In that precinct, 799 voters out of 1,239 registered marked ballots.

In other races, Hoke County maintained its record of going for Democratic Party candidates.

Unlike the state and nation, all of that party's slate were victorious in Hoke County.

Incumbent Congressman William G. Hefner was successful in carrying Hoke County and narrowly defeating Republican Harris Blake for the Eighth Congressional District seat.

Hefner carried Hoke County in better than a two-to-one margin, garnering 3,669 votes to Blake's 1,600.

With 222 of 223 precincts reporting on Wednesday, Hefner had received 99,443 votes to Blake's 94,841.

In other races, Hoke County was one of the bright spots for Democrat Walter Mondale. Mondale and running mate Geraldine Ferraro captured the Hoke County tally with 3,213 votes to President Ronald Reagan's 2,449.

Governor Jim Hunt also carried Hoke County in his unsuccessful bid to unseat incumbent Sen. Jesse Helms.

Hunt received 3,655 votes to Helm's 1,913.

In the race for governor, Rufus Edmisten failed to carry the state against Republican Congressman Jim Martin, but he did win Hoke County 3,734 votes to Martin's 1,800.

Lt. Governor-elect Bob Jordan had a wider margin in the county than most major statewide candidates.

Jordan received 3,805 to 1,108 for Republican challenger John Carrington.

Although they did not win any races in the county, Republicans picked up cross-over votes in every race.

Democratic candidate Lacy Thornburg out polled his opponent here almost 3 to 1 in his bid for state Attorney General.

The former Superior Court judge carried Hoke County 3,996 to 1,103 on his way to winning a statewide victory.

Only 487 Republican's are registered in the county, but all major candidates of that party received more than 1,000 votes.

In the balloting Tuesday, about 5,748 voters out of the 9,050 registered went to the polls in Hoke County.

Every precinct, except Blue Springs, had better than a 50% turnout.

In Blue Springs, 49% of those registered voted.

Democratic state House of Representatives candidates Danny DeVane, Sidney Locks and Pete Hasty, along with state Sen. David Parnell were unopposed in their bids Tuesday for re-election.

Hoke County Commissioners Wyatt Upchurch and Neil McPhatter also received rubber stamps from the local voters.

Couple busted for pot

By Ed Miller

A Raeford couple were arrested Friday and charged with possession of marijuana with intent to sell and distribute, according to Hoke County Sheriff's Detective Ed Harris.

Favien McPhaul, also known as Sambo, 36, and Mary Jane Cobb, 33, were also charged with maintaining a dwelling for purposes of selling and delivering controlled substances.

A search warrant was obtained from Magistrate John A. Willis for the house in the Scrublock community, Harris said.

McPhaul lives at Rt. 2, Box 4952 A, in Raeford, according to the detective.

McPhaul and Cobb were placed in jail under $10,000 bond each, but that bond was posted the same day, Harris said.

Detectives Harris and Weaver Patterson confiscated "a quantity of marijuana and some money" in the bust along with some pieces of drug paraphernalia.

Break-ins plague county

County residents were plagued by five break-ins last week and the loss of more than $5,000 in goods, Hoke County Sheriff's Department records show.

Tommy Stevens reported his house was robbed last Wednesday of a video cassette tape recorder and some wedding rings.

The rings were valued at $1,000 while the video recorder was worth $800, sheriff's reports say.

According to reports, intruders entered the house through a living room window.

On October 28, the home of Clarence Davis was entered through a bathroom window.

Taken from the home were two television sets, a stereo, a water pump, the stove and other items totalling $1,985, reports say.

Neighbors of the residence say they saw a truck leaving the home, reports say.

The construction site of the soon to be Butler Funeral Home was robbed of $649 worth of building materials and doors, according to a report by Thaddeus L. Butler.

Apparent thieves entered the site by taking doors and casings off their frames, reports say.

The incident occurred on October 28.

Upon the arrival of Dwight Oxendine at his home last Wednesday, the man found that his home had been entered and his wife's jewelry box plundered and pillaged.

Over $750 in jewelry was taken, according to reports.

The home was entered via the back door by breaking out the door's window.

In other crime, Patricia Bradley, of Pinebluff, reported her husband's car robbed and burned after it was left along a Hoke County road.

According to reports, the car was left on the side of the road at about 6 a.m. after it broke down while the occupant was enroute to Ft. Bragg.

At 11 p.m. on the same day, the car was found burning, reports say.

Found in a field near the burning mass was a tool box from the car with about $100 in tools in it.

Taken and still missing after the October 24 incident was an accessory gear worth about $350, the license plates and the car's stereo.

Damage to the 1973 Pontiac Catalina was estimated at $1,500, according to reports.

Enjoying dinner
These employees seem to be enjoying a steak dinner served when Burlington Menswear Dyeing Plant recently celebrated four million safe workhours without a lost time accident. The last lost time accident at the Dyeing Plant occurred in November, 1979. Festivities included an "All You Can Eat Ice Cream Dipping" and the steak dinner.

Cancer Society Jail-a-thon set for Thurs.

Prisoners are wanted. They can be bosses, employees, husbands, wives or just anybody who can walk into or be carried into "jail."

This is to fill the Jail-A-Thon, which the Hoke County Unit of the American Cancer Society will stage November 8 from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Main Street.

If you have a favorite "outlaw" you can have him arrested by an off-duty officer. Your outlaw must then raise bond to be released.

To turn in your outlaw, call 875-3738.

All proceeds from the JAT will go to the American Cancer Society.
