

"We Are Buying War Bonds—Are You?"

Sgt. Carl Funk, 26, Cincinnati, lost his right eye and sustains a fractured left knee in Sicily. He has been buying War Bonds regularly. He will return to civil life as soon as he is discharged from Halloran Hospital, N. Y.

Pvt. Irwin Levinson, Baltimore, was struck by shrapnel in the left shoulder at Palermo. The fingers of his left hand are paralyzed. When his father asked if he needed anything, his son replied: "Buy War Bonds." His father bought $1,500 worth.

Pvt. Thomas DeBarossa, Trenton, N. J., 15th Infantry Patrol, was wounded by shrapnel at El Guitar, Africa, and now must wear a special brace for his left knee. He won the Purple Heart. He buys War Bonds regularly and urges you to.

Pvt. Donat Carter, Derry, N. H., suffered a fracture of the leg above the knee in Sicily when struck by an 88 mm. shell. He was held prisoner for two days by the Germans, traveling in a tank. He is a regular purchaser of War Bonds.

Pvt. William E. Morris, Long Beach, Cal., is above draft age but has seen three years of service. He lost his left leg below the knee in Tunisia. He wears the Purple Heart and Good Conduct Ribbon and continues his War Bond purchases.

Bad girl?

It wasn't so long ago that Mary was playing with dolls. Now she's playing with fire, and is perilously close to the flames.

The war has done this to Mary. Her father's reserve commission was called up and he went back in the army. Her mother, partly for something to fill the empty hours, partly because she wanted to make with her own hands some of the weapons with which her husband would fight, got a job in a war plant.

Mary was too young to get in the WACS or the WAVES or the Nurses' Corps. She was too young to get a job in a factory. The older girls looked down their noses at her when it came to invitations to the parties for service men. "Too much of a kid," they said.

Too much of a kid, eh! She'd show them. So...she is showing them. She's nose-diving toward trouble. She's out on the town. She's flirting with trouble that can wreck her whole life.

There are millions of youngsters like Mary, both boys and girls. They are the war orphans who are sending the JUVENILE DELINQUENCY rate up to heart-breaking heights.

You will help to keep fundamentally nice kids out of trouble when you give to your local united war fund campaign. That is one of the wise things about this fund. It is a sensible development to bring order into the raising of money for necessary war agencies and local agencies as well. It includes USO, China Relief, British War Relief, Russian Relief and others. It is combined with appeals for Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and other agencies which help the home front to function properly; to aid the local sick and destitute, to keep fundamentally nice kids out of trouble.

The dollars you give to your community's war fund, and through it to the National War Fund will go further than any other dollars you ever parted with. Their charity will begin at home; it will go to camps here in America; it will travel around the world. Give.

Give generously. Add up your total gifts—then double that total!

Jean Brooks aptly expresses the mood of "The Seventh Victim," in her make-up as shown herewith, she playing the title role in this new spine-chiller film from RKO Radio. She is hounded by a group of Devil worshippers, whose secrets she has betrayed. Tom Conway is featured as a psychiatrist.
