

New Ship May Prove Answer To Sub Menace

An Eastern Seaport.—Correspondents had a look at the navy's newest answer to the submarine menace—the trim, hard-hitting "destroyer escorts."

The ship, which unlike regular destroyers can be turned out by mass production methods, is expected by the navy to be of great help as a watchdog for convoys.

Approximately 300 feet in length, the sleek gray vessel is in the 1,300 ton class.

Aboard are weapons for slugging it out with submarines or airplanes.

Cannons and torpedoes are intended for dealing with undersea raiders caught on the surface, while an unusually heavy barrage of depth charges can be used against subs detected under the waves.

The vessel has more than one type of anti-aircraft gun.

The "de" is not as swift as a destroyer, but has more speed than the corvette-type craft used by other nations for similar duty.

The ship fills the gap between the sub chasers and destroyers.

It is large enough to make the longest convoy trips and is effective in rough weather—thus having an advantage over the smaller subchasers.

Costing perhaps one-fourth as much as a destroyer, the "de" is of a more simple design and can be produced more quickly. It can be manned by a quickly-trained crew.

Sowing Lespedeza On Small Grain

Sowing annual lespedeza on small grain, a simple conservation practice in itself, will enable farmers to make a substantial contribution to the feed production program, says J. C. Hutchinson of the Pee-Dee-Cape Fear Soil conservation district.

Lespedeza provides ideal summer grazing. However, he points out, the lespedeza does not necessarily have to be grazed to contribute to the food production program. Used in normal crop rotations, and turned under for soil improvement, it will keep the soil fertile and in condition to produce large acre-yields of crops farmer might be cajoled on to grow later.

Under favorable conditions, lespedeza makes larger yields of good hay and if cut early, will make additional growth before frost to give excellent protection to the land and leave considerable material to be turned under later. It also produces plenty of seed that can be harvested for increasing the acreage of the crop without the purchase of additional seed.

No Shortage Of Food In N. C. This Year

Releigh.—Mrs. Cornelia C. Murrin, of N. C. State college predicted that there would be no serious food shortage in North Carolina this year.

Farm Youth of U. S. Looks to Tomorrow

TOMORROW'S farmers and farm homemakers are second to no school group in their enthusiasm for investing in War Bonds and Stamps to make sure their future is secure. Through the Schools At War program they are investing what they save and earn in War Stamps and Bonds.

First evidence of this is the amount the 4-H Club boys and girls and the FFA boys invested in war savings in 1942 from "Victory Pig" and other projects. A million and a half 4-H Club members put $6,000,000 of their own savings in War Bonds and Stamps and sold $2,500,000 worth of War Savings to their neighbors. Nearly a quarter million members of Future Farmers of America invested more than $1,500,000.

Spurred by the realization that the financial welfare of farm families for the next 20 years depends on how wisely they use today's higher incomes from increased food and other wartime production, both groups have set their goals still higher for 1943.

These farm youths are building financial reserves, and urging their parents to do the same, for after-the-war necessities, to meet financial emergencies and to help them get started in college.

They're building reserves today for tomorrow's farm buildings and for the other things they will need when they're tomorrow's farmers and homemakers.

SHOES

About fifteen million more pairs of "durable" wartime shoes for civilians will be produced this year than last. Many peacetime types will be discontinued for the duration of the war.

CONTAINERS

Wooden containers for shipping fresh fruits and vegetables are being standardized to conserve lumber, metals and manpower. The amount of wooden containers available will not be reduced.

"I'm going to shock you!"

"Because I'm going to hit right from the shoulder, starting now.

"Out there, our boys are fighting, and they're falling. Not one or two at a time, picked off by a nice clean bullet. But fifty at a time in the roaring, flaming hell of a shell burst.

"Out there, they aren't walking around in clean white uniforms on neat decks. They're running and slipping around on the bloody heaving flanks of a carrier foundering in a sea of oil with her guts torn out.

"They're not lying in cool, immaculate hospital beds with pretty nurses to hold their hands. They're flat on their backs on cold steel taking a smoke and waiting for a doctor to get through with the seriously wounded.

"Out there, they're fighting and they're falling but they're winning! And get this straight—they're not complaining. But I want you to know what they're up against. I want you to know they look to you to give them in your way the same full measure of help and devotion they get unasked from their own shipmates.

"And you can help them—by giving generously to the Red Cross.

"If you had seen the faces of men pulled naked from the sea as they received kit bags and cigarettes handed out on the spot by Red Cross Field Directors—you'd know what I mean!"

On every front the Red Cross presses forward. Each day, the need increases for your support.

Your Chapter is raising its Second War Fund in March. Give more this year—give double if you can.

THE RECORD SINCE PEARL HARBOR

For the Armed Forces—More than one million and a half service men have received, through the Field Staff, practical help in personal problems. The Red Cross is with them in training and at the front. For morale and recreation, over one hundred Red Cross Clubs have been established for overseas troops. There are more than five thousand workers in the field.

Civilian Relief—About sixty million dollars in war relief has been administered in every allied country. Food, clothing, medicinal supplies have gone to Great Britain, Russia, China, Africa for Polish and Greek refugees, and many others.

Thousands of packages to prisoners of war have been safely delivered through cooperation with the International Red Cross in Switzerland.

The Home Front—Training our people to meet the needs of war. Millions of First Aid Courses. Hundreds of thousands trained in Home Nursing and Nutrition Courses. Thousands enlisted as Nurses' Aides and in Motor and Canteen and Staff Assistant Corps.

More than one million and a half blood donations through Red Cross collection centers and the distribution of the life saving Plasma wherever needed.

Chapter Production rooms from coast-to-coast providing surgical dressings for the wounded, kit bags for the fighters and tons of clothing for relief.

The Red Cross record in this war is one that we Americans may well be proud of—and support.
