"Kitchen Clatter"

by Eloise Jenkins
Home Economist Lumber River Electric Membership Corporation

When spring breaks forth in all its glory and the days begin to get a little longer, the late afternoons find you housewives working in your yards and your children playing until the darkness drives all of you indoors. You immediately begin trying to think of the quickest way out of the kitchen. And the answer, of course, is the broiler of your electric range, for most broiler meals are ready in less than 30 minutes.

- Broiling is fast, healthful, convenient, and timesaving way of cooking food. And so easy, too! Just follow these simple steps:
1. Turn the oven regulator to "broil", and preheat for about 5 minutes.
 2. Place meat on rack of broiler pan, two to four inches from the broil unit, and leave the oven door ajar.
 3. Broil until the top side is brown. Season with salt and pepper.
 4. Turn and brown the other side.
 5. Season and serve at once. Meats may be broiled alone or with certain fruits and vegetables to make tasty and delicious whole meal combinations. Some fruits that may be broiled successfully are grapefruit, oranges, tomatoes, peaches, bananas, and pineapple. And here's a hint for you economy-wise housewives. Warm over your left-over vegetables in the broiler pan while you broil your meats, instead of using the surface unit. The drippings give your vegetables a delightful flavor too.

Give the following broiler meal a try some time.

1. Roll 3 spears of asparagus in each ham slice and fasten with a toothpick.
2. Place on broiler rack and broil until ham is brown.
3. Turn. Place peaches on rack and broil until peaches and ham are brown.
4. Re-heat lima beans or other cooked vegetables in broiler pan while ham and peaches are broiling.
5. Serve on buttered toast with cheese sauce.

Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World

Every year since 1946 the President of the United States has set aside one week each year to be observed as National Home Demonstration Week. This year, May 3rd marks the beginning of the week when thousands of home demonstration club members will be recognized for their achievements.

Fifty years ago the average "far heel" farm wife was pretty much confined to her own kitchen—she lived for her family, doing for them in the best way she knew how. Today's farm wife also lives for her family, but she also works to support her community, state and nation. She has been freed from her kitchen. Home demonstration has taught her how to do her daily household tasks more easily and with a minimum of time and effort spent. Today's rural homemaker has more leisure time, but she's learned how to use this time wisely. She reads widely, knows and appreciates good music, supports county and state affairs.

The home demonstration movement began about 50 years ago when Extension pioneer Dr. Seaman A. Knapp said, "The home eventually controls the viewpoint of a man; and you may do all that you've a mind to in schools, but unless you reach in and get hold of that home and change its conditions, you are nullifying the uplift of the school. We are reaching for the home."

As an outgrowth of Dr. Knapp's philosophy, the home demonstration program was born. On May 3, nearly 43 years after the organization of the home demonstration clubs, nearly 5 1-2 million home demonstration club women will join hands around the world to celebrate National Home Demonstration Week 1953.

PARTY REFRESHMENTS FOR APRIL FOOLS DAY

April Fool's Day has to be lived up to. It's the one day in the year when most everyone expects the unexpected, and anything less is a disappointment. Surprises, of course, need not be unpleasant like salt in the sugar bowl or chocolate-covered onions. The surprises tucked in the following recipes are exceedingly pleasant. Keep them in mind for the first day of April.

SURPRISE MEAT DEVILS

2 cups corn flakes, 1-2 cup milk, 1 pound ground beef, 1 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper.

Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Combine ground beef, milk, salt and pepper. Mix well. Shape into 12 thin patties 4 inches in diameter, 1-8 to 1-4 inch thick.
