Raeford Dance Class Recital Slated May 14

On Friday, May 14, at 7:30 p.m. the Raeford Dance Class will perform in its annual recital at Upchurch Junior High School auditorium. The program, announced Mrs. Sara White who is instructor and choreographer, will be a combination of jazz, tap and ballet dances.

Mrs. White, co-artistic director of the Fayetteville Dance Theatre, was for eleven years the soloist dancer with the Atlanta Ballet, the Macon Ballet and the Springer Ballet. She has had ten years teaching experience in Georgia, Kansas, Seoul, Korea, and North Carolina. For the past three years she has commuted to Raeford to conduct weekly classes.

The Raeford recital will include 31 student dancers from Hoke County and a few writing dancers from the Fayetteville Dance Theatre. The Raeford performers are: Jennifer Baker, Keith Bennett, Karen Boyles, Elizabeth Calhoun, Brooke Campbell, Carol Colston, Dayna Edwards, Stephanie Elliott, Cindy Ellis, Linda Glisson, Robyn Hardin, Kimberly Holcomb, Brook Huff, Susan Jackson, Anita Lentz, Sandy Lentz, Jennifer McClendon, Sally McLean, Laura McNeal, Leslie Madden, Audy Molchan, Beth Molehan, Christy Parks, Wendy Parks, Stephanie Phillips, Stacey Price, Holly Scarborough, Amy Smith, Tonya Townsend, Meredith Warren and Wendy Wood.

Tickets, available at the Upchurch auditorium door the night of the recital, will be $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for children. Girl and Boy Scouts in uniform will be admitted free of charge.

Mrs. Barnard Attends District Meeting

Mrs. Polly Barnard, Welcome Wagon Hostess of Raeford and Hoke County, attended the quarterly District Meeting Thursday in the conference room at Cross Creek Mall in Fayetteville.

Mrs. Theresa Morrison, district field manager from Charlotte, and Mrs. Edna Rumberg, regional manager from Roanoke, Va., attended.

Fourteen hostesses from the district attended, which includes Sanford, Dunn, Whiteville, Fort Bragg, Fayetteville, Laurinburg, Southern Pines, Pinehurst and Raeford. Each hostess was present a gift of appreciation, and several service awards and certificates were presented.

Mrs. Ruth Wicker of Whiteville received her diamond pin for 20 years of service.

The meeting was called to order at 9:30 a.m. and recessed at noon for an hour for lunch at Morrisons Cafeteria.

After lunch a short talk by the district field manager was given, and an open discussion was led.

Suggestions were heard on how to make Welcome Wagon Service more helpful in each unit.

Teachers' Problems, Politics Discussed

The North Carolina Association of Educators held a communications workshop in Raleigh April 23-24.

Problems related to the teaching profession and educators were discussed by the NCAE staff and speakers from various types of news media: Frosty Troy, editor of the Oklahoma Observer, Donna Jones of WRAL radio, Debra Craig-Ray of WPTF-TV, and David Lauderdale of the Raleigh Times.

Troy, who considers himself a "moderate" told his audience that his newspaper's motto is, "Comfort the afflicted--afflict the comfortable." He said that it is up to the teachers to stand up for themselves because "nobody saves teachers but teachers. Everything America is or hopes to be, takes place in the classroom."

He tried to stress the importance of politics in this country and having people in office who will work for you. "Nothing in this country has ever been accomplished except politically. I don't know why it's so hard to convince teachers to be political," Troy said.

Troy is against the tuition-tax shelters for what he calls the "little Christian academies." He said that such men as Oral Roberts are trying to "close public schools and go back to the 'good ole days.'" He said that if tuition-tax credits pass, the government would be spending money for that "narrow, bigoted attitude. (There might be) one or two token minorities (admitted), usually children of doctors or lawyers."

He called Ronald Reagan "George Wallace with a smile;... who is helping to resegregate America" and quoted Mark Twain by saying, "Congress is America's only native criminal class."

Troy told the group, "Teachers, don't get mad, get even. If there's too much bureaucracy, fire the boss," and jokingly added a "school superintendent is a coach that had a bad season."

On the subject of class discipline he said "It requires discipline to learn. The only place I believe in an absolute dictatorship is in the classroom."

Jones, Craig-Ray, and Lauderdale said that teachers are afraid to speak out because its called "un-professional" and they find themselves "raked over the coals" by administrators. Craig-Ray said it's almost impossible to interview teachers on the job because of the red tape.

Barry Abel, NEA staff member, summed up the workshop by saying, "Those who cry out against us for lobbying and our politics, are the very ones who spend the most on lobbying and their politics to get what they want."

Turlington PAC People In Fayetteville Meet

Several members of the Parents Advisory Council at J.W. Turlington School have been invited to make a council presentation on May 6 at the Belk Store conference room at Cross Creek Mall.

Mrs. Nadine Ellerbe and Miss Annie Harris will give the presentation. The PAC of Turlington will represent Hoke County and the other PACs in the county.

A Parents Advisory Councils made up of parents of disadvantaged children who require special help in reading, and of school staff members representing the regular and special programs.

The funds for this program are furnished by the government under ESEA Title I. The principal goals of PAC are to awaken an awareness of the special needs of the child directly to the parent; henceforth, the parent can work along with the teachers to bring out the best potential in the child.

Pin-pointing the exact area where the child needs help bring a more concentrated effort on the part of the parent and teacher, thereby being more effective with the cause.

The involvements of the PAC, has been voluntary work by parents to assist reading teachers and also working with the Hoke Reading Literacy Council.

The PAC has also been involved in ways parents can help children succeed in school and social adjustment.

Council Lets Paving Audit Contracts

The Raeford City Council Monday night voted to grant accounting and street-resurfacing contracts and appointed two people to the City Planning Board.

Pittard & Perry of Raeford was granted the auditing contract after Frank Baker of the firm said he would meet the lowest bid of $2,250. This and the fact that Pittard & Perry is a local business were the primary reasons for the council's adopting the motion to accept the firm's bid. Pittard & Perry originally had submitted a bid of $3,050. The other of the three bids filed was for $3,000, from a Southern Pines firm. A Red Springs company had offered to do the work for $2,250.

Pittard & Perry has been doing the city government's auditing, and also has handled the Hoke County government's work.

The paving contract was led to Riley Paving Co. of Carthage, which had submitted the lowest of the three bids received. The bid was on resurfacing Jackson Street from Central Avenue to East Prospect Avenue, and Dickson Street from Harris Avenue to West Prospect Avenue.

The council adopted motions appointing Mrs. Norma (Avery) Connell and L.S. Brock, subject to Brock's accepting the appointment to the Planning Board. Mrs. Connell was named a member for the area in the one-mile zoning section adjoining the city limits, and Brock as a member for the area within the city limits.
