TO ADVERTISERS.
 There are but two more issues of THE GAZETTE for this year and but one more before Christmas. Those who intend to get their announcements before the public in time to get the benefit of the Christmas trade will find their last opportunity in next week's paper.
 The paper, without unforeseen hindrance, will come out a little earlier than usual next week, and we make this request for our mutual benefit: Send in copy for new advertisements before Monday noon.

OUR EXPOSITION CONTINUES.
 Only one week of it remains. The result will be announced in next Thursday's paper. If the contest were to close to-day a club of less than five subscribers would win that beautiful $5.00 rocking chair at Armstrong's. Is it possible that you cannot by a little active work raise a club of five subscribers in your town or neighborhood? Try it, and let yours be the name heralded in next week's paper from one end of the county to the other as the winner of the prize.
 Don't wait another moment. The chair is worth many days' work. One day's work may make it yours. Read particulars on fourth page, get up a list of all you can, and report with names and money before nine o'clock next Wednesday night.

THE CURRENCY SITUATION.
 While desirous of substituting Sherman purchase notes and United States Treasury notes with a broader and better money, the people will thunder their disapproval of any further contraction. Raleigh News & Observer.
 Which is better, to contract the nation's gold money or its paper promises? Under the present system these Sherman notes and greenbacks are used to dig away the foundation of the country's credit and the country's currency. The time has come when this government should have a safe, definite, and sufficient currency system. It has suffered too much already from "cowardly makeshifts" and "long indulgence in ill-advised financial expedients."
 It will not do to say that the notes above mentioned are floated without interest, and should not therefore be raised in favor of other notes based on interest-bearing bonds, as suggested by Mr. Cleveland. What has it cost and what is it likely to cost the government to float them without interest? This question is answered in the following words from the President's recent message:
 "When * * * we are reminded that to carry on this astounding financial scheme the government has incurred a liability of $300,000,000, a liability which it is bound to maintain at an annual interest of $100,000,000, that a continuation in our present policy may result in further bond issues, and that we have suffered or are threatened with all this for the sake of supplying gold for shipment or facilitating its hoarding at home, a situation is exhibited, which certainly ought to arrest attention and provoke immediate legislative relief."
 If the News & Observer has a better scheme with which to meet the conditions present than that offered by the President, it would do well to lay its plans before the public for consideration. But we want to submit that in the solution of so grave a problem there is small encouragement to hope for help from a source that is haunted by a morbid fear of the "shander" of the people's disapproval. That is the dread of the demagogue and time-server out of a sensible man of affairs.

Charleston and Silver in 1895.
 Charleston Observer.
 In reply to the request of a correspondent, the Atlanta Journal reprints and republishes the famous anti-free coinage letter of President Cleveland, written before his last nomination, in answer to an invitation to attend a meeting of the Reform Club of New York to discuss the coinage question. It was as follows:
 New York, February 10, 1895.
 Mr. Henry Anderson, Chairman.

Dear Sir:—I have this afternoon received your note inviting me to attend a meeting of the Reform Club of New York to discuss the coinage question. I am glad to hear that the Reform Club of New York are at last to be organized. I am sure that the meeting will be a most interesting one, and I am sure that the Reform Club of New York are at last to be organized. I am sure that the meeting will be a most interesting one, and I am sure that the Reform Club of New York are at last to be organized.

Very truly yours,
 Grover Cleveland.
 How many men who favored Cleveland for the nomination in 1893 in the face of this letter, or who, whether favoring his nomination then or not, condoned his opposition to free coinage by voting for him, can have the face to turn around now and say that the President has deceived the people and betrayed the party, is more than the average intellect can comprehend. If the Democratic party did want a sound money candidate for President in 1893 it had the foregoing letter before it and it ought to have nominated Cleveland. If there was any fault in the matter it belongs to the party and not to the man. He has never tried to fool anybody about where he stood on the coinage question or any other. He isn't that sort of a man.

Notice to Collectors.
 Cleveland Plain Dealer.
 The champion scheme to bluff collectors has been discovered in one of Cleveland's big office buildings. It was invented by its owner, who is engaged in professional pursuits, and consists of a neatly framed sign, bearing these words:
 NO BILLS PAID UNTIL AFTER THE 10th OF EACH MONTH.
 It is a reversible affair, and the collectors who call on the 10th of the month or later are confronted with this announcement:
 NO BILLS PAID AFTER THE 10th OF EACH MONTH.

Surprised at Brev. Bland.
 Louisville Courier-Journal.
 When Mr. Bland arrived in Savannah Tuesday, and found that only one seat had been held for him, the silver letters that night he cancelled his engagement. We are surprised at Brev. Bland. A man who can make sixteen ounces of silver equal to one ounce of gold can surely make one seat equal to sixteen seats, and a man who can make one seat equal to sixteen seats, can of course, make sixteen seats equal to sixteen hundred seats. Why did not Musician Bland wave his hat and order that one seat, and letters to a packed house.

A Pointer for Intending Elopers.
 Raleigh Correspondence Charlotte Observer.
 Elopers can get points from a couple in Greene county who chose the time when the girl's parents were attending a dancing at Tarboro to run away and get married. It was a rude way to treat the parents, but the young man after a day delightfully spent at a public execution and had their daughter had been spirited away by a bold and rude man. Thus it is that pleasure and pain are mixed.

The Drummer and Seven Better Boys.
 Portland (Me.) Advertiser.
 A Portland merchant has recently had illustrated to him, in the person of two commercial travelers, great vicissitudes of fortune. One who called to solicit trade for a certain kind of soap was at one time one of the leading merchants of Boston, and his residence, when adversity came, sold under the hammer for $75,000. The other, who had a line of cigars, had been twice elected Governor of one of the largest of the Middle Western States.

Stagnant Matter out.
 Indianapolis Journal.
 Wary Watkins—Don't you believe the poor is getting poorer right along? Henry Higgins—I hadn't noticed nothing of the sort. I owed $18 ten years ago and I didn't have a cent. Today I ain't got a cent, but these debts is outlawed; so I guess they is one pore man a little better off.

Started Right if he did Start Late.
 Charlotte Observer.
 The Old Furnace correspondent of the Gastonia Gazette writes it of a man 65 years old, in his neighborhood, who a few days ago bought a blue-back spelling book for his own use. He has started right; the only matter for regret is that he has started his education so late.
 We know of but one community in the world where dyspepsia is practically unknown, and that is the Shakers of Mount Lebanon, N. Y. These good people have been studying the subject of digestion for more than a hundred years, and that they understand it pretty thoroughly, is proved in the following fact: Their Digestive Cordial is the safest and best remedy in cases of indigestion that we know of. A trial bottle can be had through your druggists for the trifling sum of 10 cents.
 The Shaker Digestive Cordial supplies the system with food already digested, and at the same time aids the digestion of other foods. It will almost instantly relieve the ordinary symptoms of indigestion, and no sufferer need be told what these are.

YORKVILLE has two colored catbirds on the challenge for stealing turkeys. The Southern Railway will revive the railroad shops at Burlington, N. C. The Caucasian, Senator Butler's newspaper, is prospering despite the hard times. It is putting in a $4,000 press. Mr. Frank Jarrett tells the Newton Enterprise that he killed a hog last week, 14 months old, that weighed 348 pounds.

President Cleveland is spending the week in the eastern part of the State along the waters near Hatteras shooting ducks and things. The Spartanburg Spout says land has been bought at Blacksburg for a pulp mill. The company intends to make wood pulp for exporting to other places. St. Louis has been selected by the National Committee as the place for the meeting of the next National Republican Convention. The date is June 16, 1896.

The Senate on Monday confirmed the nomination of Rufus W. Bookham of New York for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States to succeed the late Justice Howell E. Jackson, of Tennessee. In Ohio the public funeral of a man who died of small-pox caused an outbreak of the disease. This is one instance in which the postponement of the funeral "until a year afterward" might have been strictly proper. The Farmers' Alliance has purchased from the estate of the late Paul C. Cameron the old military academy at Hillsboro with five buildings and 140 acres of land, the price paid being $3,500. The buildings are to be fitted up for a tannery and shoe factory and also for the head quarters of the Alliance. The buildings included in the purchase are all brick save one.

Rev. John E. White, pastor of the Ebenezer Church, was unanimously chosen by the Baptist State convention to succeed the late lamented Dr. C. Durham as corresponding secretary of the convention. He was recommended by a committee composed of Dr. C. E. Taylor and one member from each association. He is a strong young man of gifts and ability. What is said to be the greatest auction in the world has ever known took place at Topeka, Kansas, Tuesday. The entire system of the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe railway with 10,000 miles of track, 2,000 locomotives, and thousands of cars, and buildings, rights, and franchises aggregating the value of $300,000,000 were to be sold under order of court. The November number of McClure's Magazine, containing the opening chapters of the Life of Lincoln, was out of print in two weeks after publication, increasing the circulation by 45,000 new subscribers. The first edition for December will be over 300,000 copies, a further increase of 25,000, and will contain other chapters in Lincoln's early life with 35 pictures, four portraits of Lincoln. One of the Lincoln pictures has never before been published.

Hillsboro and Damascus Part Company
 Scotland Neck Democrat.
 It has been said that two places on the face of the earth do not change—Damascus and Hillsboro. But soon this can be said no more, if newspaper reports are true. The Alliance shoe factory is to be located at Hillsboro, and this will be one change for the old town.
