

Raeford Youths Took Washington Tour

Nadine Tamiko Wadsworth and Tony Gene Barefoot of Raeford joined 31 other young North Carolinians for the 1982 Rural Electric Youth Tour to Washington, D.C., June 12-18.

They represented Lumbee River Electric Membership Corporation, headquartered in Red Springs, on the expense-paid trip.

The group joined approximately 700 young people from 26 states for the tour of the nation's capital city.

During their stay, the Youth Tourists had individual appointments with their congressmen and attended a performance at the Kennedy Center.

Among the points of interest they visited in the Washington area were Arlington National Cemetery, the White House, the Embassy of Japan, the Smithsonian Institution, the National Zoo, the Library of Congress, the J. Edgar Hoover FBI Building and other government agencies.

Theatre Productions Set

The Hoke County school system and the Hoke County Arts Council are co-sponsoring two Summer Youth Theatre productions, one for intermediate school students, rising Fifth and Eighth graders, and one for high school students, rising Ninth through 12th graders.

Performance dates are tentatively scheduled for the first week in August.

The director of these productions is Pat Yates of Southern Pines. Yates received her Bachelor of Science degree in Theatre Arts from East Carolina University in 1976. She has been employed by the Moore County schools as the director of Theatre Arts program at Pinecrest High School. She has worked with children's theatre through the Southern Pines Recreation Department and was last year's first director of the Sandhills Arts Council's Youth Theatre production of "Bus Stop." Since her arrival in the Sandhills over five years ago she has directed over 30 youth theatre projects, including the Picquet Festival productions of "Oliver!" and "Brigadoon."

The Hoke productions for August will consist of vocal music, movement, and dramatic presentation skills. Auditions for these productions will be held at Upchurch Junior High School on Wednesday, July 7, from 9 a.m. to noon for intermediate students, and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. for high school students. Further auditions will be held on Thursday, July 8, from 9 a.m. to noon for high school students and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. for intermediate students.

Students are asked to report to the facility any time during these hours dressed in comfortable clothes for movement -- tennis or lightweight shoes and jeans or sweatpants.

Approximately 20 to 30 students will be accepted for performance on each level. Chosen students participating in the performance will be asked to pay an $8 program fee as a production commitment incentive.

Students will be chosen for participation in this program entirely on merit. Formal training, past theatre experience, and related arts experience will be helpful but de-emphasized. Auditionees will be cast on audition and interview strengths only.

The skills areas for private audition/interview are vocal music, movement, dance, gymnastics/acrobatics, acting, dramatic speech, visual art, electric, carpentry, and costume design. Students with one or any combination of these skills are welcomed for auditions.

If you are interested in technical work only and not performance you will simply need to fill out a form and submit to a brief interview.

If you are interested in performance there is a three-part audition. The first part is an audition of vocal music skills. The music director will ask you to sing a simple vowel to establish your vocal range -- how high you can sing and how low you can sing. If you are able to bring the sheet music for a formal vocal performance an accompanist will be provided. Those students without a prepared vocal selection will be given a variety of well-known songs to choose from for singing.

The second part consists of a movement audition. The student will be shown a simple dance step and asked to duplicate it. The third part of the audition will consist of a reading of dramatic material. The readings will be available at the front desk at auditions for perusal before audition. The general qualities desired in audition are energy, enjoyment of material, a feeling for the material, and an ability to communicate a variety of emotions.

All castings will be comparative. The best students in any given field will be selected. Students new to the arts, new to theatre and performance are urged to attend. There are no experienced old hands or experts in the field as there has never been a program such as this before. There are absolutely no past experience or training skills required except interest and a desire to perform.

Student responsibilities for production will be outlined at auditions. Students will need a significant amount of free time on a daily week day basis. Students will be responsible for some costuming and transportation to all rehearsals and performances.

This is an extraordinary and unprecedented opportunity for Hoke County students. If successful, it is hoped that the Youth Summer Theatre will become an established, yearly event. The support of all area parents and citizens is appreciated.
