

New services
Thanks to two new "earth stations" or satellite dishes, Alert Cablevision will soon be offering expanded service to Raeford. Although the line-up for the expanded service has not been fully decided, the cable service will also be offering The Playboy Channel and The Movie Channel as optional premium programming. Also offered with the new service will be options for wired and wireless remote control units. Here, Alert Cablevision General Manager Harrison Daniels checks out the system's two new dishes.

Library hours changed for fall

By Elizabeth Burgess
Library hours have changed for the fall, winter, and spring seasons. The new hours are as follows:

- Monday - 8:30 - 5:30
- Tuesday - 8:30 - 8:00
- Wednesday - 8:30 - 5:30
- Thursday - 8:30 - 8:00
- Friday - 8:00 - 4:00
- Saturday - 8:30 - 12:30

It is hoped that opening two nights will encourage many to use the library more for research and study.

Students are invited to come and allow the library staff to assist with homework assignments and reports. We also hope to continue to see families use the library during the evening hours as they did during the summer.

If you are interested in using the conference room, history room, or any other space in the library for a meeting, please call the library to reserve a time and day.

The calendar is getting full, and we want to offer the rooms to the community to use at their convenience.

Mrs. Betsy McNeill will be resuming the story hours in the library and in the schools September 17.

Literacy group gives accolades during celebration held Sunday

Hoke Reading/Literacy Council honored Bobby Peterkin as "Student of the Year", Anna Jordan as "Tutor of the Year" and the Central Office Staff of Hoke Board of Education received the 1984 Appreciation Award.

Certificates of Appreciation were also given to Senator David Parnell, Representatives Danny DeVane, John Hasty and Sidney Locks for their successful efforts in obtaining funds for the local council from the "Pork Barrel."

The celebration was held at McLauchlin Chapel Church on Sunday where representative Locks was the guest speaker.

In speaking Locks shared his personal experiences as a Laubach Tutor and encouraged support saying that "every nickle given to literacy is well worth it."

"Hoke County nor North Carolina is unique in the problems of illiteracy" Locks said. "But it is a solvable problem."

Hoke Reading/Literacy Council's chairman, Ken Witherspoon said while it was possible that many attended the celebration to hear Representative Locks, he believes that awareness is bringing about involvement.

"$ for Literacy" chairman, Nellie Flowers attested to the latter part of Witherspoon's statement and reported $1398.28 for the recent drive.

Mrs. Flowers said that a few canvassers had not reported, but felt when all funds were in the drive would go over $1,500. She expressed sincere thanks to those who worked and donated to the literacy cause.

For more information about the Literacy Council call 875-2145.
