ABOUT CHRISTIAN EDUCATION.

If in his recent address at Princeton ex.President Cleveland was not in one personge, at least, pleading for the Unristinguisting of education he was, indeed, coming very near to it. He had been defining the self-mails man and had mentioned the importance of a liberal education as essential to the struction of such a man. Coptinuing, he said:

uing, he said: "T have intentionally avoided a more extended discussion of a proposition which it seems to me is so plainly cer-tain and yet, notwithstanding the pa-tenes of this factor and even though education may have constributed to the construction all that it can accomplish, the work, if still facting moral stami-na and remistance, will be a and failure if nothing worse. We have known of those for whom education has done its most and (who) yet did wrong contin-ually, exponence and delighting in the prositiation of their splendid powers and equinements to the betrayal and injury of every noble purpose. We have men the sebolar in public life, teaching tricks to tricksters and with the mask of education on his face, leading the way to the lowest depths of partiass decrif and intrigue."

Can it be that the state of thiugs either past or present, here in North Carolina suggested to Mr. Cleveland that last sentence ? But let us follow him further through this very strong

"When direful anarchy held pos-"When disufal anarchy held pos-session of the proud capitol of France and dreached her streats in blood, education though not absent failed to stay the fury that decread the horrors of house appalling days. In the un-restrained revely of impious wicked-ness nod-godiess rage morality and conscience were busished. The bis-forian of that dark period has told us: "The services of religion were now univernally abandoned; * * baptism censed; the burial service was no long-er heard; the sick received no commun-ios, the dying no consolation; * * * the village belis were silent; Sanday was obliterated; infancy entered the world without a bleasing and age left it without hope; * * on every fourth day a revelutionary leader ascended the pulpit and preached atheasen to the buridered audience; * * on all pub-lic cometeries the inteription was

Since, therefore, education does not create the moral qualities without which our self-made man is so lamen-tally imperfect, it is obvious that other taols must be employed to sup-ply the deficiencies." Now what are these tools ? After the foregoing historical quotation one might have expected that the speaker would boldly name the doctrines of the Great Tencher allye in the heart of the man and exemplified in his life. But he does not. He is speaking of the celf-made man, with emphasis on the "self," and adda:

PERITENTIARY AFFAIRS.

The dominant combination to State politics are having trouble with the penitentiary. Those of them on the outside join perhaps with those on the inside in wishing that there were no such thing up the penitentiary. The unrebutted evidence so far accumulated tends to show that they are not only unequal in business capacity to the successful management of the institution's affairs, but that they have squandered its resources and scandalized convict society.

That the directors should have practically deposed the superintendent is a confession that he was either ignorantly or purposely unfit to manage the iustitution. When the charge was justly made that the management was allowing things even at the penitentiary to go to the bad, the blatberskite Caucasian got up to say that the penitentiary was doing tolerably well, that it never had been and, we believe, couldn't be self-sustaining, its principal occupation being that of farming. Now to one off at a distance, it does seem that if the folks tunide the penitentiary with no taxes or house-rent of synod. to pay, with no children to educate, and with no expensive clothes to buy, except a costume now and then for the theatrical talent, can't support themselves in conventional style, then the time has come to stop expecting prople outside the pen to make euds meet. But ex-Superintendent Leaser flas shown that the penitentiary can be made self supporting and that it was so in the year 1896. Those of our readers who are in the habit of voting this fund. when they get a chapes are asked to note slowhere what Mr. Learser has to say. Especially worthy of note is his in November, 1893. statement that under Democratic administration 900 bales of cotton were sold for nearly 531 a bale, while the Duan's Hoview. dominant combination sold in April, when prices were much better, the cotton on hand, 831 bales in all, for about $18 a bale. Mr. Leazer, we believe, knows what he is talking about when he says this is not easy to

Some good people thought that at one time they were possibly too severely characterized, abused, if you please, but every week that passes now only helps to establish their undisputed desert of the severest things that have been written of them. The Shelby Star has our hearty congratulation upon the success achieved in its spiendid 13 page illustrated edition. From beginning to end it is a happily conceived and well excouted enterprise. There are nearly one hundred cuts of persous, places, and things, over eighty of which are of persons. Among these we recognize the countenances of Jno. F. Schenck. Solicitor J. L. Webl, Robert L. Ryburn, Dr. B. F. Dixon, Capt. I. W. Garrett, Rev. T. M. Lowry, and Rev. T. Dixon, Sr., father of the three preachers. After reading the names we could also recognize the favor in the plotures of Mujor II. F. Schenck, E. Y. Webb, and Semator Jas. A. Gentrinia (Proce Anthony. Attention is given to the history of the county, to its resources, manufac-tures, different lines of business, and different professions, including the high suffing of the ministry. Tostwise Enquirer. The sessions were opened with a ser-mon by Hev. T. G. Boyce, of Salem, Tennessee, retiring moderntor, and the roli showed a full attendance of ministens. In all there were between 80 and 100 delegates and vieitors. Rev. J. L. Young, of Monticello, Ar-kansas, moderator elect, presided over subsequent sessions. At a conference on the educational interests of the church on Thursday evening, speeches were made by Frof. Wm. Hood, of Bartow, Fin., on "De-nominational Colleges," Rev. T. G. Boyce on "Preparatory Schools," and Rev. J. S. Moffat on "Erskine Col-lege." Mr. Moffati's speech brought out the interesting fact that the col-lege is now enjoying the greatest pros-perity in its listory, with an altend-ance of 125 students, and a larger la-terest-benning endowment than ever before. The speeches generally showed that there is now enjoying the greatest in our before. The speeches generally showed that there is now more interest in edu-

the throughout the whole church that for many years. It was in connection with that conference that Mr. Joseph Wylie's donation of $16,000, already Wyiie's donation of $16,000, already mentioned, was announced. So much of the previous action of synod as provided for the immediate disposition of Mr. Wyiie's gift, was subsequently re-considered, and, in-stead, it was declined to put the whole matter in the hands of a committee consisting in Rev. Dr. Wm. Grier and Mr. Wylir, with instructions to report to synod at its next meeting. This was because of the opposition of quite a respectable minority in the church to the polley of co-education, and because the policy of co-reducation, and because also of the fact that many believed the

also of the fact that many believed the carrying out of the plan as suggested, would vitally affect the interest of the Female college arready established. On Friday evening, there was an im-portant missionary conference at which speeches were made by Rev. W. A. M. Planco, on the financial features of the work; Bev. J. G. Dale, on the Holy Spirit in mission work: and by Rev. S. W. Beid, on the general outlook. The home mission field of the church was found to be generally in a program.

Beports from Atlanta, Ga., Little Rock, Ark. Consicana, Texas, Bartow, Fis., and Columbia, S. C., were in the main, gratifying. It was agreed to continue the appropria-tion for home missions about the same figure as heretofore-something like $7,000. Rav. W. W. During the lecture who should we chance to see but our friend and schoolmate Prof. B. E. Atkins, who has localed in the fown and is buildhas localed in the town and is boild-ing up a floarishing school in this part of the State. His school has opened well for the beginning of the session and bids fair to become one of the test educational centers for the whole sec-tion in which it is located. Those who have shildren to educate, either boys or girls, can do no better than put them ander the cate of Prof. At-kins. He was associated with his brother for 15 long years in the Ashe-ville female college. His practical training as a teacher, ripe schularship, with his high moral and Christian in-tegrity is testimooy sufficient to give him the large patroage which he so justly merits, wherever duty calls him. And we believe Gastonis and old Gas-ton county will do their whole duty in tou county will do their whole duty in maintaining the grand aim of the insti-tution that has been so fortunate as to tave Prof. Atkins as its principal. The school building is of modern style, sufficiently large for the accomodation of 150 or 200 pupils. It is con-veniently located on the outshirts of the town, and we see no reason why it should not be crowded this year to its utmost capacity. Good hoard can be had at reasonable rates among the best private families in the city by those who destro to educate their children away from home. We wish the chool great success.

Gastonis Grocer. There is no reason why Gastonia cannot compete with any of her larger sistors for the business of her neigh-boring towns and country merchants near by. We are conveniently located at the crossing of the great Southers and the C. & N. W. railways. Our freight rates compare very favorably with other places and we are free from the excessive reats, taxes, and other excenses that are becomeny in larger expenses that are necessary in larger cities. That we scally can compete with these other markets has been proven beyond any question by our wholesale grocery firm, Edgar Love & Co., who have built up and are holding an immense jobbing business here.
