

Roberta Peters is headlining Fayetteville program Sept. 18

Roberta Peters, one of the pre-eminent artists of this century, headlines the North Carolina Symphony's 1985-86 season in Fayetteville.

Ms. Peters, who debuted at the Metropolitan Opera unheralded and unknown at age 19, will appear with the Symphony in Reeves Auditorium Methodist College, Fayetteville on Wednesday, September 18.

Under the baton of Music Director Gerhardt Zimmermann, she will perform Mozart's "Vio avete un cor fidele," Conizetti's "Quel guardo il cavaliere... So anch'io la virtu magica" from Don Pasquale, Verdi's "Caro Nome" from Rigoletto, David's "Charmant Oiseau" from Le Perle du Bresil, and Lehar's "Viljai" from The Merry Widow. Also performed will be Brahms' "Variations on a Theme from Haydn."

During the 1984-85 season, Ms.

Peters celebrated her 35th consecutive season with the Met - a record unequalled by any other coloratura in the company's history. She twice visited the Soviet Union and became the first American born artist to receive the Bolshoi Medal.

For a clear change of pace, Fayetteville's second concert, presented on Wednesday, February 5, also at Reeves Auditorium, focuses on "Music on the Light Side." Conceived and conducted by Associate Conductor James Ogle, this concert features a medley of unusual instruments, such as vacuum cleaners, floor polishers, and rifles.

Selections include Rossini's Overture to The Barber of Seville, Jacob's The Barber of Seville Goes to the Devil, Schicke's The Unbegun Symphony, P.D.Q.

Bach's Royal Firewater Music, Sousa's The Washington Post March, Schreiner's The Worried Drummer, and others.

A humorous look at classical music is the theme.

Tickets are $12 for adults and $10 for senior citizens and students.

For tickets: send check or money order to N.C. Symphony, 2804 Mirror Lake Dr., Fayetteville, N.C. 28303.

Conducting Feb. 5
Associate Conductor James Ogle will conduct light side music in Fayetteville in February and in Raeford during the November Symphony concert.

New scout leader named for Hoke

Shirley Ferguson was recently named Field Director of Girl Scouts in Hoke County.

Ferguson replaces Emma Mims who served in that position for two years.

Mims will continue volunteering with the program by working with the Advisory Board.

Ferguson has completed all levels of the Scouting program which include Brownies, Juniors, Cadets and Seniors.

She served as a Junior Troop leader for many years and as county cookie manager for one year. She has completed the Leader Basic training, has Troop Camp License and has recently attended the Service Unit Conference where she received more training.

Shirley has had a wide range of experiences with the Girl Scouting Program.

Her goals are to increase membership from 254 to above 300, to increase cookie and magazine sales by 10%, to establish at least three Daisy troops, Daises are a new program level which will include 5 year olds, to make the girl scouting more visible in Hoke County, to increase adult participation in the program and to increase both girl and adult retention in the program.

Ferguson is a former employee of Burlington Industries.

She is married to Richard Ferguson, who is active in the Boy Scouting Program.

The Ferguson's have two children, Kevin, who is a boy scout and Mishon, who will be entering Cadet level of the girl scouting program.

If you would like to volunteer to work in any capacity of the Girl Scouting Program, please call Shirley Ferguson at 875-4473.

Potts key to State effort

Al Potts of Raeford was a key alumni volunteer who helped the North Carolina State University Alumni Association raise almost $1.5 million during the association's fiscal year just ended.

Potts served as NCSU Alumni Loyalty Fund Chairman for Hoke County during the 1984-85 fund campaign.

According to Charles T. Lambert of Virginia Beach, Va., 1984-85 president of the NCSU Alumni Association, the year marked record increases in membership and contributions, resulting in the association's most successful year ever. Lambert also noted that more than one out of every four graduates of NCSU is a member of the Alumni Association -- almost double the national average for public universities.
