upon a collection of weed stalks and skins. Five to seven white eggs are laid.

William Douglas Gay read the article which further described this bird as being brown spotted with light colors above and whitish barred with brown below. The square or slightly rounded tail is only about half as long as the wings. A burrowing owl, which can see in the bright noon day glare as well as any of the familiar song birds, has a relatively small head and long legs.

A bird quiz was held after the program and later games were enjoyed.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Margaret Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ferrell Morgan, celebrated her seventh birthday by entertaining her classmates with a party at school.

Songs and games were enjoyed by all after which the little hostess opened her many lovely gifts. After the "many happy birthday" greetings had been received, Mrs. Ferrell Morgan, assisted by the teacher, Miss Margaret Lewis, and Mrs. Lyman Heath, served delicious cookies, ice cream and chewing gum.

OPPORTUNITY

The Bible and Youth

What kind of a life shall yours be? As no two watches run alike, so no two people think alike. They differ in many things they do, but the best start the young man and the young woman can make is to turn their hearts to the great truths to be found in the Bible. Remember that the Good Book does not deprive you of a single thing that is worth while. It doesn't ask you to give up any part of that which is real and permanent. Coming down through the ages, we see young men who later achieved greatness, build not upon the sands of time, but upon the wise words of the Sacred Writing. In this manner you can develop into a real man. You don't want to grow up and live in a mud hut, but God intends that you should have the best. The fruitage of life that we garner in later years, has been planted many years before. Be sure that you start with Divine Love. History is a flame with the lives of men who started aright with their dear Father. Right this very moment He is closer than your speaking because He is as close as your thinking. Nobody trusts the unreliable, but they do trust those who have built their house upon a rock.
