Addenda

By The Editor

This column is really and truly "addenda" this week, as there are several items still uncovered and the rest of the paper is full, for some reason.

Elections of the ASC committees will be held in eight communities of the county on October 2. Those elected will also serve as delegates to the county ASC convention and elect the county committee. There will be voting in Allendale, Antioch, Blue Springs, Wayside, Rockfish, Quewhiffle, Raeford and Stonewall. Voting places and nominees for the committees will be printed next week.

These committees are important to farmers, because they are responsible for local administration of the many phases of the ASC program, such as the soil bank, crop allotments, price supports, the agricultural conservation program, storage facility loans, and others.

Sitting quietly behind the driver of a Greyhound bus when it arrived here Friday morning shortly before 3:00 o'clock was Ollie Elmo Maynor, white, 44, of Durham. So quite, in fact, was he that the driver's investigation with the help of Raeford Policeman Henry Hudson determined that he was dead.

He had got on the bus in Miami, but passengers remembered that he had been alive in Florence. He had died quite peacefully, as he was in a position of repose, with his legs still crossed, when noticed, and the driver had heard nothing to make him notice him.

Contribution to The News-Journal Cemetery Fund in the amount of $5 was made this week by J. B. Cameron.

A & P Super Market here is a new member of the Raeford Chamber of Commerce as a result of the recent drive, Phil Rieg, Chamber manager, reported today.

Watershed Plan To Be Discussed At Meeting Here

Two meetings in this area will give local people a chance to show their interest in the watershed project for Raft Swamp, Lumber Diver, and Drowning Creek. The first of the two meetings will be held in Lumberton, September 23, at the county agriculture building at 10:00 a.m. On the following day, September 24, a meeting will be held in Raeford at the courthouse at 9:00 a.m.

Furman Clark, of the Soil Conservation Service, said a number of local people planned to attend the meeting here. The officials of the Service and the county supervisors will attend both the area meetings.

Following each meeting there will be an inspection tour of the area to be included in the watershed project.

R. M. Dailey, deputy state geologist, will be on hand to direct the activities. County commissioners are expected also.

The speed with which the project gets underway an dis carried out depends largely on the local interest shown, Clark stated. He added that this makes it important that all people who are interested or own land in the area be on hand for the meeting here.

The Lumberton meet is for the Raft Swamp and Lumber River section; the Raeford meeting is for the Drowning Creek Lumber River section.

Miss Catherine Pierce entered the freshman class at the UNC Nursing School last Thursday.

The budget and admissions committee of the Hoke County United Fund met this week and set a goal for the 1958 United Campaign in the county of $12,000.

At another meeting of the general campaign committee, the task of raising the budget was accepted, and dates for the drive were set for October 7 through October 23.

The Budget and Admissions committee, consisting of A. H. McPhaul, chairman, R. B. Lewis, C. D. Bostic, Ralph Plummer and Sam Homewood, accepted the requests for 21 different agencies and items which the committee considered have a legitimate appeal for financial support from the people of the county. This is the broadest participation of agencies in the five years the Fund has existed here, and the goal exceeds that of last year by almost 50 per cent. Goal last year was $8325.50, of which 95 per cent was raised and paid to the participating agencies.

The general campaign committee, consisting of the chairmen of the five appeals division of the fund, the chairman of the publicity and information committee and the general campaign chairman, accepted the goal and laid plans for organizing the campaign groups and teams in their respective divisions.

Members of the committee, with Paul Dikson as general chairman, are John Morgan and Tom Cameron as co-chairmen of the Industrial Division, Carlton Niven as chairman of the Commercial Division, Sam Morris as chairman of the Public Employee Division, Dr. Julius Jordan as chairman of the Professional and Individual Subscribers Division, and M. D. Yates as chairman of the County Areas Division.

J. W. McPhaul, chairman of the publicity and information committee, met with the general committee for the initial planning, and met again with his committee later to make plans for informing the public of the progress in organizing the various divisions and for preparing displays for the Fund Headquarters. Serving with McPhaul are J. E. Byrd, W. B. Heyward, John Draughon and Jack Latkowski.

Items included in the approved budget of the fund will be explained in detail as the drive dates approach. The list includes United Service Organizations (USO) $227, Florence Crittenton Home $105.38, Children's Home Society $22.30, International Social Service $6, United Medical Research Foundation of North Carolina $181.60, N.
