

A lesson in newspaper writing

Members of Ethelyn Baker's third-grade West Hoke School class scan a recent edition of The News Journal as part of their participation in Newspaper in Education Week. As part of their studies, the students received first-hand information from News-Journal Editor Warren

Johnston. The students learned about the "rewarding and exciting" experiences of the newspaper business. Louise Barnwell's third-grade class were guests during the presentation.

Nominees being sought for volunteer awards

Emma Mims was recently appointed by the Hoke County Commission as Chairman of the Community Involvement Committee. Individuals and groups are being encouraged to search out and nominate deserving persons who have volunteered their services to the community.

Later in the spring Governor James B. Hunt Jr. will present awards to Community Volunteers in the following 11 categories:

- Individual Human Service Volunteer.
- Individual Community Volunteer Leader.
- Administrator/Coordinator of Volunteers.
- Youth Volunteer.
- Senior Citizen Volunteer
- Disabled Person Volunteer
- School Volunteer
- One-on-One Volunteer.
- Community Volunteer Organization
- Church/Religious Volunteer Group
- Business/Industry Volunteer Involvement.

Emma Mims

Sarah Leach was appointed Recognitions Chairman for the Committee.

Mims and Leach attended a Leadership workshop sponsored by the Governor's office on Tuesday.

The purpose of the workshop was to review the successes of the Councils, identify the challenges for the future, and plan how to strengthen citizen participation and volunteerism in each County.

Gatlin receives Scholars Grant

Susanna Gatlin, a senior at Christ Church Episcopal School in Greenville, South Carolina has been awarded a Younger Scholars Grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

The $1,800 grant will be used to study Charleston, South Carolina, theatre in the 18th century.

Gatlin is one of only two high school students in the United States to be selected for this honor.

Sixty-seven college students also received Younger Scholars Grants in 1984, the program's first year of operation.

Most of Gatlin's research for the nine-week project will take place in the library at Furman University in Greenville, but she will also visit Charleston. Her supervisor for the project will be Dr. Philip Hill, chairman of the Furman drama department.

Gatlin is the daughter of Dr. Judith Gatlin, director of educational services at Furman, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Gatlin, Jr. of Raeford.

"I take the same care with animals that Block takes with taxes."

"I know I'm in good hands when Block prepares my tax return. My preparer goes to school every year to get special training. And she does taxes hundred of times. Training and experience - that's what makes you good at your job. I'll care for the animals and let Block take care of my taxes."
