

Aaron Reaches Washington And Begins a Busy Program

(Special to The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 16.—Aaron Peale, of Pikeville, Wayne county, N. C., was among delegates of thirty-eight States represented by groups of four club members each—two boys and two girls, accompanied by two extension workers at the National 4-H club camp, which opened today on the grounds of the United States Department of Agriculture and lasts until June 23. Each of the delegates has been given the opportunity to participate in the national camp because of outstanding achievements in club work. They represent some 300,000 farm boys and girls in all parts of the country, who are enrolled in club work. The states are sending their representatives to Washington, either with funds made up of small sums from club members, or funds supplied by groups of business men, or by individuals. The visitors are housed in tents which are set up near the main buildings of the department.

The camp was opened informally on Wednesday June 16, for registration. The first regular meal was breakfast today. Something is planned for every minute of every day, beginning with the sounding of reveille at six o'clock each morning. The plans include daily conferences of both the young people and extension workers on club matters, addresses by numerous distinguished people, visits to all branches of the department's work which bear on club projects, an educational tour covering all the important Government buildings and places of historic interest. On three mornings limited groups of bird lovers are invited to start out at 5:30 a. m. to observe methods of conducting bird tours.

While in camp club members will wear uniforms. The boys will be in olive drab knickers and shirts, the girls in jade green suits with white hats, hose and ties. The girls have made their own uniforms as a part of their club work in clothing construction. About the camp grounds the girls may wear knickers, but for sight-seeing and other occasions taking them away from headquarters, skirts of the same color are to be worn. The uniforms serve to distinguish the boys and girls as a group, and also to prevent any distinctions in respect to clothes between one member and another.

There will be an assembly of the entire group every morning in the National Museum, to hear a speaker (note. Some of the speakers, in addition to Secretary Jardine and others of the department, are Mrs. Isabel Walker Willibrand, assistant attorney general, Dr. W. M. Mann of the Smithsonian Institution, the Hon. J. J. Flerty, U. S. Commissioner of Education, the Hon. J. B. Aswell, and the Hon. A. F. Lever. The assembly will be followed by an educational tour lasting until one o'clock, the lunch hour, a period of visiting, and a shopping trip.

In the auditorium of the museum, after supper group recreation or a program of the day's speaker on the museum grounds will follow the evening with "taps" at ten o'clock.

The program today is typical of each day in most respects: 9:00, reveille; 9:30, flag raising; 9:50 setting up exercises; 10:45, swimming; 7:45 breakfast; 9:00 assembly in museum auditorium, with group singing, and address by Secretary Jardine, Dr. Warburton, Director of Extension, and Dr. Smith, chief of the Office of Co-operation Extension work. At 10:40 members started for the Corcoran Art Gallery, Pan American Building, National Academy of Science, and Lincoln Memorial. After lunch at 1:00 they visited the Bureau of Dairying, United States Department of Agriculture. From 3:00 to 5:30 there was a conference, then an hour's rest, supper at 5:30. Group recreation filled in the time from 6:30 to 8:00 when there was a camp program on the camp quadrangle and a concert at the Sylvan Theater by the U. S. Marine band.

A part of each session is to be devoted to group discussion of club aims at the club member conferences. Service, cooperation, achievement, and measurement are the general themes for these conferences, through which it is hoped these boys and girls will have their view of club work intensified, and that they will return to their homes broadened by their contact with members from other states and by all they have seen and heard during the week in Washington.

Kinston Has New Mill Company Now

KINSTON, June 16.—(P)—A new company, capitalized by Kinston interests will operate the Kinston Cotton Mills, Birch Douglas, agent for the unnamed group, purchased the plant at an auction sale.

The price was $6,500 above the assumption of a $245,000 mortgage. In the opinion of authorities, the plant is worth well over $224,000.

Plans of the Kinston purchasers are being rapidly developed but details are withheld for the present. It is understood here that holders of second mortgage bonds will be given the privilege of exchanging them for common stock.

The Kinston Mills were in the hands of a receiver for several months after the owning company's failure early this year.

FIRE DOES DAMAGE IN PERSON CARRIAGE

DURHAM, June 16.—(P)—Flames sweeping through a business block in Roxboro, near here last night did damage estimated at $50,000 before being brought under control by the Roxboro fire department. A detachment, rushed to Roxboro on a emergency called failed to arrive in time to check the disastrous sweep of the blaze. An entire block was threatened for a time before the flames were controlled.

PLANNING BIG MEALS FOR COMPANY

(Editor's Note: This is the last of the series of cooking articles by 6 famous cooks running exclusively in this paper.)

We all like to entertain company, and to invite them to meals. But we should never tire ourselves out getting ready for them. For after all they would rather have us fresh and untired, able to enjoy their visit, than to have us serve them the most elaborate meals. Just a little forethought and planning will do away with heavy work connected with entertaining.

A Tip from Mrs. Horer

Mrs. Sarah Ellen Horer, pioneer cooking teacher, and famous as the author of "The Philadelphia Cook Book," advises you to make the dessert and salad dressing the day before, and to eat meals which do not require a lot of "last-minute" attention. This gives us more time to spend with our friends.

You will find the following menu tickled the palate and is easily prepared for a large group. Properly done, it gives the serving of 12.

Chopped Veal	Mashed Potatoes
Supper	Harroet Salad
Carrot Cream
Bread and Butter	Beverage

You can easily make the caramel sauce for the dessert, and have it ready for the company's meal. Use Mrs. Horer's recipe.

Caramel Cream

Put 4 tablespoons of sugar in a saucepan over a burner at full heat. Shake until it melts and turns a dark brown. Take from fire. Add a quart and a half of milk, 6 more tablespoons of sugar and bring to a boil. Stir in 4 tablespoons of cornstarch dissolved in a cup of cold water. Stir over the fire until creamy. Take from fire, add 1 teaspoon of vanilla. Serve cold.

The modern girl who is a good cook, is a girl who is a good hostess. It is considered only when needed. Quite a contrast to some who need to be called into action, and take a long time to do it after the cooking is done.
