MISS ARIS SHANKLE AND MR. SWANSON ARE WED

On Sunday afternoon at 4:30 in the Raeford Baptist church, Miss Aris Shankle became the bride of George Albert Swanson. The ceremony, performed in the presence of a large gathering of friends, was one of charming simplicity and was most impressive.

The altar of the church was banked with long leaf pine and native greens. A pyramid formed from three seven-branched candelabra, holding lighted cathedral tapers, was in the center and immediately in front of this was a floor basket of white gladioli and swansonia. Lighted tapers were on the piano, and reserved pews were marked with bouquets of fern and swansonia tied with white satin ribbon.

The Rev. C. C. Burris, D. D., president of Wingate college and uncle of the bride, heard the vows. A program of nuptial music including "Liebestraum" and "Evening Star," was presented by Mrs. Arah Stuart, prior to the speaking of the vows. Miss Mary Benjamin Burris, soloist, of Wake Forest college and Wingate sang "Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "I Love You Truly." Mrs. Stuart played "Always" and "Traumerie." Immediately following the benediction, "O Perfect Love," was sung by Miss Fay Dark and Miss Janice Marie Benner.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Lt. Ivey H. Shankle, was attired in a suit of forget-me-not blue with which she wore black accessories. Her corsage was an orchid. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. J. D. McColl of Fayetteville, who was attired in a cocoa suit with brown accessories and wore a shoulder corsage of green orchids.

The bridegroom was attended by J. D. McColl as best man. J. E. Shankle and Burris Shankle, brothers of the bride, were ushers.

Mrs. Ivey H. Shankle, mother of the bride, was attired in navy blue with which she wore matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Swanson is the daughter of Mrs. Shankle and the late Ivey Hill Shankle of Raeford. After graduating from the Raeford high school, she attended Wingate Junior College and Wake Forest College where she received her degree. She also did graduate work at Peabody. For several years she has been a valuable and popular member of the Raeford school faculty. She has been most active in social and civic work and in the organizations of her church. Since the announcement of her engagement she has been the recipient of many delightful social courtesies. The groom is the son of Mrs. M. G. Swanson and the late Mr. Swanson of Tacoma, Washington. He makes his home with his mother on a ranch, but at present he holds an important position in defense work.

The couple left by train from Fayetteville on Tuesday from Tacoma, where they will make their home.

Punster

Fish stories and tales of "whoppers" are an old thing to Americans everywhere, but a new wrinkle has been developed by servicemen in the Pacific. They're built up rivalry about the size of giant mosquitoes that they've killed. They take prize-winning specimens, glue them to heavy paper, and exhibit them in contests at Red Cross clubs. Not long ago, one pretty Red Cross girl was amazed when a sailor arrived carrying an exhibit that made all the others look pretty skimpy. "What're you lookin' so surprised about?" he demanded. "Don't you know the 'fit's in'?"
