

Local student wins scholarship award

Two members of the Methodist College Zeta Mu chapter of Alpha Xi Delta, Joyce Elliott, who is the daughter of Jack and Peggy Elliott of McCain, and Lisa Bradshaw of Clinton, recently attended the Epsilon Province Convention in Norfolk, Virginia.

The students were accompanied on their trip by four alumnae, including Rachelle McCallum, a Methodist graduate who served as the local alumnae chapter delegate, and Elaine Porter, Methodist College faculty member and advisor to the Zeta Mu chapter.

The six Alpha Xi Delta members returned to the Methodist campus with five awards, winning more recognition than any other school included in the Epsilon Province: East Carolina, Western Carolina, NC State, Old Dominion, Newberry and UNC-A.

Elliott received a merit scholarship from the Northern Virginia alumnae chapter and Porter was recognized as "Outstanding Chapter Director."

The Zeta Mu Chapter, cited for best scholarship improvement in 1983-84, also won the "Best Scrapbook Award."

To perform in gala
Boris L. Willis has been chosen during recent auditions as a member of the Performing Company of the Dance Theatre of Fayetteville and will perform in the Spring Gala scheduled for the Dogwood Festival April 25 and 26 in Fayetteville. Boris, who lives in Raeford, is a student at Hoke High School, and has studied dance for the past two years. The program will be the 1985 Dance Theatre production during the Dogwood Festival, April 25 and 26 at Reeves Auditorium, Methodist College. This performance combines the traditional with the popular, jazz with lyrical and modern dance. The program will include "City Heat", "The Ugly One", "Kitra's Wedding", "Three Faces", and "The Waltz".

New Postmaster
Jim Curtis presents Mrs. Jean Thompson her commission from the U.S. Postmaster General as he installed her as Postmaster of Parkton Thursday afternoon in Parkton.

New Parkton postmaster takes over reins Thurs.

As local postal patrons, town officials and visiting postal officials looked on, Mrs. Jean J. Thompson, of Lumber Bridge, took the oath of office and was installed as the Postmaster of the Parkton Post Office by Jim Curtis, Manager of the Fayetteville Sectional Center, which comprises the 145 post offices in this Southeastern North Carolina section.

Curtis then presented to Mrs. Thompson her commission, signed by the Postmaster General of the United States, commended her on the record she has established in her years of service in the postal service, and assured those in attendance of her competence and her eagerness to fulfill every need and desire of all postal patrons.

Mrs. Thompson responded with brief remarks expressing her delight in being appointed to this position, and inviting all postal patrons to express to her any complaints or needs that they may have, assuring them that she will do anything in her power to comply with their requests.

Light refreshments were served to those in attendance.

Among the distinguished guests recognized were Horace W. Parnell, Mayor of Parkton; Postmasters Bill Monroe, Red Springs; Nearis Harvey, Saint Pauls; and Mollie Dunn, Lumber Bridge; other postal officials: Joe Edwards and Berline Riley, Hope Mills; H.L. Wiggins, Saint Pauls; and Margaret Thaggard, Raeford.

A native of Parkton, the new Postmaster is the wife of M.H. Thompson, Jr., of Lumber Bridge, and a graduate of Parkton High School.

For many years, she has served as clerk in the Parkton Post office and as assistant to the now-retired former Postmaster, Mrs. Rose M. McMillan.

Telling tales
Carol Walters, who is a librarian and storyteller from Troy, entertains Hoke County students with tales last year. Walters will be back at the Hoke County Library on Friday at 10 a.m. as part of the Library Week celebrations.

Library week being celebrated

By Elizabeth Burgess
Hoke County Librarian
April 14 - 19 is National Library Week.

We are offering library tours and the showing of the movie LIBRARY REPORT.

We also have planned for Friday, April 19 several fun events.

Each event begins at 10 a.m. Carol Walters, librarian and storyteller from Troy, will be telling stories at 10 in the conference room.

Dr. Floyd Waddle from Fayetteville State University will be presenting a program on snakes at 10 a.m. in the Children's Room.

Olive Jenkins, harpist from Hillsborough, N.C. will be performing in the foyer of the library.

Tom Winslow, folk guitarist from Montgomery Technical Institute of Troy, will be performing in the main library.

April 14-19 is also Public Health

Week. Becky Smith from the Hoke County Health Department will be doing blood pressure screening from 10 a.m. until Noon.

Please plan to come by and help us celebrate NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK.

Keep Friday, April 19 at 10 a.m. on your list of important things to do. We will look forward to seeing you.

Baldwin chosen as specialist

Air Force Staff Sgt. Wayne Baldwin, son of Lucille Arnold of Holmes Court, Raeford, has been chosen logistics specialist of the year for the 2112th Information Systems Squadron.

Baldwin was selected in competition among contemporaries for exemplary duty performance and military professionalism.

Selection was based on job knowledge, leadership abilities and management of resources. Also considered were military standards of dress, appearance and conduct, self-improvement in furthering education, and involvement in community programs.

He is an inventory management supervisor at RAF Chicksands, England.

The sergeant is a 1977 graduate of Hoke County High School.

McLean promoted

John H. McLean Jr., a 1980 graduate of Red Springs High School, has been promoted in the U.S. Army to the rank of specialist four.

Ready for Raleigh
These Upchurch students and teacher-coach Donna Kennedy (left) will take on other state seventh and eighth graders in Saturday's MATHCOUNTS com-

Hoke pupils take on MATHCOUNTS

Over 130 seventh and eighth grade students from across the state will compete in the state finals of the national MATHCOUNTS program on Saturday, April 20 at Athens Drive High School in Raleigh.

Hoke County will be represented Saturday by six Upchurch students who have been coached by Donna Kennedy.

On the county team are: Kendra Dockery, Robert Locklear, Donna Brock, Alex Garnes, Jennifer Brock and Kim Colston.

The students have advanced from nine chapter competitions which were held in February and March.

The program consists of written tests and a fast-paced oral ciphering match.

Topics for the contests include statistics, linear algebra and polynomials. A special topic for this year is probability.

Both team and individual prizes will be awarded. The four top-scoring individuals will form the North Carolina team and travel to Washington, D.C. to compete in the national MATHCOUNTS finals on May 18.

The public is invited to see the ciphering match and awards ceremony in the school auditorium at 12:30 p.m. and 2 p.m. respectively.

MATHCOUNTS is a response from professional associations and industry to the call for renewed support for mathematics education.
