

DWI charges lead District Court list

Seven persons were convicted of driving while impaired (DWI) in Hoke County during last week's sessions of district court.

Two of those people were given jail terms, according to court records.

Glenn Lawrence Barch, of Red Springs, was given a seven day jail term to accompany two years on supervised probation after being convicted of his second offense of DWI in seven years, records say.

Barch, 31, was arrested on December 29 of last year, according to records.

The December arrest was Barch's third, but one was more than seven years ago and could not be considered during judgement.

Barch was also fined $350, records say.

Tana Lee Locklear, a Shannon resident, was also sentenced to spend seven days in jail as part of his DWI conviction.

The 27-year-old Locklear was arrested on December 29 of last year also, records say.

For his second offense, Locklear was sentenced to one year suspended probation, the jail term, and fined $300, according to records.

James Earl McLean, of Raeford, got a 90 day suspended sentence, two years of unsupervised probation and was fined $100 after being convicted of DWI with no license, records say.

McLean, 40, was arrested last December 15.

Bennie Jerome Graham, of Raeford, was convicted of DWI and a stop sign violation during court sessions.

Graham, 30, was sentenced to 60 days suspended for one year unsupervised probation and fined $100, records say.

Charles Thomas Prevatte, a Pembroke resident, was sentenced to 90 days in jail suspended for three years of unsupervised probation and fined $300 after being convicted of DWI.

The 42-year-old Prevatte was arrested on February 7, records say.

A Fayetteville man, Louis Paulding, 29, was fined $100 and placed on probation for one year after being convicted of DWI, records say.

Paulding was arrested on February 24.

Terry Gene Lucas, a Southern Pines resident, was sentenced to 90 days suspended for one year supervised probation and fined $200 after being convicted of DWI on January 2, records say.

The 24-year-old man was also given 72 hours of community service to perform, records say.

A 42-year-old Raeford man was sentenced to a year in prison for apparently stealing a package of cheese from Saunderson's Grocery, records say.

According to Hoke County Assistant District Attorney, Fred William Fincher has "been in jail all his life."

A psychological analysis performed on the man before sentencing ended with a recommendation for two years in prison for the man, Powell said.

Neville O Jones, Psychological Program Manager for the North Carolina Department of Corrections, recommended the two year sentence, records say.

Fincher was given 112 days' credit on the sentence, according to court records.

James A. Breeden, of Raeford, was ordered by the court to pay $250 in restitution to the Avery Connell Agency after being convicted of writing a worthless check, records say.

William Henry McMillian, of Raeford, was sentenced to eight months in prison suspended for two years supervised probation after being found guilty of taking a ladies' handbag and an assortment of coins from Mary L. McKinnon, records say.

According to a warrant for his arrest, McMillian committed the crime on January 19.

The 26-year-old man was also ordered to pay $50 court cost, $75 restitution to McKinnon and $75 in lawyer fees, records say.

Frankie Junior Smith, of Fayetteville, was in the Hoke County Jail last weekend after failing to pay fines and cost associated with a careless and reckless driving conviction last year, according to records.

Smith, 23, was arrested on August 30, 1984, records say.

Break-in hits local home

A break-in at a Hoke County residence has cost its owner over $4,500, according to reports from the Hoke County Sheriff's Department.

Two Sony video cassette recorders, a Sony television, an antique Uzi nine millimeter rifle and a Mouser rifle were taken from the residence of Ronald J. Dixon last Monday, reports say.

The exact total of the missing property was estimated to be $4,574, reports say.

Footprints were found around the mobile home and a witness saw someone around the trailer, report say.

The front door of the trailer was forced open.

On March 24, Pete Locklear reported that someone apparently stole his clothes, check book, W-2 tax forms and money.

According to sheriff's reports, the total value of the apparently stolen goods was estimated at $555.

On March 26, Doris Graham reported her stereo missing.

Someone went into her house and removed the audio system valued at $500, reports say.

On the same day, Cy Isreal reported that someone allegedly stole a canoe from his back yard. The boat was valued at $240, reports say.

Lonnie L. Locklear reported a break-in at her home which netted apparent thieves an umbrella and $83.77 in cash.

Although there was a window cracked on the lower floor of the house, the point of entry has been pegged by deputies as a second story window that was broken out.

The U.S. Army has platooned 29 goats to trim the grass around the wastewater treatment plant at Fort Dix, N.J. A change of orders was no doubt welcome to the goats, previously assigned to mowing duty at a firing range.
