Kings Point Industries Present Scholarships

Joseph Gurwin, president of Kings Point Industries, New York, has announced the winners of the four annual Kings Point Scholarships, three of which went to employees of the Fayetteville Plant.

The three Fayetteville area men receiving scholarships were: Grady L. Peeler, Jr. of Raeford, for his son, Ronald, who will be entering UNC at Chapel Hill; Timothy Workman of Hope Mills, for his son, Kenneth, who will be entering Auto-Diesel College in Nashville, Tennessee; and Melvin Britt of Fayetteville, for his son, Roland, who will enter Mars Hill College. The fourth Kings Point scholarship was awarded to Mrs. Stella Caserta of New York.

The four scholarships awarded each year by Kings Point Industries go to the four most valuable employees who have college-age children. The value of the employee is determined by his all around contribution to the company, including his ability, length of service, and dedication to his job.

Each scholarship covers the full cost of books and tuition at the college of the recipient's choice and covers a four year period of study.

Mr. Peeler is warehouse supervisor at the Fayetteville Plant and Mr. Workman and Mr. Britt are sewing machine mechanics.

Kings Point furnishes summer work for all of the scholarship students, and wherever possible, other students over 16 years of age. This year three Hoke High students are working in the Fayetteville plant. They are: Ronnie Peeler, Steve Plummer, and Jim Plummer. Approximately thirty persons living in Hoke County are employed at Kings Point on a full time basis.

The Britt boy is a graduate of 71st High School and the Workman boy graduated from Hope Mills High.
