GED graduates guests at luncheon

A luncheon sponsored by the faculty and staff of Sandhills Community College Adult Education Center in Hoke County was held Wednesday, July 11, 1984 at the Hoke County Public Library in honor of the 30 GED Graduates of Hoke County.

Eddie B. Coleman of Troy, N.C., former Director of the Adult Education Program at Sandhills Community College was guest speaker.

The 1983-84 Hoke County GED Graduates are as following:

Joyce Buchanan, Stella Bullard, Jackie Butler, Ruth Christine Carter, Gloria Chavis, Deborah Dial, Lora Francis, Elaine Goins, Tim Guins, Annette Hargrove, Anthony Henderson, Brenda Jacobs, Louise Jarrell, Virginia Klumb, Mary Lamb, Khadijah Lindsey, Cynthia Locklear, Elisa Sue Locklear, Learie Lowery, Constance Maroney, Dorothy McNair, Della Parker, Vonnie Bullard Roper, Patricia Simmons, Cheryl Steward, Laurie Stocks, Elizabeth Turberville, Rosa Woods, William Wrench.

Man of the year
Raeford's Smid Peterkin was given the honor of being "Man of the Year" by the area group of Scottish Rite of Free Masons.

A little history
The state has given the Hoke County Public Library a $5,000 grant to put a microfilm reader-printer in the history room. The machine will help anyone who wants to read and copy any of the microfilm at the facility. The library has many publications on microfilm including most past issues of The News-Journal. Located in the history room are also many other

North Carolina publications such as We The People of North Carolina and The North Carolina Historical Review. The staff at the library is trying to get a full set of Hoke High yearbooks that will be placed in the history room. Librarian Elizabeth Burgess is asking that anyone wishing to donate old copies please contact her.

Summer program winding down

By Elizabeth Burgess
The Summer Reading Program is coming to a close. We have enjoyed having so many young people reading so many books during the summer. We have been blessed with marvelous community support.

Mrs. Laurie McEachern entertained the children on July 9, with interesting stories and facts concerning Hoke County and Raeford. She brought with her various items that had been in her possession for a number of years and allowed each child to have an opportunity to handle each item. We certainly appreciate Mrs. McEachern giving the library and the children her time and knowledge.

On July 16, the children created collages depicting special places and special events that are interesting to North Carolina residents.

The collages are on display in the foyer of the library. The older group did a quilt. Each child was given a quilt square to color. Betsy McNeill and Betty Barnhart sewed the squares together and formed a most attractive quilt. It is on display in the periodical section of the library. We are proud of the work of each child.

On July 23, Olive Jenkins,

Harpest, and Yvonne Snead, local craftswoman, demonstrated their crafts to the children and explained exactly what was involved in becoming proficient in their art.

Each child had a chance to play the harp and paint a portion of a ceramic item. It was a hands-on experience for the young readers. We thank Olive and Yvonne for being with us.

July 30, was the last meeting of the Summer Reading Program. The children were entertained by Miriam McNeill, music instructor for the Hoke County School System and Lindy Howard, guitarist. The children learned some songs that are favorite North Carolina tunes and some new ones. We thank Miriam and Lindy. We enjoyed listening to them.

The movie Friday night is THE GOLD BUG which is based on the short story by Edgar Allan Poe. It is about a young boy on a supposedly deserted island who finds a gold bug and a piece of paper containing a secret code. He encounters a crazed old man and his towering mute servant who are searching for Captain Kidd's buried treasure.

The movie will begin at 7 and will last 30 minutes. Please come. We would love to have you.
