WHEN A PATRIOTIC VILLAGER EXTENDED THE COURTESY OF HIS HOME TO A SOLDIER AND PUT UP THE SANTARY COT THE SOLDER SAID OF THE VILLAGER THAT HE GAVE HIS (H)ALL FOR HIS COUNTRY.

"4RE YOU GETTING MUCH OUT IF THE ARMY "THE INTEREST-IN MOTHER ASKED THE DOUGH-

ROY.

"NO, MADAM," HE ANSWERED.
"RUT I'M GETTING OUT OF MUCH IN THE ARMY."

Army life is sort of peculiar. It consists mainly of falling in and falling out, and when you fall in you lose your identity and when you fall out you don't even make a substantial noise.

"AND HERE I AM," HE SOLILO-QUIZED RUSPULLY, "GETTING UP AT 4.45, DRILLING ALL DAY AND TURNING IN AT 9 P. M. HELPING TO MAKE THE WORLD SAFE FOR DEMOCRACY, AND I'VE VOTED THE REPUBLICAN TICKET ALL MY LIPE."

STRANGELY — CLERICAL MEN DO NOT MAKE GOOD FILE CLOSERS.

"I'll hit you so hard," he said,
"that your grandchildren will limp into the evening meal on crutches."

ONE PRIVATE PHILIP BY NAME, ANGERED, WITH SEV-ERAIL OTHERS AT AN INCONSID-ERAITE ACT OF A SUPERIOR, SUGGESTED THAT THEY GET TIGGETHER AND WRITE HIM A THREATENING LETTER.

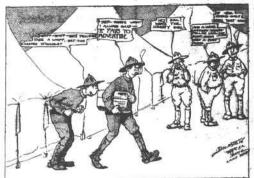

Which brings to mind that it's nearly time for the annual election of officers.

THE ARMY TICKET WILL UN-DOUBTEDLY CARRY—UNANI-MOUSLY.

VETERINARIANS PUT SOI PEDAL ON MULE MUSIC

PEDAL ON MULE MUSIC

One of the descroes of war is sleeping in an armory where 165 mules are quastered—the writer knows. He has done it. And if discords be the basis of a symphony the strange sounds that were recolved as the mule chorus rise to the root must have been a symphony. But this Riccium in Mule Music did not strike the writer as anything at all admirable. Been now, softened as the memory laby the passing of time, he has no desire to hear the mule chorus gash even if played by the flass't aggregation of musicians of the country as an accompaniment to the internment march of one Karl Muck.

The mules, faithful animals that they are, and beloved by avery soldier who has depended upon them for food transport, have been altogether too noisy.

They have played a major part in the army transport but while doing it have insisted upon telling in a minor key of the work they have done.

In a word they have attracted the attention of the German.

Civilian Use of Khaki Branded as Extravagance

branded as 45x trawagance
Use of so much khaki-colored citth for aniforms for women and men not connected in any way with the miltary cetablishment of the country is deplored by the Army and Navy Journal. The practice is regarded as particularly out of keeping with the times because of the recent abortage of khaki-colored cloth for uniforms for soldiers, and the efforts of the for soldiers, and the efforts of the War Department to conserve the supply.

Under the caption of "The Civilian Crase for Uniforms," the Army and Ravy Journal said in a recent suue:

"One of the economic extravagances and wastes ever before the vyes of the dwellers in our large cities at the present time is the civilian crase for uniforms.

"We have searcely recovered from the turbulent agitation aroused over the shortages in army uniforms when we see more and more rass and women in 'shelt-solored uniforms that range from close 'initiations of those of the British army to vary built copies of our own army gatterns.

"It is to be noted in this connection that the hardest workers among the civilians attached its our caution when the connection that the hardest workers among the civilians attached its our caution ments and camps in the capacity as moterainers or "social workers" usually werr a costume of so simple a pattern and which cortainly makes no presensions to anything of that kind. But in the ordered and protected social world of our larger cities one sees young womes in uniforms that (making allowances for the brief skirts) are practically those of the kind. Sind in sea Grossia and pro-tected social world of our larger cities one sees young women in uniformithat (making allowances for the brief skirts) are practically those of the British. French and Belgian army patterns over, the street zallway com-panies have elected to dross their women conductors in uniforms of khaki color with putteen and a wretched imitation of the Army exa-trison cap, the whole presenting a sur-trison cap, the whole presenting a sur-trison cap, the whole presenting as-torial horror, a femigine travesty, and a shocking westage of cloth that in the near future may be vitally needed for the same we will have to send to France."
