Two Negroes Killed In Wreck Near Here; Driver Held For Grand Jury

Mary Ellis, Negro woman who lived near Joyner's Cross Roads, and Richard Putnam, 40-year-old Negro of Stoney Point, Va., were instantly killed Sunday morning about 9:30 when the logging truck in which they were riding overturned, about three miles north of Farmville, when it failed to make a curve. The accident, the worst in this township in several years, occurred on the "old Staunton road" between Joyner's Cross Roads and the Fountain highway.

The dead woman cooked at the Royal Grill until about three months ago.

Ernest Mitchell, Scotland Neck Negro, who escaped without injuries, was driving the truck. Two other passengers, Robert Ellis, 18-year-old son of the fatally injured woman, and Vernon Myrick, were uninjured.

At a preliminary hearing here Tuesday night a coroner's jury ordered that Mitchell be held for the grand jury. On the jury were T. S. Styers, J. M. Wheelers, Jr., Mack Hardy, Sam Lewis, Archie Cayton and J. P. Scott, all of Farmville. Unable to post $500 bond, Mitchell was returned to prison to await the grand jury's action.

First witness at the hearing was State Highway Patrolman E. H. Jackson, who told of his investigation. He stated that the truck traveled 140 feet from the time it left the highway until it finally overturned and came to a halt. The patrolman, who is now stationed here, said he found no brake marks which would indicate Mitchell had applied his brakes. He said there was no odor of alcohol on Mitchell when he questioned him following the accident. He testified that Mitchell told him the truck, with a log trailer attached, was traveling about 35 or 40 miles an hour.

Chief of Police L. T. Lucas told of conditions at the wreck when he arrived on the scene, and testified that the two victims, who were pinned in the cab, were dead before a wrecker could life the truck so the bodies could be removed.

Robert Ellis testified that he was sitting in the cab between his mother and the driver. He told the coroner's jury that he heard his mother ask Mitchell not to drive so fast.

Fourth witness at the preliminary hearing was Myrick, who stated that he knew nothing of what happened. He said that he was either thrown or fell from his perch behind the cab, and had no idea how fast Mitchell was driving when the mishap occurred.

The hearing was conducted by Coroner T. B. Rouse of Greenville. County Solicitor Horton Rountree questioned the witnesses and served in the absence of District Solicitor W. J. Bundy.

Bradham, Jr., and Roy Mewborn of Snow Hill hit on seven to win three balls apiece. Winners of one ball each for hitting five bogeys were Allen Drake, Bo Rabil, Larry James, R. D. Harris and Frank Allen.

Graydon Liles turned in the lowest score for the day with 37, 38, and 70. He was even par for the round.

Participating in the tournament in addition to players previously mentioned were Dr. F. G. Harris, Clarence Davis, Emerson Smith, Critz Hillard, Chester O'Hland, Howard Harris, Marvin Hinson, Jack Freeman, P. K. Ewell and John Lewis.

Next Sunday another blind bogey will be run. This time prizes will be awarded to the men who hit the most and to those who hit the least. Lady golfers are also invited to participate, since they have as much opportunity to win as do the men. The entry fee is $1.

At The Kiwanis Club

Rev. Gray Temple, Episcopal rector of Rocky Mount, whose church has sponsored an active troop which has numbered, at one time or another during its history, 26 Eagle Scouts, spoke to the Kiwanis club Monday night about Scouting and listed three reasons why he believes the movement deserves the support of every citizen. The minister, introduced by Rev. E. W. Holmes of the Farmville Baptist church, stated that Scouts are taught how to get along with others—and to give and take while doing so, they are given a certain amount of idealism and they are taught skills.

Rev. Temple, who serves as vice president of the East Carolina Scout Council, prefaced his talk about Scouts with the observation that we are living on the edge of an abyss, and that probably never before in the history of our country have we felt as insecure as we now do. He pointed out that the power-loving dictators have used youth movements to spear-head their work, and cited the organizations built in Italy by Mussolini and in Germany by Hitler. He asked that the club members support the East Carolina Council and the local troop in the financial campaigns.

Special guests of the club were Scouts Johnny Dixon and Jimmy Joyner.

Police Chief L. T. Lucas was a guest of the club. He made a few remarks about the bicycle safety contest held here this week.

President Charles Edwards reported that proceeds from the annual carnival were in excess of $1200 and that the net profit would be $950, or thereabouts.

The club will operate an eating stand at the county fair in Greenville next week and Lewis Allen distributed schedules showing the hours each member is expected to serve.

Town Receives Share Powell Money, Retains Paving Policy

The Town of Farmville has received a check from the State Highway Commission for $10,348.94 as its share of the $5,000,000 which the 1951 Legislature allocated to aid towns and cities with their street maintenance programs.

Anticipating the early receipt of this money from the so-called Powell Bill, named for the legislator who introduced the measure in the General Assembly, the Board of Commissioners at a recent meeting voted to continue the policy under which streets in the town have been paved.

This policy stipulates that the town is to pay one-third of the paving bill, with the balance divided between owners of property bordering the streets being paved.

Sections of the law regulating the expenditure of the Powell Bill money provide that the funds so distributed can be used only for the purpose of maintaining, repairing, reconstructing or widening any street or public thoroughfare including bridges, drains, culverts and gutters, or other necessary improvements on the corporate limits, or for the construction of sidewalks.

Husband of Farmville Girl on Navy's Newest Submarine

The husband of a Farmville girl has been assigned to duty aboard the USS Tang, one of the six new fast attack submarines recently built for the U. S. Navy and fitted out in July with the deadliest equipment Uncle Sam owns.

He is Lt. (jg) Frank M. Adams, whose wife is the former Novis H. Capps, daughter of Mrs. W. C. Murray of Farmville. Lt. Adams, a native of Tunica, Miss., graduated from the Naval Academy in 1947 and has been serving on the Cobble, one of the morial submarines. He will report to his submarine on October 15, at Portsmouth, N. H. The submarine will join the Pacific Fleet Lt. Adams and his two children, Harriette and Clint, are spending 10 days with Mr. and Mrs. Murray.

Time magazine, in its issue of July 16, 1951, has the following to say about the Tang-class subs and the work they are expected to perform: "Shorter by 50 feet than the lean, 310-foot fleet 'boats' of World War II, the new Tang-class subs looked like a cross between a whale and a shark. Gone was the familiar deck gun and the round conning tower, with its crest of periscopes, radar and radio masts. The decks of the new subs were clean and knife-narrow. Down the center reared a thick, sliced-off fin to house their twelve masts and the spiral, which will enable them to run on engines instead of batteries at periscope depth. They had bow planes that whipped out automatically from pockets at their sides, and they could dive to a steep 40 degree angle. Fast and silent as barracuda, the new Tangs are the deadliest new weapons in the Navy's arsenal."

Snow Hill Next Foe For High School Eleven

The local high school eleven journeyed to Hertford last Friday and received a sound thrashing to the tune of 40-0. The Hertford team showed a powerful squad of large, hard-hitting boys, which was too much for the light, inexperienced Red Devils.

The Farmville boys played well the first period in outgaining the victors and holding them scoreless. However, in the second period the Hertford power boys broke loose and simply ran over the locals, scoring 27 points in the second period. This mastery was continued throughout the third period and Hertford ran its lead to 40-0. The last quarter was played on about even terms as many Hertford second stringers were in the game.

The Red Devils advanced 60 yards to the Hertford 10 yard line in the closing minutes of the game only to have the Hertford first stringers come in and halt the threat 4 yards from pay dirt.

Tonight the locals engage Snow Hill in the local park at 8 p.m. These teams are fairly evenly matched and a real battle is forecast.

A new linesman's outfit consisting of a down marker and a yardage chain has been donated to the school by Johnny Williams of Williams Jewelry Store and should arrive in time for tonight's game. This will prove a big asset to fans in keeping up with the progress of the game.
