Scouters Plan

Continued from page one) committeemen are asked to communicate with V. C. Mason at Laurel Hill on their needs for such training and their willingness to attend a three-day school that might be set up in some central location. This school would run for three consecutive nights for a three-hour class and then two weeks later a fourth night with a three-hour session. Twelve hours are necessary for credit on the course.

Those of us who know the scouting program are sure that one of the great needs among those who are serving as scoutmaster is for training in doing the job, and we feel sure that this school, which is the first of its kind to be offered to our workers, is an opportunity that we cannot afford to miss. We hope that all troop committees and scoutmasters will enter into it wholeheartedly.

Registration For Book 4 In October

Washington, Sept. 15—A nationwide registration for Ration Book No. 4—which the office of Price Administration (OPA) hopes will be the last ration book of the war—will be held within the last ten days of October.

An OPA spokesman, in disclosing plans today for distribution of the new set of coupons, said it was hoped the book would last three years, if necessary. It will be used in conjunction with book No. 3 and with glass or plastic tokens scheduled for distribution after Jan. 1.

The decision to hold another school-house registration, instead of distributing the book by mail as was done with No. 3, is based on OPA's desire to get the new coupons into use in November. The books will be passed out at the registration, saving time, labor and expense.

Exact dates and places of registration in each community will be determined by regional and local rationing officials.

AVA DIVORCES MICKY

Las Vegas, Nev., Sept. 15—Ava Gardner Rooney, 20-year-old wife of screen actor Mickey Rooney, has obtained a Nevada divorce.

Rooney and the former Wilson, N. C., girl were married Jan. 10, 1942, in Ballard, Calif., and separated a year later. Her Nevada decree and restoration of her maiden name were granted yesterday after a five-minute hearing.

Ryan McBryde attended a meeting of the state board of education in Raleigh last Thursday.

Canada's Women Keep 'Em Flying

UNIFORMED women of Canada's Army, Navy, Air Force, are jills of all trades, no job is too tough for these girls in service to release men for overseas duty.

The Battle Dress of Canadian women ranges from house dresses and business suits to overalls and service uniforms.

The number of women engaged directly or indirectly in war industries has increased from 85,000 in February, 1942, to 255,000. In the fiscal year ending March 31, 1944, war industries are expected to use 60,000 more women, and the armed forces an additional 24,000.

The youngest women's service organized to release men to more active duties, the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service, had attained 3,104 officers and ratings, and called up 2,396 by June 26, 1943, one year after its establishment.

Officer members of the W.R.C.N.S. now will hold the same rank titles as men in the R.C.N., and will be referred to as commander, lieutenant and sub-lieutenant instead of the previous counterpart, chief officer, first officer, second officer and third officer. The Canadian Women's Army Corps was the first women's service to use the same titles as men.

Formed in September, 1941, the Canadian Women's Army Corps has enlisted more than 11,500.

The first women's service, established in July, 1941, the Royal Canadian Air Force (Women's Division) had enlisted more than 12,300 by the end of June.

Women in nursing services uniforms totalled more than 2,414 at the end of June, with more than 1,714 in the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, 276 in the R.C.A.F. nursing service and 169 in the Canadian Navy nursing service. There are also 255 Canadian nurses serving with the South Africa military service.

There are 27 women doctors in Canadian services, four in the navy, 21 with the army, and 12 with the air force.
