GARDEN TIME

It will soon be strawberry time in the garden. At the same time this is the last call for planting strawberries for next year's crop—if you are planning to build up a matted row or close bed. Good plant materials such as the Massey and Albritton varieties may be set 24 to 30 inches apart in rows 3½ to four feet apart and will give a good stand of plants if they have sufficient moisture.

Apply one-half gallon of an 8-8-8 fertilizer per 100 feet of row about 10 days before planting and thoroughly mix with the soil. In the maintain area the ever-bearing strawberries are popular because they bear a crop of berries during the late summer at the height of the tourist season. The Superfection, Mastodon, and Red Rich are suggested ever-bearing varieties. In order to get a good summer crop of berries from ever-bearing varieties it is necessary to pinch off the early spring blooms. Otherwise, the spring crop will be fairly good and there will be some late fall berries but no continuous crop during the late summer. Everbearers are not recommended for eastern North Carolina.

In the eastern part of the state it is time to put a mulch on the established strawberry bed. This mulch is usually of pine straw but it may be of any short straw or material. All the space between the plants and between the rows should be covered with the mulch. The chief purpose of the mulch is not to protect the blooms and berries from cold but to keep them from getting sandy and to keep them up off the wet soil so that they are not so apt to rot.

HD Women To Sponsor Workshops On Citizenship

Two home demonstration sponsored citizenship workshops will be held the first week in March in eastern North Carolina. These two symposiums were planned by the 17 women's organizations who sponsored the Fourth Annual Conference on World Affairs held recently in Chapel Hill.

The purpose of the district citizenship meetings is to acquaint more persons with their responsibilities as good citizens and to extend further the information offered at the Chapel Hill meeting.

Mrs. George F. Roberts, consultant to the United Nations Economic and Social Council for the Associated Country Women of the World, will be guest speaker at both workshops.

The first of the two meetings will be held on the campus of East Carolina College in Greenville on Monday, March 1. The second program will be held on Tuesday, March 2, at Pineland College, Salemburg.

Mrs. L. B. Pate of New Bern, state home demonstration citizenship chairman, and Mrs. J. P. Turlington of Salemburg, state home demonstration international relations chairman, announce that both meetings are open to the public. They have asked all organizations carrying citizenship or international relations projects to send their representatives to the meetings.

Arising from the meeting will be suggested procedures for developing more active citizens in both the rural and urban communities of North Carolina, according to Mrs. Pate and Mrs. Turlington.

HOMEMAKERS HINTS TO FARM STATE COLLEGE

PENNY SAVERS — Buy foods in quantity, if possible. For example, when buying apples for baking, plan to use them in other meals in different forms, like apple salads, fried apple rings, and apple betty.

Buy government inspected meat with a purple inspection stamp. This stamp is required on all meat shipped across state lines. Meat grades include Prime, Good, Choice, Commercial and Utility.

In general, the less expensive cuts and lower grades will be the best buy if properly cooked—but choose carefully. Cheaper cuts may prove more costly in the long run if they contain too much fat or bone. When buying ungraded beef, check to see that the lean meat is light red, velvety-appearing and liberally veined with fat.

Buy breads, flour and cereals only if "enriched" or "restored" or "whole grain" is printed on the labels. They cost no more and add extra B vitamins and minerals to the diet.

Buy "cash-and-carry" to save the extra cost of credit or delivery charges.

Buy foods by weight rather than bulk measure or count whenever possible. Check scale to be sure the indicator is on zero before food is weighed.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture is reportedly considering raising some of its price support grain in view of the Maritime Commission's "methanol fuel."
