Mrs. O'Berry used for her color scheme of pink and lavender sweet peas, roses, larkspur and ragged robin. Tally cards and favors also made use of these colors. The guest of honor was presented with an exquisite piece of handmade lingerie. Each guest received as a favor a set of pink and lavender lingerie pins or a silk Dorian case; these were attractively tied with sweet peas and pink ribbons. Refreshments served at the close of the game consisted of an appetizing salad course, served hot.

There will be a baseball game between the members of the local lodge of Odd Fellows, and the team from the Odd Fellows Home. All members of House Lodge No. 6, I. O. O. F. who can walk a wicked stick or somersault through the air with a glove or a mitt are urged to go out and take part in the game.

There will be no admission charge at this game, and the public is cordially invited to be present. At this time a contest of the Home, the children of the two ball teams, and a picture of the members of House Lodge will be made, so as to complete the moving pictures that were started at Winston-Salem.

HOSTESS TO SENIORS AND FACULTY

Miss Hilda Weil joyfully entertained the members of the senior class and the faculty of the Goldsboro high school at her home on Park Avenue Monday night.

The class colors, pink and green, were used effectively in the decoration of Miss Weil's home. Pink roses, sweet peas and candles, and green ferns were generously used in the reception room and the dining room.

After the guests had assembled two amusing contests were held, one tested the knowledge of those present in the automobile field, and the other was a "shutout" contest. They were the cause of much merriment and served the purpose admirably of breaking whatever ice was in sight. Boxes of candy were awarded as prizes.

The dining room in addition to its floral decorations, boasted a miniature school-house as a table centerpiece. This was constructed by the hostess' brother, Master Henry Weil, and was accurate in every detail as an exact replica of the "little red school house."

Fortunes rested in nutshells and tied with pink and green ribbons were given to each guest. Refreshments consisted of a delicious tea course, carried out in the class colors. The evening was made merry with toasts and class songs.

Those enjoying Miss Weil's hospitality were Capt. and Mrs. O. A. GIRL PICKPOCKETS NABBED

Relieve Woman of purse as They Rump in Store Elevator NEW YORK, May 30.—Passengers in an elevator of a department store yesterday were about to reproach two school girls, aged 11 and 12, for romping in the car with little thought for others, when two detectives stepped forward and placed the girls under arrest on a charge of picking pockets.

When the girls were taken into custody, one of the women was riding in the elevator discovered that her pocketbook was missing. Detectives allege it was found on the older of the two girls, Florence Sylvester, who is charged with having removed it from the woman's pocket while her attention was distracted by the child antics of the other girl, Nettie Swond.

At the police station the girls are said to have confessed that all their playtime for the past year has been devoted to picking pockets. They said they learned their "trade" under the tutelage of a band of small boys who taught them "how to find a pocket, how to open it and what to take."

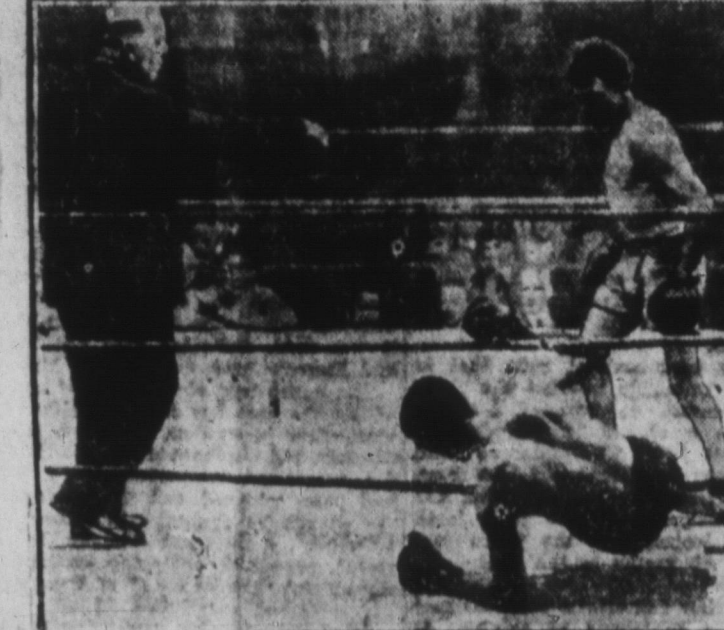

The girls admitted, detectives said, that they learned many tricks of the trade after passing from the guardianship of "the gang." Chief among these was the value of a danger signal, and

ITS NOT WHAT IT COSTS TO GET IN THE NEWS—BUT WHAT IT COSTS YOU TO STAY OUT.

What Does It Cost to Stop Advertising?

You remember James Pyle's Pearline. It had been advertised regularly from 1873 to 1907. Then the trustees of the estate saw a brilliant chance to save money. They cut out advertising. Sales dropped like a clap hammer—profits went where soapsuds and bubbles go. In 1914 Pearline, like Jess Willard, tried to come back. But it was too late. The business was sold at a price which is said to have barely covered the value of the machinery and inventory. Moral: A business will grow as long as it advertises. A sales force will thrive as long as it TRIES. You can't make progress against the current unless you keep rowing. But the harder you row the faster you go. How much will The News' readers spend in your store? Doesn't the answer to that question depend upon you? Advertise—means to sell.
