

Education week sparks activities for J.W. Turlington school pupils

J.W. Turlington School observed American Education Week with a variety of activities. A hall display contained drawings by students with the caption "With My Education I Can Be..." The students drew pictures of what they would like to do when they finish school. During the week parents volunteered their time to help with classes. On Friday the entire school participated in a school-wide read-in.

The highlight of the week was an essay contest. Students were asked to write on "The Importance of Education." The winning essay was written by Kelvin Ferguson in Mrs. Brenda Smith's class. The third place winner was Lisa King in Mrs. Taylor's class. The winning essay by Kelvin Ferguson follows: The Importance of Education "Education is important to me, because it is easier to go to college and to get a job. A good education can go a long way, but in order to get an education, you have to study real hard to get good grades. If you have a good education, you can be what you always dreamed of being. Maybe with a good education, you can learn and teach other people when you get older. "Education may be the best thing a person could have. With a good education, you can do many different things. An education is like your shadow - it will follow you wherever you go. It will never leave you if you take good care of it.

"An education is like a best friend. It will always be there when you need it. So study hard to get a good education, and you will grow up to be somebody important. This is why education is important to me." Parent meeting held A meeting was held Thursday, November 15 for the parents of students in the E.C.I.A. Chapter 1 Reading Program at Turlington. The principal, Emma Mims, welcomed the parents and introduced the faculty members who teach in the program. Chapter 1 reading teachers, Mrs. Faye Best, Mrs. Betty Upchurch and Mrs. Carolyn McGee, then explained to parents the five facets of the well-balanced reading program. They explained how reading skills are taught through directed reading lessons, skill development, real-life experiences, writing, and enrichment activities. Some of the students in the reading program demonstrated skills they had learned in these areas.

Others related how the real-life experiences of reading and using recipes had been used in the classroom to help the students make refreshments for the parent meeting. The students had made peanut butter cookies, chocolate chip cookies and punch for the meeting. Closing remarks were made by Dr. Ginny Hayes who coordinates and directs the Chapter 1 Program in the Hoke County Schools. Several door prizes were awarded at the close of the meeting.

Roasting Butler

Former scoutmaster receives 'roasting'

Former Scoutmaster Julian Butler was the subject of a "roast" when Boy Scout Troop 404 held its annual Boy Scout Banquet on November 12 in the Fellowship Hall of the Raeford United Methodist Church.

The Scouts presented a skit and participated in the "roast" of Butler.

The theme of the banquet was directed toward paying tribute to Butler for his efforts as Scoutmaster for Troop 404. All Scouts and attending parents expressed appreciation to Butler for a job "well done" and presented him with a gift to acknowledge their appreciation. Boy Scout Troop 404 is now managed by new Scoutmaster John Furgeage, who hopes to continue the traditional excellence.

TMH students perform at Charlotte meeting

Thirty-one students from Hoke County Schools traveled to Charlotte on Thursday, November 15 and 16 to perform at the Exceptional Children's Convention. The TMH students from Upchurch performed "The Three Little Pigs." Lamont McQueen astonished the crowd of several hundred people as he performed his role as narrator completely from memory. Other students starring in "The Three Little Pigs" were - Mattie Baldwin, Lynn Brock, Don Melvin, Billy Haselden, Mackie McDonald, Lee Smith, Earl Jones and Robert Roper. Students from Hoke High performed the theme of "Fame." with special spots of Lee Marvin and Gary McMillan Breakdancing and of Gary thrilling the crowd with his version of Michael Jackson singing "Billie Jean." The students attending from Hoke High were: Nadine Hunt, Inez Richardson, Denise Gupton, Janice Lowery, Bessie McMillan, Sharon Graham, Patricia Jones, Kenneth Locklear, Rodney McNeil, Hugh Hargrove, Lee Marvin McNeil, and Gary McMillan.

Teachers who supervised from Upchurch were: Janice Brock, Tammy Barnes, Ann Henderson, Lenwood Huffman, Stanley Callender and one parent L.S. Brock. Those from Hoke High were: Carol Wood, Hillary Waugh, Ruth Anne Warren, Ethel Callender, Edna Ewing and Carolyn Pagon.
