Cotton Referendum To Be Held In December

The period December 2 through December 6 has been set for the marketing quota referendum for the 1969 crop of upland cotton. Thomas R. Burgess, Office Manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said this week.

The vote will be held by mail, as it has been for the past 2 years. Notices of farm acreage allotments will be mailed to operators of cotton farms prior to the referendum. If quotas are approved by at least two-thirds of the upland cotton growers voting, the program under which payments are made to cooperators will be in effect.

While all details of the upland cotton program will not be announced until after the November 8 crop report of the Agriculture Department, the farm domestic allotment has already been set at 65% (percent) of the farm acreage allotment.

Farmers who sign up early next spring to participate in the upland cotton program and who plant at least 90 percent of their farm's domestic acreage allotment but not in excess of the permitted acreage for the farm will be eligible for price-support loans on all their cotton crop and for price-support payments based on the projected yield and the farm domestic allotment.

Upland cotton projected yields — used to determine cotton program payments — vary by individual farms, based on county and State average yields. State yields are based on 1963-67 harvested yields, adjusted for abnormal weather conditions, for trends, and for changes in production practices. The State projected yields average out to the national yield of 545 pounds per acre. North Carolina's projected yield is 398 pounds per acre.
