City Would Be Required Donate Site and Buildings Worth $100,000

SALEMBURG PLANT WOULD BE DEEDED TO COLLEGE

$100,000 Endowment Would Also Be Transferred Here If Conditions Met

Pineland Junior College, located at Salemburg, Sampson county, is the in stitution which can be brought to Goldsboro provided the city is willing to meet specified conditions, it was revealed at the Goldshoro Chamber of Commerce yesterday. Whether or not the city is interested in meeting these conditions is being sought in a questionnaire mailed yesterday to business men of the city. The replies will determine whether or not the matter will be considered further.

Goldsboro can secure the Sampson institution if the city is willing to donate a site of 10 to 20 acres and buildings to cost not less than $100,-000. But the giving would not all be on the part of Goldsboro, If the above requirements are met, the present college plant at Salemburg appraised at $192,000 would be deeded to the Goldsboro college an an endownment of $100,000 transferred to the Trustees of the new school.

Founded in Sampson county less than twenty years ago, Pineland has had a remarkable history of development and has performed a useful and unique part in providing educational facilities for many boys and girls who otherwise would have been denied. the usefulness of the institution could offered. be greatly increased through it location in Goldsboro.

A special committee of the Chamher of Commerce, headed by George C. Royall, has given the proposition to move the College to Goldsboro full study and looks upon it as an opportunity for the city.

The following statement under the signature of the chairman of the committee was distributed yesterday:

The following message is very important and we urge you to carefully read same and reply immediately. About two months ago our Chamber of Commerce was approached with a proposition from the managements of the Pineland Female Junior College now located at Salemburg, North Carolina, about half way between Clinton and Fayetteville, to the effect that this college was interested in North Carolina location.

The President of the Chamber Commerce appointed a special committee of ten of our citizens with instructions for them to visit this Pineland school and to make their report, after investigating same, to the membership of the Chamber. The special committee carried out the instructions of the president and have attempted on two occasions to make their report to prepresentative group of our membership but on both occasions weather or other conditions before the eye of the audience. Germany Indicates She Would Like Some Change In Versailles Treaty GENEVA, Dec. 2 -(P)- Germany today made what was widely interpreted as a delicate move for what is egarded as revision of the Versailles treaty. This was the conclusion drawn from an address by Count Von Bernstorff, former German ambassador to the United States, an now German representative at the preparatory disarmament conference before the security committee.

Real international security which will reduce the possibility of conflicts between nation implies the fixacan accept, was the opinion voiced in German non-official circles tonight following upon the count's declaration portance by the committee in the proposed study of the league of nations convenant.

This is the articles which says that League Assembly may advise reconsideration of treaties which be come inapplicable. The German delegates insistence on the inclusion and Willis Smith, representative from of this article were generally felt to point to the treaty of Versailles.

It was stated that Germany is interested in the possible revision of cable and the discontinuance of inchanged, might endanger peace. It was further remarked that if Ger. on Slocums street yesterday aftern making such a move it would be the
